New York to California. Colorado a Winter Resort. Earth's Champion Turkey. What a Country This Is.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THIS is written on "The Chief," Santa Fe fast train, leaving Chicago at 11:15 a. m., cutting one night from the coast-to-coast trip.

Bitterly cold weather through Illinois and into Kansas City, which will soon be as big as Chicago is now.

THEN through Kansas, wonderful, placid state, where prohibition was taken seriously long before prohibition entered the Constitution.

At La Junta, 4,500 feet above sea level, passengers and children leave the train for the first time, amazed at warm sunshine at such an altitude.

F. G. Bonfils, whose Denver Post blankets this part of the world, should advertise Colorado as a winter resort. It will be a winter resort, and crowded, when flying is fully developed.

Colorado has the Rocky Mountains, the fine Capitol with gold-covered dome in Denver, just one mile above the ocean; magnificent slopes covered with beautiful blue spruce, where you may still see footprints of dinosaurs in the sandstone.

AND Colorado owns "Lady Bird," hen turkey that won the grand championship sweepstakes at the international show in Chicago.

To possess the Rocky Mountains AND the champion hen turkey in the world, to say nothing of rainbow trout that weigh ten pounds, is worth while.

YOU pass from Colorado into beautiful New Mexico. In all the world there is no sky more beautiful, no weather more perfect, no air more glorious. Then you realize the futility of trying to select "the best state in the Union."

JUST ahead is Arizona. Col. Boyce Thompson says that is the finest land on earth.

Then Nevada, a little to the north, land of precious metals.

And to the north, great Oregon and Washington, with pines 14 feet in diameter, 700 years old, and half of the nation's water power.

BACK, far to the south, its northern boundary south of California's southern line, is Florida, sun parlor of the east, with fertility to feed the whole nation. To the northeast, New York, with the tickers and all the money.

Giant Texas, biggest of all, and empire among 48 states and the other Gulf states, Lake states and New England, not even mentioned.

It's a wonderful country. Every American should see it all, and let his children see it. Our railroads offer the maximum of luxurious comfort.

Or an automobile will take you and your family anywhere for as little as you choose to spend.

It is such a fine country that we really ought to retain exclusive control of it, and not let any League of Nations Court tell us what to do about its resources and responsibilities.

George Washington managed that with fewer than 4,000,000 people. Why cannot we do it, with 120,000,000?

MR. MURDOCK'S Wichita Eagle, able Kansas newspaper, tells a disappointing story of a "tenth birthday victory dinner" in honor of prohibition. Three hundred were expected, only 150 came "because it was so cold."

An irreverent "wet" suggests that if beer and wine had been part of the dinner, the "noble three hundred" would have found a way through the snow, somehow.

MAYOR LAWRENCE, of Wichita, warns prohibitionists that their most dangerous enemy is ridicule. It is, he says, "the sharpest and deadliest weapon." "Wets" will be interested in that.

Governor Reed, of Kansas, told the gallant 150 that prohibition will surely stay "but it will take another generation before it will be satisfactorily enforced." That seems a long time to endure bootlegging and its crime wave.

Fog Blamed for 16 Plane Deaths

LINDY LEADS AIR CRASH INQUIRY

2 Ex-Pittsburghers Among Victims of Plunge, Blast Destroying Giant Ship

International News Service.

SAN CLEMENTE, Cal., Jan. 20.—Around the twisted, flame-scarred skeleton of what was once a graceful air liner, investigators, led by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, today investigated the trouble that plunged the giant plane to earth, killing its 16 occupants.

After a preliminary investigation, officials of the line declared the crash was due to "one of those peculiar weather mysteries which blew in rain from the Pacific in the particular area" of the accident.

RAIN, FOG BLAMED

F. P. Preeg, flight superintendent at the Glendale terminal of the lines, said the pilot of the ill-fated plane apparently was blinded by the rain and fog-murk which hovered about the Oceanside and San Clemente bluffs. He said it was apparent that an emergency landing was being sought on account of the flying conditions, and discounted eye-witness reports of missing motors.

Among the victims—eight men and eight women—were Mr. and Mrs. Ben M. Miller, of Piedmont, Cal., formerly of Pittsburgh.

The wrecked airliner was No. 15 of the crack Maddux-T. A. T. service between Lower California and Los Angeles.

PRIEST KILLED AS AUTO SKIDS

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 20.—Within a few hours after he had said his first mass in St. Helen's Church, Pittsburgh, Rev. Alexis Udaccak, 29, professor of biology and botany at St. Vincent's College, Beatty, lay dead here as a result of an automobile accident on the Lincoln highway, three miles east of this city, early this morning. Father Udaccak, with Rev. Paul Odalga, 33, a priest, of United, was returning from the former's home in East Pittsburgh.

The young priest, ordained last summer after having been educated at Notre Dame and St. Vincent's, went into Pittsburgh Saturday to be at home and also to celebrate his first religious function at his native parish church.

Father Odalga was driving the car. The machine skidded and went over an embankment. The injured priest is a patient in Westmoreland Hospital.

Congresswoman Offers Bill for Dry Plebiscite

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The anti-prohibitionists launched a new offensive in Congress today with a proposal for a national referendum on the liquor question, while the drys were busy inaugurating President Hoover's legislative program for drying up America. At the same time discussion of the question was carried to the White House by Representative Sirovich (Dem.), of New York.

The referendum was proposed by a woman, Mrs. Mary T. Norton (Dem.), of New Jersey. Declaring women believed prohibition had failed as a temperance measure, she introduced a resolution in the House calling for a referendum on the Eighteenth Amendment at the general congressional elections next November.

DIFFERS FROM WATSON

Mrs. Norton declared she was "voicing the sentiment of the best thinking men and women in America" in sponsoring the resolution. Her proposal differed somewhat from the state referendum suggested by Senator James E. Watson, (Rep.), of Indiana, majority leader of the Senate.

Watson proposed that each state take its own referendum on prohibition next fall. Mrs. Norton would have Congress authorize, finance and direct the referendum, holding it in conjunction with the Congressional elections next fall.

"Women who believe as I do in temperance," said Mrs. Norton, "realize that as an experi-

NEW COLD WAVE COMING, 2 DIE

Slight relief from the intense cold today will be followed by a return of low temperatures, which have caused two deaths in this district, the weather bureau predicted.

The mercury fell to 8 this morning, compared with an official minimum of zero yesterday, which was the coldest day of the year.

Today will see the thermometer mount to about 20, according to Forecaster W. S. Brotzman, with prospects of a drop to 15 tonight. Light snow will fall.

Tomorrow, under the influence of a widespread cold belt over the plains states, the temperature will fall here again. Zero weather prevailed throughout the Middle West today.

The deaths of Joseph Nash, 54, living in a houseboat on the Allegheny River, and Frank Yost, 58, of 531 Huey street, McKeesport, are laid to the cold.

Nash was found dead in the houseboat beneath the Manchester bridge last night. He was lying near a coal stove, the fire in which had gone out. City Physician A. F. P. Houston attributed death to exposure. Yost, a garage watchman, was found burned to death yesterday near a stove in the garage at 500 Huey street. The report said the man probably lost his life in an effort to keep warm.

Girl of 6, Slain in Auto, Added to Dry Law Victims

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—You may think the prohibition deaths detailed in this newspaper in the past few days outrageous. They are not exceptional or extraordinary. Here is another case, as reported by the Washington Herald from a Missouri newspaper, and read into the Congressional Record:

CLINTON, Mo., Jan. 23.—Just why a deputy constable and his posse couldn't halt a motor car without firing at its occupants and killing a six-year-old girl, many Henry County citizens are unable to understand.

Little Eleanor Harigan was killed late yesterday near Windsor Mo., when her father, William Harigan, of Montrose, Mo., wouldn't stop his car when ordered to do so by T. G. Hall, a deputy-constable of Windsor. Mr. Harigan says he believed Hall and his posse were holdup men.

Word had gone out from a farmer that he had seen two motor cars which aroused his suspicions. The farmer notified authorities at Windsor. Hall formed a posse and went in pursuit.

"Ah, bootleggers!" thought the posse as the trail was followed.

Returning to Windsor the men saw an old Buick car. In it rode Eleanor, her father, her mother, and her aunt. When Harigan refused to stop his car, a shot was fired into the car by Hall or a member of his posse, the little girl slumped in her seat dead.

TAXI STRIKE PEACE VOTE UNDER WAY

Union Recognition Lacking In Agreement of Both Factions in Davis Parley

Taxicab service probably will be resumed tonight, The striking drivers were meeting late today in the Moose Temple to vote on ratification of the settlement suggested by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis.

The terms of the agreement do not include a provision for recognition of a drivers' union.

The agreement provides:

1. Straight 37½ per cent commission to all drivers.

2. Return to work immediately of all drivers and the company agrees not to discriminate or be prejudiced against any driver.

3. There is to be no effect on or impairment of the right of the companies to operate their respective business.

4. The requirement for a cash deposit on tool boxes be abolished.

5. A grievance committee of four drivers from the Yellow Cab Company and three drivers from the Green Cab Company will be recognized by the companies.

6. Final disagreements that may occur in the future will be referred to Secretary of Labor James J. Davis.

DU PUY'S WILL AIDS CHARITY

Ten educational, charitable and religious institutions receive bequests totaling $105,000 from the estate of the late Herbert DuPuy, by his will, filed for probate today.

The estate amounts to upward of $1,000,000.

The largest of these bequests go to Carnegie Institute and Carnegie Institute of Technology, which are to receive $25,000 each, to be held in trust for a period of years and then added, with interest, to their endowment funds.

The Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh is to get $20,000. Other beneficiaries, receiving $5,000 each, are St. Barnabas Free Home, the Permanent Episcopal Fund of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Pittsburgh, the "Reinforcement Fund" of the Rt. Rev. Alexander Mann, the Protestant Episcopal Church Home of Pittsburgh diocese, Kingsley Association, the Foreign and Domestic Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church and Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.

Mr. DuPuy's widow, Amy Hostetter DuPuy, and other members of the family receive the remainder of the estate.

Mrs. DuPuy and the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company are executors.

The estate would have been larger, it was said, but for gifts made by Mr. DuPuy to various persons and institutions during his lifetime.

Crowds at Sunday Shows; Owners Fined

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Institution of Sunday motion picture shows here yesterday resulted in the fining of the managers of the theaters in City Court today. Large crowds attended the shows. Arrested, the managers were fined $25 and costs for Sunday labor. They appealed to make a test case.

Biggest Land Plane Makes Test Flight

HASBROUCK HEIGHTS, N. J., Jan. 20. — (AP.) — The world's largest land airplane, the P-32, yesterday was taken aloft for the first time in a short flight from Teterboro airport. The ship is equipped with four 575-horsepower engines and has accommodations for 32 passengers.

Ex-Judge on Trial In Killing of Girl

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—John W. Brady, former judge of the Third Court of Civil Appeals of Texas and one of the most prominent attorneys in the state, went to trial here today on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 28-year-old stenographer, last November. The 59-year-old defendant is charged with stabbing the girl. Brady's attorneys quoted him as saying he had been drinking the day of the killing.

Police Dog Saves 10 From Death in Fire

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Rin, a police dog, was credited today with having saved Mrs. Mary Ebersol, her three children and six other persons from possible death by fire early yesterday. The dog leaped upon Mrs. Ebersol's bed, awakening her when fire broke out in the bathroom and had reached within 15 feet of her. Mrs. Ebersol aroused her children and notified the family in the flat above.

SIEGE BEGUN TO SHATTER BLONDE'S SILENCE

Even Authorities' Boast That Her Companion Has 'Told' Does Not Impress Girl

By AL GOUGH,
Staff Correspondent.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 20.—The blonde trigger woman is engaged in another battle today—a battle of wits against Maricopa County authorities armed with W. Glenn Dague's confession.

Seeking to batter down the blonde's defiance and break her stubborn refusal to admit even her real identity, Sheriff C. H. Wright and his deputies today began a seige of questioning, determined to "get at the truth." Dague's "break" came readily from grim lips, which seemed to emphasize his determination to shield Irene Schroeder "even unto death."

Not once in his recital of events on that fatal December 27 and subsequently in his mad dash for freedom, ending on the desert north of here almost a week ago, did he mention her name. Extremely careful of his speech, he always referred to his companion as "the lady."

HAIR TURNS GRAY

Dague has aged much in the past few days. His hair, once described as sandy, has turned almost completely gray. The tight lines around the grim mouth have given his determined face a sad look—as though he were filled with compassion over his past life. Ready on his lips at all times is that oft-repeated phrase—"Gentlemen—I want to do what is right. I will tell the truth."

But always there are things he seems to want to withhold. After his confession yesterday, Sheriff Wright remarked:

"Dague, I believe you are telling the truth about this thing.

LLOYD WANER OPERATED ON

Lloyd Waner, fleet centerfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates, underwent an operation this morning in the Presbyterian Hospital, North Side, for the removal of his appendix. The little athlete rallied splendid from the anesthetic an hour later, and late this afternoon his condition was reported as good. Visitors, however, will not be allowed to see him for several days.

Dr. H. R. Decker, of the staff of the Presbyterian Hospital, performed the operation. He was assisted by Dr. W. L. Marks, Pirate club physician.

Mrs. Frances Mae Waner, his wife, was at the hospital during the operation.

Asks Norris Banned On G. O. P. Ticket

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—A protest against the certification of George W. Norris as a senatorial candidate in the Republican primary was filed with the Secretary of State today by Willard Clapp, a citizen of Elmwood, Neb.

Explaining his protest, Clapp wrote: "Mr. Norris is running for a national office and it is my contention—and I think it is universally known—that he does not affiliate with the Republican party within a reasonable interpretation of the law. Mr. Norris claims to be an independent. The law provides that he may run as such."

ART BOARD'S AUTHORITY DOUBTED

Senate Resolution of Reed For Memorial to Pioneer Here Defended in Council

The City Art Commission exceeded its authority in asking Senator David A. Reed to withdraw from the United States Senate a bill that provides for the erection of a statue at the Point in honor of George Rogers Clark, pioneer explorer of the Ohio river valley according to a resolution presented today to City Council by Robert Garland.

Garland's bill asks the city solicitor to advise Council of the art commission's jurisdiction in the proposed statue and whether the commission has legal power to take action before the submission of the designs or drawings.

Commenting on the resolution Garland said:

MOVE HELD TIMELY

"The erection of the statue at the headquarters of the Ohio River would be peculiarly fitting at this time, now that the historic river is open to all-the-year-round navigation. It was from here that Gen. George Rogers Clark started on his famous expedition.

"In Senator David A. Reed's church, Calvary Episcopal, there was placed a tablet during the Ohio River celebration last October, a marker and tablet with inscription as follows:

"'This stone is from Christ Church, Charlottesville. This Virginia church was the parish church of George Rogers Clark (1752-1818). Starting from Fort Pitt he explored the Ohio River and by his conquests added the great territory northwest of the Ohio River (Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Eastern Minnesota) to the area of our United States.'

SUPPORT URGED

"For many years," Garland stated, "there has been talk about an international monument at that location, but so far it has been talk only.

"No steps are being taken that anyone is aware of and another 150 years may pass with nothing accomplished in that direction.

"The present project, however, if carried out, would not in any measure defeat future development of that historic spot. Adequate space can be provided for all. Let us accept what the gods give us. Senator Reed's patriotic effort for his native city should be supported rather than spurned."

SISTER-IN-LAW JAILED TWICE

Two hours after she had paid a $5 fine in Morals Court on a disorderly conduct charge, today, Miss Louise Loftus, 21, of 2520 Beechwood boulevard, was en route to East End Police Station in a patrol wagon.

She was fined after police testified her arrest had been requested by her brother-in-law, B. B. Breckenridge, same address. She became intoxicated early today, according to police testimony, and started throwing the furniture around.

After leaving Morals Court she returned home and repeated her tactics, Breckenridge notified police, and demanded her arrest a second time.

Breckenridge also was taken into custody. The two will be arraigned in Morals Court tomorrow.

DEBT MEET OK'S YOUNG PLAN

THE HAGUE, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The protocol adopting the Young plan was signed this afternoon at the second Hague reparations conference.

The document which puts an end to 10 years of contention and negotiation over the reparations problem consisted of 119 pages with 14 annexes and 20 separate agreements between the different powers.

It scales down the total reparations Germany must pay from the enormous claims presented at the peace conference totaling $100,000,000,000 to a little less than $9,000,000,000 payable in 59 years.

ment, noble or otherwise, prohibition has failed."

CONSIDER TRANSFER

In the Senate the Judiciary Committee appointed two sub-committees to consider the King bill transfering prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Department of Justice, and the Harris bill, increasing the powers of United States commissioners. The latter sub-committee, headed by Senator Steiwer (Rep.), of Oregon, immediately decided to call upon Attorney General Mitchell for an opinion on the constitutionality of the Harris measure. The bill would carry out the law enforcement commission's suggestion for eliminating "trials by jury" in minor offenses against the prohibition law.

The transfer bill will be considered by a sub-committee with Senator King (Dem.), of Utah as chairman.

In the House a judiciary subcommittee started executive hearings on the same measure.

The House Committee on Expenditures of the executive department meanwhile announced it would start hearings Wednesday on the transfer bill. Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon will be called as the first witness. Mellon already has approved the transfer, as has President Hoover and his law enforcement commission.

GOES TO WHITE HOUSE

Representative Sirovich went to the White House to press his fight to stop the government from poisoning industrial alcohol. He urged the Executive to have the prohibition unit change its regulations so that commercial alcohol in the future would be rendered undrinkable by the addition of emetics rather than the poisons he says are now being used.

Announcement of an Army contribution to the administration effort for stricter enforcement also came today with a statement by Secretary of War Hurley that regulations had been amended to make violations of a prohibition laws a military offense.

Army regulations since 1917 have prohibited the possession of liquor on government reservations, but they made no specific reference to the national prohibition law passed in 1918.

Firms using intoxicating liquor in the manufacture of medicinal preparations failed today in their effort to have the Supreme Court pass on the authority of the prohibition commissioner in terminating permits granted under the prohibition law.

The court refused to review a case brought from New York City by Lion Laboratories, Inc., and others, in which they contended that under a Treasury decision in 1926 their permits authorizing the use of liquor in making medicines had been extended indefinitely.

AGENTS' SLAYER TRIAL ASKED

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Prosecution of George W. Moore in the state courts on murder charges for the slaying of two dry agents in a raid on his home was asked today by federal authorities coincident with a statement from Moore's attorney that the officers attempted to enter the residence "without a legal warrant."

District Administrator Robert T. Tuttle, of Savannah, said data gathered in his investigation of the killing of Robert K. Moncure and P. R. Patterson would be turned over to Florida officers with a request for action against Moore. He said a warrant for the search of Moore's home obtained upon information that 12 quarts of liquor had been purchased from him Saturday was shown to the alleged bootlegger by Moncure when the agents went to his residence that evening.

E. M. Baynes, counsel for Moore, declared that "they (the agents) overstepped their bounds and the shooting followed. They made an attempt to break into Moore's home with a warrant that did not permit search after nightfall."

'LOST ZEPPELIN' THRILLS 1,000 NEWSIES

Sun-Telegraph Boys Shriek Their Delight at Sunday Olympic Theater Showing

More than 1,000 Sun-Telegraph home delivery carrier boys were thrilled with delight and excitement yesterday afternoon at a special showing of the new Tiffany all-talking picture, "The Lost Zeppelin," in the Olympic Theater.

In all the world of talking pictures, of pictures of adventure, none could be more fitting for yesterday's all-boy party. The smashing scenes in the ice-bound Arctic, the terrors of the storm in the clouds that enveloped the Zeppelin, the scenes in the interior of the big sky craft, the disaster and the rescue, the beautiful romance that runs through the picture, kept the youngsters on their toes for nearly two hours.

Aside from "The Lost Zeppelin," there were several other fine features for the youngsters. They cheered when Gov. Al Smith appeared in the newsreel, but, strangely, Babe Ruth didn't get a "rise" out of them. They howled with laughter at the Mack Sennett comedy prize fight.

For this treat the Sun-Telegraph carrier boys are indebted to the management of the Olympic Theater, Tiffany Pictures, Inc., and Larry Jacobs, local representative of Tiffany, who made it possible for them to see and hear this marvelous program.

on the part of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis. Davis was in conference until 2:30 o'clock this morning with both sides of the strike and until 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

The drivers met at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Moose Temple. It was understood before the convening of the meeting that there was slight possibility of the drivers failing to ratify the agreement. Strike leaders and the company officials expressed satisfaction at the settlement.

PRIEST SUPPORTS DRIVERS

The drivers were urged to stand firm in their demands by the Rev. James R. Cox, pastor of Old St. Patrick's Catholic Church, in an address made yesterday at a meeting of strikers and their families in Moose Temple. A similar plea was made by Patrick T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America.

"If you were even to think of going back to work before this fight is won, it would be the saddest mistake ever made by organized labor," Father Cox said.

Others who spoke at the meeting yesterday were John Kane, business agent of the Pressmen's Union; P. J. McDonald of the Locomotive Engineers' and Firemen's Union and Thomas G. Robertson, acting president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor.

TRACE FLARES FOR LOST FLIER

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Flares seen near Meadow, Utah, and the remains of a campfire sighted on the Upper Plateau of the Ely range, gave renewed hope last night to the searchers for Maurice Graham, missing air mail pilot.

Although flares or beacons were reported in the hills near Meadow, six navy planes from Rockwell Field failed to sight any trace of the missing flier. The navy planes flew over the Las Vegas-Salt Lake air mail beacon route.

Possibility that the camp fire may be a clue to the missing airman was seen by the searchers.

'2 BILLIONS FOR BATTLESHIPS'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—In the event the London naval conference fails to reach agreement, an expenditure of $2,000,000,000 by the United States for warship construction during the next 15 years was forecast in the House today by Representative French (Rep.), Idaho, chairman of the appropriations sub committee in charge of naval expenditures.

French declared for scrapping of the battleships of the navies of the world.

"The submarine and the aircraft carrier," he said, "will make it necessary to take the battleships to the safest harbor in the next war.

"If we have faith in the Kellogg pact, that provides for no aggressive warfare, in heaven's name, why do we maintain the battleships?"

He said, however, that he did not favor abolishing the United States battleships unless all countries did likewise.

America to Hear King on Radio Tomorrow

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—American radio listeners who want to hear the voice of a genuine king for the first time may do so tomorrow morning if they get up at 5:40 o'clock Pittsburgh time.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—All the delegates to the five-power naval arms conference, which opens tomorrow, were personally introduced to King George today in a brief reception at Buckingham Palace.

The delegates arrived at the place en masse, with Prime Minister MacDonald at their head. MacDonald first introduced Secretary of State Stimson and then the chief delegates of the other countries in alphabetic order.

Stimson then introduced his colleagues from the United States, and the other chief delegates did likewise.

His Majesty arrived in London this morning from Sandringham. He will open the conference tomorrow with an address.

The chiefs of the delegations of the five powers made an extremely cautious approach to the complex questions confronting the parley when they met at 10 Downing street, Prime Minister MacDonald's official residence, before the King's reception.

The meeting lasted less than two hours and it was evident that all present had refrained from bringing up anything of a controversial nature.

"We have informally discussed procedure," MacDonald declared. "Nothing definite has been settled. There were mutual expressions of good-will which are happy auguries of the success of the conference."

MOVE SLOWLY

From other sources it was learned, however, that the heads of the delegations had agreed that following the opening of the conference tomorrow, Wednesday would be devoted to "personal exchanges of views," with a second plenary session on Thursday.

This gingerly beginning will be in sharp contrast with the opening of the Washington conference of 1921-1922, when Secretary of State Hughes electrified the world by proposing a flat ratio of tonnage for all powers.

While today's meeting was in progress the whirr of the engines of the R-100, new giant British dirigible, was heard in the conference room.

SEE BIG AIRSHIP

Several delegates expressed a desire to look at the great airship, so Mr. MacDonald led them into the garden. The R-100 flew so low over them that the faces of the men in gondolas could be seen.

Prohibition Hits Island Army Posts

MANILA, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—A War Department general order made public here ordered enforcement of the national prohibition law at all Army posts garrisoned by American soldiers.

Seven reservations in the Philippine Islands were affected by the order which is effective February 11. Hereafter no liquor may be kept in quarters but the rule did not prohibit drinking off the post.

Mexican Terrorists Among 280 Exiled

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Five Mexican Communists recently arrested on charges of plotting a terrorist campaign were among the 280 prisoners en route to the island penal colony of Tres Marias off the Pacific Coast. A number of foreign Communists who had been arrested at the same time have been deported.

Building Burns as College Reopens

TARKIO, Mo., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Tarkio College today faced the opening of the second semester without classrooms or administrative offices as the result of a fire which last night destroyed the three-story main building.

The loss was estimated at $125,000.

"RIDGELAND," SENATOR PITTMAN'S COUNTRY HOME, AFTER FIRE THAT INJURED THREE FIREMEN IN MIDDLE OF NIGHT

Senate Partisan Warfare Stilled to Laud Vets

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—The guns of partisan warfare were silenced in the Senate this afternoon while Republican and Democratic leaders vied with each other in an amazing tribute to the Senate's two "grand old men," Senators F. M. Simmons and Lee S. Overman, Democrats of North Carolina, both of whom reached their seventy-sixth birthdays this month.

Simmons was 76 today; Overman passed that milestone on January 3. For half an hour, partisan opponents and party colleagues showered congratulations on them, lauded their public service and wished them many more years of life. No such outpouring of public homage for living senators has occurred in the Senate in years.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican floor leader, launched the tribute. Then in rapid succession, Senators Harrison (Dem.), of Mississippi; Walsh (Dem.), of Massachusetts; Smoot (Rep.), of Utah, and Heflin (Dem.), of Alabama, joined in lauding and congratulating the North Carolinians.

Lindy Qualifies as Glider; Flies Over Sea Half Hour

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Without previous experience in motorless flying, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off here yesterday in a glider plane, flew it out half a mile over the ocean, attained an altitude of 500 feet, remained aloft half an hour and qualified for a first-class glider pilot's license.

He made an application for the license after landing and will become the ninth holder of that class of motorless flying license in the United States.

Mrs. Lindbergh watched her husband make the flight, but did not attempt to handle a glider herself.

William Van Dusen, local representative of the National Aeronautical Association, officially checked Lindbergh's flight and received his application for a glider license. The machine Lindbergh used was built by Hawley Bowlus, who was construction superintendent for the builders here of the Spirit of St. Louis, in which Lindbergh made his flight to Paris. Bowlus supervised Lindbergh's glider flight and was among the first to offer congratulations when the Colonel landed without mishap. Bowlus holds the American glider record with an official flight of more than six hours.

DEPUTY SHERIFF JOE CHAPMAN, KIDNAPED AND SHOT

Deputy Chapman, pictured in the hospital. He was kidnaped by Irene and Dague, and when two Maricopa deputies, including Wright, stopped the car to rescue him at Chandler, the occupants of the car shot all three of the officers.

IRENE GRILLED ON CONFESSION

but you're not telling all—now are you?"

His countenance never changed. He looked straight ahead, and answered not a word.

"Why do you protect this woman—what can she be to you now?" the sheriff persisted.

Still no answer and still that same unchanged countenance. Finally, after considerable pause he turned to his listeners, and said:

"Gentlemen, I think that what I have said is enough for the time being, at least. And, if I am certain that I am doing right by telling more, I shall do so."

DENIES KNOWING CHILD

Irene, blissfully unmindful of anything but her present comfort, still insists she is Mildred Winthrop and never heard of 5-year-old Donnie who calls her "Mommie."

Sheriff Wright yesterday visited her in the jail tank she shares with four other women prisoners.

"I've brought something for you, Irene," he greeted her.

She looked up, a crooked smile playing about her over-rouged lips. The sheriff handed her a newspaper containing the account of Dague's confession.

Her eye took it in with a glance and then she looked at Sheriff Wright.

"Don't you want to read it, Irene?" he asked.

"Do you want me to?" she flung back.

"Well, I thought you'd be interested in it," he countered.

"Not a bit," was her retort. "It doesn't concern me in the least."

"Well, read it anyway," she was urged.

"I've read enough—it doesn't interest me at all," was her only comment.

"Well, look at this then."

"Who's that—I don't know him." She said it almost viciously, shoving the picture out of sight.

SINGS AND LAUGHS

The sheriff remarked about a mother who would deny her own son.

"It's no son of mine," she snarled. "I never had a son—why don't you find his mother?"

The trigger wogan, more like a "tiger woman" at times, spends the dreary hours behind bars laughing and singing. At times she subsides into a spell of reverie. She sometimes asks for hymn books from which to sing with her fellow tank-mates and in the same breath she will add—"bring something hot along, too."

The "hot" stuff was delivered to her yesterday afternoon while religious services were going on in another quarter of the jail.

Strains of "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" filled corridors as prisoners and visitors lifted their voices in devotion. It had been quiet down in Irene's section as those strains filtered through the steel walls. The singers stood with bowed heads while Mrs. C. J. Menefee, wife of the visiting church elder, led in prayer. In the midst of this service other voices broke out in song. Irene and her cell-mates were singing.

The melody, a popular tune, rose to crescendo. It was "This Is Heaven" and then trailed off into "Singing in the Bathtub." Irene's favorite, she says, is "Am I Blue."

LAWYER BARRED

Several times Sunday, Samuel L. Rummel, her self-appointed attorney, tried to reach her, but was refused admittance by jail attaches. The lawyer sought a court order from Judge M. P. Phelps, Maricopa County Superior Court jurist. The judge telephoned a request to jail authorities to admit the attorney, but was refused upon orders of the sheriff and county attorney. He went into conference with Attorney Rummel later, but refused to issue a court order or, Sunday. However, he agreed to issue an order from the bench today.

Rummel indicated that he would attempt to block extradition proceedings here but said that so far he had not been officially informed of any actual attempt.

"Of course," he said, "I have heard that Pennsylvania authorities are en route here even now. But I shall do nothing definite until they arrive.

"Under Arizona law, I shall have a voice in the matter when it is laid before Governor J. C. Phillips. Should he permit the extradition over my objections, I may institute habeas corpus proceedings, but I have not thoroughly made up my mind on that score yet."

EXPECTS AID HERE

The attorney indicated he might even follow his clients into Pennsylvania for their trial, although county authorities deny that either Dague or Irene have retained the lawyer as counsel. Joe Houston, alias Wells, who was captured with them, and who for a time was thought to be Tom Crawford brother of Irene, retained the lawyer, County authorities say, but Rummel is acting entirely of his own volition for the other two.

Dague, asked last night whether he had a lawyer, replied in the negative.

"When do you expect to get one?" he was asked.

"I don't know—probably when I get back to Pennsylvania. I have an uncle in Pittsburgh who I think will help me."

He refused to divulge the name of his uncle, or where he lived in Pittsburgh.

CLEARED IN BANK THEFT

COLEMAN, Tex., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—After viewing photographs of the three prisoners held at Phoenix, Ariz., police today announced that they were unable to connect any of the three with the Loan State Bank robbery near here last January 6. One man was killed and another escaped. Two of those who escaped are known to police here and neither is held in Phoenix, officers declare.

HUNT WRITER'S ASSAILANT

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—A man described by police as a bootlegger was sought today as the instigator of a robbery attempt in which Garet Garrett, magazine writer was shot and seriously wounded in a residence restaurant which has a selected clientele.

Garrett was shot Saturday night when he ignored a command to sit still as three men entered the restaurant conducted by Mrs. Madeleine Brown in West Fifteenth street on the fringe of Greenwich Village.

At St. Vincent's Hospital, where he was taken with a bullet wound through the lung and two lesser wounds, Garrett was pronounced out of danger.

Mrs. Ida H. Garrett, wife of the wounded writer, from whom he has been separated several years, expressed doubt that the shooting was a hold-up attempt, but refused to amplify the statement.

She said she and Garrett separated in 1914 and that a suit for annulment brought by Garrett the next year had been dismissed. Later, she said, she was granted maintenance.

BEGIN TEACHING ILLITERATES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The first state-wide campaign ever conducted in the United States to teach illiterates to write their names opened today in South Carolina under auspices of the President's national advisory committee on illiteracy.

Under the direction of Miss Wil Lou Gray, director of the South Carolina Illiteracy Commission committees will be sent into every community to enroll into classes those who cannot sign their name. All who enter these classes will be encouraged to enroll into others to learn to read and write.

A mechanical method will be used in teaching the pupils to write their names. With a hard instrument, the name of the pupil will be grooved into a soft surface and the illiterate will trace his name with a pencil in these grooves.

Herbert Hoover, Jr., On Air Radio Board

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The establishment of a liaison committee on aeronautic radio research, which has Herbert Hoover, Jr., for one of its members, was announced today by Clarence M. Young, the Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics.

The committee is to make a survey of recent research in the application of the radio to the problems of aviation, with a view to the early solution of the most pressing problems with a minimum duplication of effort. Harry H. Blee, director of aeronautical development in the Commerce Department, is chairman.

355,000 Names in New Phone Book

The 355,000 new directories which the Bell Telephone Company began distributing today in Greater Pittsburgh are bound in imitation leather, for the first time. There are 355,000 names in the book and 750 tons of paper were required to print all the copies.

RADIO PATENT POOL URGED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The suggestion that pooling of all patents under governmental control might be the best solution of patent troubles in radio and other industries was made today before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee during testimony by L. J. Williams, director of patents of the Grigsby-Grunow Company, of Chicago, radio set makers, as hearings on the Cousens communication bill were resumed.

Williams argued the radio industry was in the "throes of a chaotic patent situation." This led Senator Brookhart (Rep.), of Iowa, to suggest that a government pool, authorized under a constitutional amendment, might be a "good thing" for all industry.

"Your idea is startling," Williams replied, "and I don't think I'd subscribe to it."

Inventors, the Iowan contended, frequently got little reward for their work. He said his suggestion would be following out what had been done "in a big way" by the automobile industry's pooling of patents in the early days of its development.

"Inventors," he said, "would get the benefit of royalties and there would be no speculation in patents."

Long Skirts Bring Plea for Short Train Steps

BEACON, N. Y., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Finding that the return of long skirts has made it difficult for them to get on and off trains, club women of Newburg, N. Y., have decided to ask the New York Central Railroad, for relief.

The civic committee of Theossoli Club has arranged to present a petition through the Chamber of Commerce requesting that on trains which stop at Beacon box-steps be carried or some means found to shorten the distance between the train steps and the station platform.

INDIAN TELLS OF TRAILING

Here is Leon Sun Dust's own story of trailing Irene Schroeder and her two gunmen companions across the Maricopa desert to the Estralla mountain range last week. Sun Dust, a young [illegible] of the Maricopa tribe, is an unusually intelligent chap, and his story comes just as he told it to a Sun-Telegraph reporter in Phoenix, Ariz.

By LEON SUN DUST.

The desert is my home. It lie in the Maricopa country, the land of my forefathers.

When I hear shooting back in the draw near my brother's place, I think I go look. Two deputies back there ask me if I see two men and a woman.

"No, I say, maybe they go across the desert."

The deputies ask me for horses and will I go along to trail these people for whom they look. Me and my brother, Harry, we saddle ponies and we follow these footsteps across the alkali flats back to the Gila River.

We cross over and follow the trail back to Estrella Mountain. Big boulders lay around the foot of the mountain and we think maybe these people are hiding near there. Harry ride back across the desert to our reservation to get help and maybe after an hour those other men in posse come up.

Sheriff Wright ask me where I think they are hiding and I tell him maybe anywhere up along mountain behind the rocks and boulders. The other men spread out and move up closer. Me and Jack Carter and Oscar Roberts climb up behind rocks until we get above where we think maybe they are hiding and all at once we see them shooting down at the other deputies from behind a boulder. We creep close and just above them we get drop on them and Carter yell—"come out and raise your hands."

They all drop their guns and hold up their hands and we come down and take them in.

The next day we go back—Harry and me—and we hunt around wher these people hide. Down behind a rock we find some stuff buried in the ground. There was the Florence sheriff's badge, a blackjack and a magazine with bloodstains on it.

TRY MURDERED MAN'S WIDOW

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—"People of the State of Illinois vs. Genevieve O'Brien, murder."

Without a pause since the conviction of Samuel Howard Dorr, sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of William J. O'Brien, the man's wife, Genevieve, today was placed on trial for the same slaying.

Defense attorneys, different from those which who defended Dorr, relentlessly demanded an immediate trial for the expectant mother, although Judge Harry B. Miller and Assistant State's Attorneys Harry Ditchburne and Walter Butler were weary from 16 days of hard legal wranglings that ended Saturday night.

"The state is ready," Ditchburne said. Dark circles under his eyes and haggard cheeks told the story of the state's fight against Dorr.

"Call prospective jurymen," said Judge Miller, whose face also showed the strain.

Genevieve O'Brien, accused of plotting with Dorr the murder of her husband, was led into court and the new battle began.

Two Missing Police Feared Gang Victims

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—The village of Melrose Park today was in a state of high-pitched excitement as mystery continued to surround the sudden disappearing of two village policemen who are believed the victims of gangland "rides" due to their activity against liquor interests.

The disappearance of Lieut. Rocco Passarella and Officer Emil Ritau Friday followed death threats made to both men and came within a few days of the bombing of the home of Guy C. Guerine, village attorney.

Ritau's wife vanished at the same time, and investigators today feared that she met the same fate as her crusading husband.

New Kensington Rail Wreck Ties Traffic

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Jan. 0.—Traffic was blocked for two hours early today when four cars of a northbound freight train were derailed between Garver's Ferry and Glenncairn, on the Conemaugh division, Pennsylvania Railroad. No one was injured. One hundred commuters were taken to Pittsburgh by an emergency local train.

10 Saved in Burning Waynesboro Bldg.

WAYNESBORO, Pa., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Ten persons were rescued by firemen yesterday when flames swept the Wayne Apartment Building, causing damage estimated at $625,000. The three-story brick building, with nine stores, was the largest in the community. The blaze had closed stairways, compelling occupants of the third floor apartments to leave by way of ladders. Firemen from Hagerstown, Md., assisted local companies.

Man Beaten, Robbed, Thrown From Auto

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Arthur Williamson, 22, of Niles, O., was found along the Lincoln highway near here today, nearly dead from exposure, after he had been beaten, robbed and thrown from his automobile.

Williamson, in Westmoreland Hospital here, was unable to give police more than an incoherent account of the holdup.

AUTOS, BAD RUM KILL MOST

In the period from 1920 to 1930 there were 43,487 such fatalities, the coroner said, automobiles being the principal death agency. Deaths from this cause showed an increase of 100 per cent in the 10-year period. Deaths from alcoholism increased from 20 in 1920 to more than 300 last year, he said.

"Bad alcohol is the one outstanding problem faced by this office today," Dr. Bundesen said. He pointed out that bad liquor was as apt to be found in Gold Coast neighborhoods as in the slums.

WALES ARRIVES IN AFRICA

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, Jan. 20. — (AP.) — The Kenilworth Castle, with the Prince of Wales and his party aboard, arrived here today.

A 50-mile gale had delayed the ship at Table Bay. All aboard were well.

The Prince will remain in Capetown for a few days before continuing to the interior of Africa where he will resume the hunt for big game and the tour of Britain's African possessions interrupted when illness of his father called him back to England a year ago.

Trips Over Gas Pipe, Wins $3,000 Verdict

A jury in Common Pleas Court today awarded Mrs. Clara M. Langan and her husband, Samuel T. Langan, of Oakland, a $3,000 verdict in their suit against the City of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Langan contended that her knee was injured permanently when she tripped on a gas pipe protruding in Terrace street in March, 1928.

Parents See Son Killed by Truck

KITTANNING, Pa., Jan. 20.—While his parents looked on, William, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Helfrick, was struck and killed by a truck here. The three were on their way to the postoffice when the lad ran ahead of his parents in crossing a street and was struck.

chauffeur's license in it. I don't know which it was."

"Then I—He handed it back to me. I got out of the car, I pulled my gun out. By the time I was out, the woman was out of the car also with her gun.

"One of the officers threw his hands up and ran in back of the car. He then pulled his gun and fired at me. I stepped back away from him, towards the front of the car, and there was a shot fired. No, that isn't very clear, not what I meant to say. One of the other two guns was fired by either the man or the woman in the car.

"I—after this shot was fired, I fired at his arm. I don't think I fired any more shots. I don't know. There were more shots fired. One bullet went through my hat. One went under the skin of my hip."

Sheriff Wright asked:

"That wound on your leg there?"

"Yes, on my hip, and one through the bottom of my pants. There were two shots fired from inside the car, through the back, through the glass."

"How?"

"From the inside out."

"The back glass was shattered?"

"Yes. Well, two holes in the glass.

"The man in front of the car, I think he was the one who shot at me. I don't know. He fell down, and I pushed him aside with my hand. He was lying down. He was moving around. He was lying on the road, and I pushed him out of the way, so the car could go on, and picked up his revolver. It was a hard road. The other man was at the telephone pole at the back, the last I saw of him. I don't know how bad he was hurt. I gathered from the papers he was the one that died. He was holding on with one hand, or had one hand on the pole, and I think shooting. We drove to the next town. I don't know what it was.

"We drove around in front of a Chrysler roadster. We commanded the man to stop, which he did. We told him to leave his car. The lady took his pocketbook. We left by side streets and drove into Ohio."

"This happened December 27?"

"Well, I can't just tell; on or about that time. The day of the shooting in Pennsylvania. There's only one thing—I had money with me all the time, until I got to Texas.

"When we came to Arizona, it was our intention to go straight. It was purely through circumstances we had to act as we did here.

"I am ready and willing to assume responsibility for my acts. If the opportunity is offered me, I want to do the thing that is right and it is for that reason that this statement was by me made."

Mt. Oliver Board Elects Teacher

The Mt. Oliver Board of Education at its regular meeting elected Mrs. Clara V. Nackey, Cheswick, Pa., as teacher to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Agnes M. Anderson, teacher in the seventh and eighth grades of departmental work. Mrs. Nackey will assume her duties February 3.

Henderson Threat to Radio From Mexico Balks Board

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Thad H. Brown, general counsel of the Federal Radio Commission, before leaving here for Washington today, said the commission has no means to curb W. K. Henderson, of Station KWKH, Shreveport, La., against whose broadcasting complaints have been made.

"Radio jurisprudence," he said, "is still in its infancy, and as yet there is no law to prevent Henderson from saying whatever he happens to choose. He has informed the commission via radio, that if his radio station is ever put out of business he will open a new one in Mexico and operate on every frequency imaginable."

Brown said there was no immediate prospect of legislation to establish a board of radio censorship.

Woman Deprived of Baby As Hoax Fails, Collapses

Bereft of the baby she wished to adopt, Mrs. Mary E. Urban, of 3614 Chartiers avenue, also known as Mrs. White, suffered a nervous collapse and is a patient in Allegheny General Hospital, according to police.

Mrs. Urban was to have been arraigned in Morals Court today following her arrest Saturday after she is said to have admitted that the baby found Friday in the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Station was not her's, as she first maintained.

The baby was taken from her late Saturday, and returned to the Roselia Foundling Home where she had obtained it. Soon afterward, Mrs. Urban became ill, police told Magistrate T. D. Jones.

CRASH WORST AIR TRAGEDY

International News Service

The crash of the Maddox tri-motored Ford air liner near San Clemente, Cal., in which 16 persons lost their lives Sunday night, was the worst in the history of airplanes on record.

Recent airplane deaths claiming a number of lives were as follows:

December 5, 1928—Fourteen killed in Rio de Janeiro when giant Dornier-Wal crashed.

Devore Resigns Militia Command

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 20.—Clarence O. Devore, captain of Company A, One Hundred and Tenth Pennsylvania Infantry, of Monongahela, has tendered his resignation due to pressure of business affairs. He enlisted in the company in 1911. He was later commissioned first lieutenant, going overseas with the Seventy-ninth Division. Upon the reorganization of Company A following the World War he was made captain.

16 AIR DEATHS LAID TO FOG

the tri-motored plane roared away from Agua Caliente, Mexico, at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and swung northward toward Los Angeles under leaden low-hanging clouds.

Dusk had descended as Pilot Basil Russell guided the plane along the coastline. Between Oceanside and San Clemente persons on the ground were attracted when the three powerful wasp motors began to sputter and miss, they said.

The plane swung inland, seeking a landing place as the motors were reported to have died. Pilot Russell put the plane into a glide that for an instant seemed to spectors would prove a perfect landing. The wheels touched the rain soaked earth and the plane buried its nose in the ground and overturned.

There was a blinding flash followed by the roar of an explosion and a second later the air liner was a mass of flames, its 16 occupants trapped in the blazing fuselage.

One of the landing wheels had caught in a chuck-hole. The ship buckled.

A gasoline wing tank apparently split open, drenching the interior of the all-metal cabin with fuel. The gasoline ignited and in an instant the cabin was a blazing charnel.

Jets of flame rocketed from every window and from crevices in the metal sheathing. Passersby on the coast highway three-quarters of a mile to the west, halted their cars and ran to the scene. They found a monster airplane still glowing and jetting flame and no living survivor.

The crash piled the occupants in the front of the ship as the plane drove its nose into the soft earth. All but three of the occupants who were thrown clear were burned beyond recognition.

Besides two pilots eight women and six men died in the flaming ship.

Col. Lindbergh, a technical official of the T. A. T. line, was notified of the crash at San Diego, where he was conducting glider flights. Summoned by Lieut. D. W. Tomlinson, vice president in charge of operations, Lindbergh today was to join Tomlinson and Chief Engineer William Hughes in a complete investigation of the motors.

List of Victims In Air Tragedy

Maddux officials today issued the following list of those aboard the plane when it crashed:

SMALL, EDWARD J., Hollywood, manager of a co-operative delivery company.

WALKER, FRED, 30, mate, of Glendale, Cal. Walker was rated one of the best co-pilots in the Maddux organization. He was married less than a month ago.

16 AIR DEATHS LAID TO RAIN

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—William Van Duesen, secretary of the San Diego Municipal Air Control Board, following a preliminary investigation of the fatal T. A. T.-Maddu Air Liner crash in which 16 persons were killed near Oceanside, Cal., made the following statement today:

"There is no doubt that after leaving Agua Caliente, Meico, the pilot encountered rain and rough weather. It was raining when the tragedy happened. As the pilot flew north, he apparently was using the lights of automobiles on the state highway below him as a guide. At the same time, he took cognizance of the hill on his right, and the heavy storm coming in from the ocean on his left.

"From evidence we found at the scene of the wreck, it is apparent the pilot started to make a left bank turn to return to San Diego, little thinking he was as close to the earth as he really was, and struck the dirt with his left wing. In proof of this we found the ruby light of the left wing at the spot where the ship first hit the ground. It then became a question of the ship piling up, with the plane going wing over wing.

"This, of course, caused the gasoline-filled wings to split and flood the motors with the gasoline, which resulted in the explosion."

Honeymoon Ends, 'Sea Hawk' Aids Air Crash Quiz

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20. (AP.)—D. W. Tomlinson, T. A. T.-Maddux Air Lines official and former "navy sea hawk," today cut short his honeymoon at Palm Springs, Cal., to fly to Oceanside and inspect the wreckage of the plane in which 16 persons died.

With his bride, the former Virginia Sullivan, Hollywood writer, the famous flier went to Palm Springs Saturday following his marriage.

Tomlinson said he would organize a group of the most experienced air pilots on the Pacific Coast and conduct an inquiry for his company into the cause of the tragedy.

EYE-WITNESSES WATCH 16 DIE

SAN CLEMENTE, Cal., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Stories that brought home the horror and grim tragedy which marked the deaths of sixteen persons in the blazing fuselage of the T. A. T. Maddux trimotored plane that crashed here were told today by witnesses to the catastrophe.

One motorist who stopped his automobile as the faltering plane swung toward its emergency landing place told his story to Robert Hanson, son of Ole Hanson, San Clemente realtor. His name could not be obtained.

"One motor seemed to miss as the plane came flying along beneath the low clouds," he told Hanson. "The motor sputtered for some distance, then seemed to catch hold only to falter again.

"The roar of the plane came closer as the pilot sought a safe spot to land. As he drew closer the motor died.

"It looked as though it was perfect landing as the plane swooped down gracefully to the ranch field. All three motors were dead.

"The ship overturned and there was a fearful explosion. Before any of the occupants could escape they were all dead—either killed by the force of the landing or burned to death, their clothing burned almost completely from all the bodies."

Lieut. Virgil Westbrook, United States Army flier who rushed to the scene as soon as news of the tragedy was flashed, told of standing helplessly by while the victims underwent virtual incineration.

"We could see 13 bodies pinned in the blazing cabin," he said. "They must have died when the plane struck.

"The clothing and bodies of the forward passengers were ablaze when we arrived. They had been thrown forward in a heap during the downward flight. Clothing was burned from them and one body had everything but the shoes burned from it.

"Pilot Russell and his assistant died with their hands on the controls and were practically unrecognizable in death."

Many accumulations of property and money, built up by a lifetime of endeavor to provide for the future comfort and protection of a family, are quickly dissipated or lost through the inexperience or folly of the very ones they were designed to protect.

And this happens in spite of existing means which, if properly employed, would conserve these estates.

To protect that which you may leave, it is essential that you make a will, definitely setting forth your intentions, and that you appoint an executor and trustee who can competently carry out its provisions.

This Company offers special facilities for such a service—and its resources and experience are a guarantee of sound and responsible administration.

SHAW CAUSTIC OVER BANQUET

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—A stern vegetarian gesture was the reaction of George Bernard Shaw to a dinner given in his honor by the Town Hall Club.

Despite the Irish dramatist's persistent refusal to visit America, Archibald Henderson, biographer of the playwright and toastmaster at the dinner, invited him to attend. He received the following reply:

"How horrible.

"I am to be made the pretext for killing all those wretched animals and birds and fishes!

"Thank you for nothing.

"Now if it were to be a fast instead of a feast; say a solemn three days' abstentation from corpses in my honor, I could at least pretend to believe that I was disinterested.

"Blood sacrifices are not in my line."

Three hundred persons attended sitting at 40 tables, each of which bore the name of a play or a novel by the absent guest of honor.

At the table named for "Cashel Buron's Profession," sat James J. Corbett, who once held the title which Shaw's friend, Gene Tunney, later relinquished. The speakers, including Mrs. Richard Mansfield, Norman Thomas, Philip Moeller and Lawrence Langner, sat at the table entitled, "Man and Superman."

INDUSTRY DRAFT MEET JAN. 26

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Pittsburgh will be the scene, starting January 26, of some important conferences of officers of the United States Army Reserve. This will be in connection with the proposed program for the drafting of industry in the case of future war.

Some 15 officers, ranging in rank from lieutenant colonel to second lieutenant, have been ordered to Pittsburgh for the meeting, to report to the executive officer of the Pittsburgh engineer procurement district for training. The exact object of the school has not been made public here, but its importance is stressed by the fact that officers from all over the East, and from as far west as Iowa, have been detailed on active duty for the school, which will last from January 26 to February 1.

It is understood that the school will take up, as its primary object, the matter of placing the industrial forces of the country at the disposal of the United States in the case of future conflict and to prepare a program for this work.

Italian Air Racer Dies As Plane Falls

ROME, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Warrant Officer Tomaso Dal Molin, the only Italian entrant to finish in the Schneider Cup races last September, was killed yesterday as his hydroplane fell into Lake Desenzano from a height of about 50 feet. His body was not recovered.

Dal Molin made an average speed of 284.20 miles an hour over the cup course off the Isle of Wight. The British successfully defended the trophy with the average speed of 328.63 miles an hour, set by Flying Officer H. R. D. Waghorn.

Miss Abbie A. Adams Dies in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Mrs. Abbie Asenath Adams, 80, former national president of the Women's Relief Corps and widow of Gen. Clarendon E. Adams, once national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, died yesterday at her home here, after an illness of less than a week.

Mrs. Adams was head of the Relief Corps in 1906 and had taken an active interest in its affairs throughout most of her lifetime. Funeral services will be held here tomorrow.

'Thrill' Director Falls to Death

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—John A. Dewey, 42, formerly a technical director of moving picture thrillers in Hollywood, plunged 10 stories to his death from his hotel room here yesterday. Mrs. Margaret Dewey, his wife, told the coroner her husband had been drinking heavily before he either leaped or toppled through the window.

Youth Exonerated By Coroner's Jury

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 20.—A coroner's jury exonerated V. P. Westover, 18, of Alum Bank, driver of the automobile which struck and fatally injured Mrs. Mary E. Bittner, 74, here Tuesday. Westover was assessed a fine for driving without a license and using license plates issued for another car.

Supervisor Ready For Factory Poll

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 20.—Harry R. BOLIVIA ACCUSED OF ATTACK

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Jan. 20 (AP)—An official communique charged that the Paraguayan fort at Isla Poi was attacked last Thursday afternoon by a Bolivian patrol which for several days had spied on and menaced the troops quartered there. The attack, however, was described as a surprise.

A Paraguayan soldier, Sixto Benitez, was killed in the first onslaught. The Bolivians were stated to have been routed and to have retreated to the Bolivian outpost at Fort Boqueron, the scene of disturbances in 1928. Other details were lacking.

The news was received calmly here. It was generally felt that Bolivia had violated the status quo agreed upon while a conciliation commission was seeking settlement of the territorial dispute over the Chaco Boreal region.

The Woman's Club of Regent Square will hold its regular meeting tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. C. Norris, Treyaton avenue. Mrs. J. Allison, Mrs. H. Howe, Mrs. G. Beaslach and Mrs. R. M. Van Orsdale will be assistant hostesses. The Woman's Club of Swissvale will be guests.

Seek Hit-Run Driver In Pedestrian Death

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 20.—Police are searching eastern Greene County for an unidentified hit-and-run driver who killed Mike Costilo, of Moffitt Sterling, last night as he was walking along a highway near Brown.

Said to have swallowed poison in her home early today, Mrs. Katherine Kennedy, 23, of 1653 Fifth avenue, was reported in a critical condition in Mercy Hospital. The woman police say tried to end her life. A charge of disorderly conduct has been lodged against her at police at the Centre Avenue Police Station.

According to Mrs. Rachel Kennedy, her mother-in-law, the young woman complained of feeling ill shortly after midnight and said that she had taken the poison. Police were called and the woman removed to the hospital.

LIQUOR DEATHS INCREASE

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Alcoholic deaths have increased more than 1,200 per cent in the last 10 years in Cook County, Coroner Herman N. Bundesen has disclosed. Surveying conditions in the county since 1920, deaths resulted from violent and unnatural causes; that while automobiles led the list with an increase from 491 fatalities 10 years ago to 1,033 deaths in 1929, this was only slightly more than 100 per cent in growth and far less than the growth in automobile ownership.

On the other hand, deaths from alcoholism jumped from 20 in 1920 to more than 300 last year.

"Bad alcohol is the one outstanding problem faced by this office today," declared Coroner Bundesen.

"Its consumption is not confined to one class or one period. Our records show that the wares peddled by Gold Coast bootleggers are as often poisonous as those bought in the city's slums.

"Moreover, these figures only include deaths that were directly caused by drinking bad alcohol. They do not attempt to list the thousands of fatalities in which drinking was a contributing cause."

Harbison Society To Meet Tonight

The Harbison Society of the McClure Avenue Presbyterian Church will meet tonight in the church rooms. The program will be presented by Mrs. David A. Evans and Miss Grace Justice.

MORRIS DENIES HOTEL STRIKE

W. E. Morris, manager of the Fort Pitt Hotel, today denied that bus boys at the hotel had gone out on strike. He did admit, however, that a few of the boys had been dismissed.

It was reported last night that 25 bus boys had walked out of the hotel because they were not permitted to eat with the waitresses. Morris said the boys who were fired numbered only three or four and that they were "extra" boys, hired temporarily to care for a rush of business at the hotel.

"The boys were fired," he said, "because they were just a couple of fresh kids who wanted to do as they pleased."

Another version of the story is that the boys were accustomed to eat with the waitresses and that when they were separated from the girls they complained. Morris also denied that any of the regular help at the hotel was affected.

Missing Insurance Agent Sought Here

Attaches of the Missing Persons Bureau today were searching for J. Harold Ream, 24, Johnstown insurance agent, who disappeared last Wednesday. At the time of his disappearance he had a large amount of cash and negotiable collateral in his possession, police say. The local police were asked to look for the man by Ira C. Ream, of Windber, Pa.

Ribs Fractured In Crash of Autos

Harry R. Weiner, 26, of 5728 Darlington road is in Mercy Hospital with three fractured ribs as a result of a collision between his car and that of N. Ward Christle, 37, 523 Sheridan avenue, in Saw Mill Run Boulevard early today. Reckless driving charges were preferred.

Obituary

Jo. P. Cappeau, Jr.

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 20.—After 25 years in the oil business in Pittsburgh, Pa., and later in the Midcontinent Field, Jo P. Cappeau, Jr., died suddenly from heart disease Saturday at his home in Tulsa. Funeral services will be held this afternoon.

He was a graduate of Princeton University, and was at one time leader of the Colonial Club there. Several years spent in the brokerage business in Pittsburgh, primarily in oil stocks and royalties, preceded his coming to Oklahoma in 1908. His father, Jo P. Cappeau, Sr., who is in Tulsa attending the funeral of his son, is widely known in the oil business in Pennsylvania and New York.

The younger Cappeau had varied interests in the oil business in this territory, and at the time of his death was vice president and general manager of the Colonial Royalties Company with headquarters in Tulsa.

He was a civic worker and one of the charter members of the University Club here. He was not married. He leaves his parents. Burial will be made at Tulsa.

Mrs. Mary E. DuBarry.

Mrs. Mary E. DuBarry, 74, widow of George D. DuBarry, died suddenly in Orlando, Fla., Saturday. She was a member of the Mt. Lebanon Presbyterian Church; Syria Ladies' Social Club; Ruth Chapter No. 89, Order of Eastern Star. She is survived by her husband, four sons, Samuel M. DuBarry, George D. DuBarry, Edward G. DuBarry and Milford S. DuBarry. Two daughters, Mrs. Mary E. Hull and Mrs. Juliette T. Meyer. Two sisters, Mrs. Emma Stevenson, of Glenshaw, and Mrs. Robert Vincent, of McKeesport, and nine grandchildren. Funeral will be held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Hull, 2447 Vodell street, Beechview. Interment will be held in Homewood Cemetery.

Mrs. Philip Vierheller.

Mrs. Bertha M. Vierheller died today at her home, 150 Orchard street, Fair Oaks. Mrs. Vierheller was born in the West End, and had been a lifelong resident of the Pittsburgh district. She leaves her husband, Philip Vierheller; a daughter, Miss Marie Vierheller; two brothers, Louis and Albert Vierheller, and two sisters, Miss Amanda Vierheller, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. G. A. Hermann, of Hamilton, O.

Miss Catherine Cray.

Miss Catherine Cray, of 16 Sheridan avenue, Bellevue, for the last 33 years a resident of that borough, died today at her home. Born at Brady's Bend, Pa., Miss Cray spent her girlhood days there and moved to Bellevue in 1897. She was a member of the Church of the Assumption, of Bellevue, and the Ladies' Catholic Benefit Association of that congregation. She leaves five brothers, Peter, Michael, John, James and Thomas Cray, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Mahoney.

Heselbarth Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Christina H. Heselbarth, wife of Charles F. Heselbarth, who died Saturday, will be held today from her home, 600 South Main street. Besides her husband, she leaves three sons, three daughters and five grandchildren. Interment will be made at Greenfree Cemetery.

G. H. Lange.

G. H. Lange, of 2804 West Liberty avenue, Dormont, vice president of the Simplex Pile Foundation Corporation, died last night in the Pittsburgh Hospital after a two month's illness. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Lottie Lange, and a brother.

GREEN TO TALK IN LABOR DRIVE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—The movement to thoroughly organize southern labor into unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor was to be formally launched tonight with an address here by William Green, president, who will outline the organization policy to be pursued by the federation.

Green who arrived yesterday from St. Petersburg, Fla., where he attended the meeting of his executive council, will declare himself in favor of a universal eight-hour day or a five-day week to relieve the unemployment situation.

From Birmingham President Green will go to Nashville as the next point on a speaking tour that will lead into the Carolinas and back through Atlanta.

North Side Man Hit By Auto, Driver Held

Richard Curry, 43, of 841 Lincoln avenue, North Side, was removed to the Presbyterian Hospital this morning, suffering injuries received when he was knocked down by an automobile at Western and Irwin avenues. Russell A. Stevenson, 31, of 185 Academy avenue, Mt. Lebanon, who, police said, was the driver of the machine, was arrested on a reckless driving charge. Curry was cut and bruised.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 20.—A fracture of the hip, sustained last September, caused the death at the Connellsville State Hospital of Louis Firestone, 96 years old, a pioneer resident of Bullskin Township. He fell from a chair in his home.

Tries Tear Gas On Robber, Cash Watch Go

HAMMOND, Ind., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—For several days, Isadore Zeplowitz had been wishing someone would try to rob his clothing store.

His reason was that he had bought one of those fountain-pen gadgets that releases tear gas when properly manipulated. Zeplowitz yearned to try it on a robber.

Yesterday the wished-for footpad entered. Zeplowitz let loose with the tear gas.

BLAST KILLS 8 IN W. VA. MINE

BECKLEY, W. Va., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—An explosion roared through an entry far back in the No. 1 mine of the Lillybrook Coal Company, 10 miles from here yesterday, carrying death to eight miners and injuring four others. The bodies were recovered.

One of the injured men, R. L. Meadows, white, found lying with the dead, may not recover, it was reported at the hospital here. He was brought from the pit by rescuers. The others injured walked from the mine.

Six of the dead were Negroes.

Company officials said they believed the explosion was caused by a fall of slate opening a pocket of gas. Investigation got under way today.

2 Boys Are Sentenced 5 Years in Kidnaping

BEAVER, Pa., Jan. 20.—Joseph Cassiabudina, 19, and Peter Catrone, 19, both of Philadelphia, pleaded guilty to charges of highway robbery in connection with the kidnapinng of William A. Schultz, East Liverpool, O., and were sentenced by Judge Frank E. Reader, to serve from five to 10 years in the penitentiary.

WOMAN KILLED, NEGRO HELD

WALLACE, N. C., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Mrs. Bertie English, young wife of Steve English, farmer living near here, was attacked and beaten to death at her home late Saturday night. Officers arrested Dave Brockington, Negro, a few hours later and charged him with the crime.

Brockington was arrested at a lumber camp in Lenoir County. Police said they learned he had hired an automobile near English's home shortly after midnight and gone to the camp. English found his wife's body with the head crushed when he returned home from Wallace. She apparently had been beaten to death with a fire poker.

The Negro was first jailed in Kinston, but was later removed to the state penitentiary at Raleigh because of feeling officers said existed against him in Duplin County.

SOUTHERN I.C.C. MAN NAMED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The nomination of Hugh M. Tate, of Knoxville, Tenn., as the southern member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, will be sent to the Senate within the next few days, it was learned here today from most reliable sources. He will take the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of Richard B. Taylor, of Alabama, who failed of reappointment.

Tate is a member of the legal firm of Cates, Smith, Tate and Long and a life-long Republican, who has never sought public office, according to information here. R. Jones, of Knoxville, was nominated for the position recently by the President, but withdrew after his name had been placed before the Senate.

Retail Food Survey Shows Prices Higher

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The American housewife paid one and one-third per cent more for her food December 15, 1929, than on the same date of the preceding year, but one per cent less than on November 15, 1929.

In issuing its retail food index, the Department of Labor said that from November 15 to December 15, there were decreases on 27 articles on which monthly prices were secured, increases on six and no change on nine.

Westminster Man Reported Missing

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 20.—According to information received by Westminster College authorities, John Strothard of Ashtabula, O., a senior, who failed to return since the Christmas holidays, has been missing from his home since January 4. He left on that date for the college at New Wilmington.

123rd Anniversary Of Lee's Birth Observed

STRATFORD, Va., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Members of the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation yesterday observed the birthday of Gen. Lee in the Stratford Hall room where he was born 123 years ago.

Poems about Lee were read by Miss Ethel Arms, of Greenwich, Conn., national secretary of the foundation.

AGED MAN, SON SLAIN IN FEUD

CLOVIS, N. M., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—A feud which started with a childish quarrel cost the lives of G. G. Bohannan, 71, and his youngest son, Carl, 19, and V. Tate, county auctioneer, was hidden in a New Mexico jail until tense feeling here subsides.

The two men were shot to death in a street fight, climaxing the 10-year-old Tate-Bohannan feud.

Girl Entering Home Held Up by Negro

An armed Negro this morning robbed Miss Pearl Wentraub, 3341 Webster avenue, of her purse containing $5 as she was about to enter the door of her home. She told police the man stepped from behind a pole and leveled a revolver at her.

Trolleys Kill Only 1 in 280,000,000 Passengers

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Figures showing that only one person in every 280,000,000 carried last year on electric transportation lines was injured fatally were presented by the United States Electric Railway Association in awarding medals for safety and health promotion records.

Woman Doctor Held In Illegal Operation

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Dr. Effie L. Lobdell, prominent woman surgeon, was arrested here on a charge of murder by an illegal operation and was released under $10,000 bond. Charges were preferred by Frank H. Sobbry, whose wife died under circumstances which a coroner's jury said indicated such an operation.

Dr. Lobdell, former chief woman physician on the staff of the Illinois Hospital for the Insane, is a fellow of the American College of Surgeons and a member of the American Medical Association. Dr. Lobdell denied the charge.

POLICE REVIVE GAS VICTIM

Working with an inhalator, police from the Carrick station today saved the life of Edward A. Gibson, 40, who was found unconscious in his rooming house at 329 Industry street.

Gibson rooms in the home of Mrs. Katherine Meinen and Mrs. Meinen found him unconscious. Carbon monoxide fumes from a small stove is said to have been the cause. Police were called and William Fallert and Robert Tucker responded with the inhalator.

Both worked for more than half an hour before they stated the man was out of danger.

Boarder Killed By Fumes in Room

Poor Betty

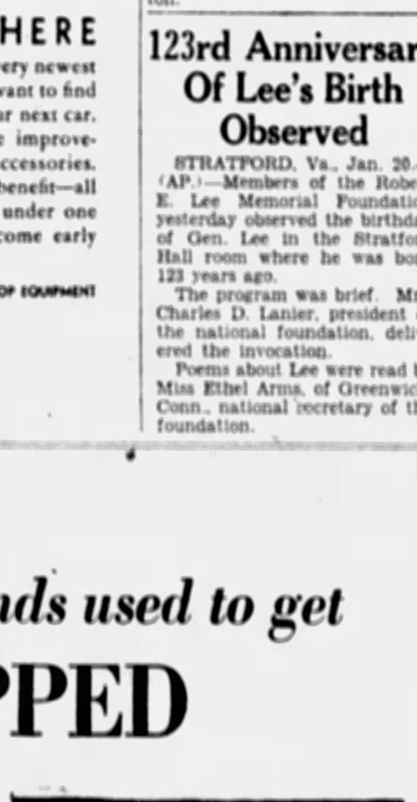
until my doctor told me about this dainty, greaseless, healing cream



"IT USED to make my heart ache to see Betty's hands get so raw and chapped. I was almost tempted to keep her indoors. Then one day my doctor told me about this Noxzema Cream.

"Well, I got some and rubbed it into Betty's hands religiously, before she went outdoors and when she came in. I was really amazed at the way it healed them. Incidentally I used it on my own hands, too—it keeps them wonderfully soft and white all winter in spite of my housework."

Mrs. James A. Hooper, 1723 No. Carolina St., Baltimore, Md.

The best Grand Piano ever sold at $435

And a product of the Aeolian Co.

There is no thrill to match her glow of pride when she sees her living room touched with the glory of a Grand piano. This thrill—this pride—can be hers for only $25 now and the balance extended over a period of years—not just one year

WHEN you think of paying but the price of a good upright and getting a Grand Piano, don't make the mistake of thinking that this is a Grand Piano of the same class as other Grand Pianos which you have seen advertised and offered at an equal or lower price. It isn't; it is entirely different and we will tell you why.

In the first place, the instrument is a superior Grand piano. Its scale is one designed by one of the finest scale draftsmen in the world. Its bass strings are copper wound; the felts on the hammers are all fine, selected felt; the "action" is a perfectly balanced, well made action, responsive to the touch; and the tone is as clear and bell-like as any musician could desire. To the fingers and the ear, as well as to the eye, a real Grand piano.

But more important—this Grand piano is a product of The Aeolian Company, outstanding makers of fine pianos. For The Aeolian Company to produce an instrument at this price is as sensational as for General Motors or Packard to build a low-priced car. The cheaper commodity is measured by the high standards already established by the manufacturer. It must be worthy of the name under which it is manufactured.

With its branches in London, Paris, Berlin, Madrid, and Australia, and its factories in America, England, France and Germany, The Aeolian Company has both the capital and resources, and the extensive equipment to make the production of a quality Grand at this price possible. And only then by reason of this cooperative plan, where the manufacturers and twelve of the largest retailers in the country (operating over 100 music stores) contracted many months ago for the production of these instruments.

Grand pianos of this grade are being sold all over America, day in and day out, for $645 and even more, and no one has ever yet found cause to say they are not worth that price.

Our price is $435; $25 is all that is required as a first payment; $12.50 plus a small carrying charge, per month pays the balance.

Only the smallest possible profit for us

Grand pianos are not ordinarily sold in large numbers per day. Very few of even the largest piano stores sell more than five or six a day. The profits on these five or six must be large enough to pay the salesmen; the rent; the insurance; the clerical help; the delivery charges; the advertising, etc.

Now, then, if we can sell twice as many pianos per day for practically the same fixed expense, we can greatly reduce our profits. And that is what this cooperative plan, and this low price inducement is enabling us to do.

The cooperative plan makes it easy for you to purchase the piano—gives you one year's exchange privilege during which you may exchange this Grand for any of the celebrated makes which we sell, without any money loss. It includes a life insurance clause, which says that in the event of your death, we will cancel all further indebtedness on your part and give your family the instrument, to have and to own, free and clear.

There could be no more helpful, straightforward and fair opportunity for you to take advantage of.

HERE ARE THE ADVANTAGES YOU SHARE AS THE RESULT OF THIS COOPERATIVE IDEA

1. The Aeolian Company, the makers of this fine Grand piano, have heretofore never manufactured a Grand piano to retail at less than $645.
2. Instead of paying from $50 to $100 as a first payment, and $20, $30, or $50 a month as you will in the regular way, during this cooperative sale you pay but $25 to join in this cooperative movement and then but $12.50 a month, plus a small carrying charge.
3. You get the strongest guarantee ever put on a piano; a joint guarantee signed by the manufacturers—The Aeolian Company—and ourselves, giving you protection for five years that is as safe as a government bond.
4. So confident are we as to the value of these instruments that within one year from the day you get your piano through this cooperative plan, you may exchange it for any of the celebrated makes of instruments we handle, without so much as a penny's loss.
5. All payments remaining unpaid are voluntarily cancelled in the event of your death—thus leaving the piano free of encumbrance to your family.
6. You are given opportunity to secure others to cooperate in this plan. This still further reduces the cost of your instrument.

12.50 Monthly

The initial payment necessary to obtain one of these pianos is $25. The $25 is deducted from the price, leaving $410 to be paid at $12.50 a month, plus a small carrying charge.

Johnstown Council Will Discuss Mayor

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 20.—City Council tomorrow will take up the election of a mayor to fill the unexpired term of Joseph Cauffiel, now serving two years in the county jail at Ebensburg. Two men are mentioned, Herbert J. Stockton, former head of the city schools, and Harry B. Mainhart, who recently retired from council. Stockton was the Republican nominee two years ago, but was defeated by Cauffiel, independent candidate.

Unable to Earn Enough, Kills Himself

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 20.—Because he couldn't make ends meet, Asa L. Queen, 24, employe of a glass factory, shot and killed himself at his home at Union Heights. He leaves his widow and an infant son. Mrs. Queen said her husband was despondent because he could not earn enough money.

PLAYS RECORDS, FATALLY SHOT

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 19.—(AP.)—Because Peter Yurchak, 40, would not turn off his talking machine, he was shot and fatally wounded last night by a neighbor, police reported. The neighbor, Michael Sliss, 40, was being held.

Yurchak lives at Primrose, three miles from here. While he and his wife and daughter were playing the phonograph, Sliss was alleged to have knocked on the wall and to have requested that the music be stopped. Yurchak continued playing.

A short while later there was a rap on the door of the Yurchak home. The daughter, 19, answered, but slammed the door in fright upon seeing Sliss standing there with a shotgun. Yurchak then opened the door, and Sliss, it was alleged, fired at him.

Walter Kotler, a boarder at the Yurchak home, and George Williams, a neighbor, captured Sliss. They said they grappled with him as he was trying to reload the single shotgun.

Yurchak died in a Pottsville hospital.

Two Killed, 1 Hurt In Boiler Explosion

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Two men were killed and a third was injured critically in a boiler explosion in the Blue Ribbon Laundry here.

J. B. Gilliland and Roy C. Gilliland were killed. Cobb Vanway, 45, suffered broken legs and other injuries when a portion of the boiler house wall fell on him.

Church on Fire, Pastor Leaves It To Committee

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Smoke pouring into the auditorium of the Eastern Parkway Baptist Church here interrupted the Rev. W. Stuart Rule in the midst of his sermon.

The pastor, in the fact of a possible panic, quietly appointed a committee to investigate the source of the smoke, pronounced the benediction and asked the 300 or more persons present to walk out slowly.

Fire, attributed to a faulty flue, caused damage to the church estimated by firemen at $1,000.

Firms Merged

C. K. Gummerson G. B. Martin

2 ADVERTISING FIRMS MERGE

Merger of two Pittsburgh advertising agencies, the C. K. Gummerson Company and the Farrar Advertising Company, was announced today. The newly-formed organization will operate under the name of Gummerson & Martin, Inc. Offices will be located in the Nixon Theater Building.

C. T. Johnson

G. B. Martin, for 14 years head of the Farrar organization, becomes chairman of the board, while C. K. Gummerson remains president and treasurer. Joseph Gummerson will be vice president and G. P. Gummerson, secretary.

The Gummerson company was formed two years ago to handle accounts relinquished to it by Barker, Duff & Morris, who quit business after 17 years' service.

Frank H. Ramsey, well-known advertising man, has been added to the staff of the new organization, as well as C. Thurston Johnson, former production manager of the Farrar agency.

Prior to engaging in the advertising business Mr. Gummerson was with the Associated Press and a number of Pittsburgh newspapers. He also worked in North Dakota for a time, where he was editor of the Fargo Courier-News, at that time the state's largest daily.

Mr. Martin became head of the Farrar agency in 1916. Since that time the company has been engaged in service embracing marketing analysis, newspaper, magazine, outdoor promotion and direct mail sales.

Mexican Railroad Labor Dispute Ends

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The Mexican Railway Workers Alliance last night announced settlement of the long-standing dispute with the Southern Pacific Railway of Mexico. The federal board of conciliation and arbitration has notified the railroad that it must sign a collective labor contract with the alliance within 10 days. The contract obliges the company to select its employes henceforth from lists of names submitted by the alliance.

Lohengrin Sung; Opera Star Weds

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The wedding march from Lohengrin, sung by the Chicago Civic Opera Company at its matinee, was virtually a wedding march in reality for Miss Thelma Votipka, soprano, now in her first season with the company, and W. T. Hamilton, electrical engineer. They were married immediately after the rendition. The bridegroom divides his time between here and New York.

Sheppard Defends Plan to Punish Rum Buyers

DETROIT, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—A strong defense of his proposed law to make the buyer of liquor subject to the same penalty as the seller was made by Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas, in an address here yesterday.

The Senator addressed a rally which concluded the Anti-Saloon League's national convention.

"We need to make but few examples of the highbrows who think they are above the law which governs humbler folk in order to smash the bottom out of the bootleg market and reduce the illegal liquor traffic to the disappearing point," the Texan asserted.

ENVOY CASTLE AT TOKIO

Surrounded by many Japanese reporters who had boarded the liner at Quarantine, Castle handed them a written statement in which he said that he was proud that President Hoover had selected him for this mission.

Castle was appointed ambassador to Japan for the duration of the naval arms conference at London. The new ambassador expressed confidence that the efforts of the powers toward further disarmament would be successful.

Motorist Killed As Automobile Hits Horse

FORT WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Roger Kilpatrick, 30, of Willow Grove, near here, was killed last night when his automobile struck a horse ridden by Harold Allen, of Lansdale, Pa. Allen suffered a fractured skull and is in a critical condition. Samuel Worthington and John McPheak, passengers in Kilpatrick's car, were cut and bruised.

BLUE LAW HITS N. Y. THEATERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Employes of three Broadway theaters, where dance recitals were in progress, and a dancer were served with summonses for violation of the Sabbath laws. The complaints were preferred by the Sabbath Day Committee.

In each of the three playhouses, Hampden's Theater, the Craig Theater and the Guild Theater, the performances were not interrupted and the summonses were served by police at the conclusion. At the two last named theaters, the managers were notified during the intermission that the summonses would be served if the performances continued.

At the Hampden Theater, Miss Margaret Severen, dancer, also received a summons. She and her company were giving the first of two Sunday night dance recitals advertised as benefits to provide a scholarship for the Margaret Severen school.

Minister, Active 50 Years, Is Dead

SCOTTDALE, Pa., Jan. 20.—The Rev. Henry Smith Meyers, 76, for more than 50 years a pastor of the Church of the Brethren, died at his home in Scottdale after a lingering illness.

COUGHS KEPT THE JOHNSONS AWAKE

JACK & JEAN JOHNSON

Till REM brought grateful relief

Jack and "Billy Jean" Johnson of 2705 Wood Ave., Kansas City, used to get bad coughs each winter, and their mother was more or less resigned to losing several nights' sleep whenever a cough arrived. Then she saw a REM ad and bought a bottle at Reynolds' Drug Store at 25th and Garfield. Now she stops her children's coughs before they have a chance to get a good start. "We get more sleep than any winter before," she adds. Restless nights don't do coughs any good, and many a person has REM to thank for a good night's sleep. If REM doesn't relieve your cough quickly, your druggist is authorized to give your money back. The fact that not one in a thousand ever wanted it back tells a story as convincing as Mrs. Johnson's.

Take Herbal Flaxolyn If You Want That Natural Glow of Health

Says Pittsburgh Doctor

Run-down, constipated folks who find things are not going right should try taking the natural Flaxolyn for a short time and see how quickly their condition improves.

There are four things which science says you must have to be normally strong, well and fully developed. These four things are keen appetite, healthy digestion, restful sleep and regular bowel action.

If you are weak, flabby, pale, easily exhausted or feel lacking in ambition and thinking power and want that energy and pep which win business and social success, you are no doubt deficient in one or more of the above functions. You should try the pleasant Flaxolyn combination of herbs at once!

How Flaxolyn Brings Good Health

The fact that in Los Angeles and Hollywood, Cal., in Tampa and Miami, Florida, and other cities where fashion, social and financial leaders gather, in Battle Creek, Mich., Asheville, N. C., Lakewood, N. J., and other health resort centers, thousands upon thousands of packages of Flaxolyn have already been purchased and results praised should convince you that this remarkable discovery is worthy of an immediate trial.

The herbs, roots and barks in Flaxolyn are so prepared that they mix with the fluids of the stomach and intestines, where some of them are absorbed into the blood and organs, while others pass into the colon. The herbs in Flaxolyn which act upon the colon are quite unlike the ordinary laxative which "dynamites" the clogged waste matter out of the bowels. Flaxolyn, however, "peps up" the action in the ascending, transverse and descending colon, bringing about normal bowel movement.

Stops "Stomach Gas"

When Flaxolyn acts, the formation of dangerous fermentative GASES in the intestines STOPS! The digestive process can work properly again and the body can perform its normal functions with ease. Sleep comes quickly—strength and vigor follow naturally.

Why not try this herbal discovery which doctors from every corner of the land publicly indorse? Enjoy a rapid gain in health. Get that ruddy complexion and reserve energy, which nature's herbs can bring. Just take Herbal Flaxolyn for a short time and watch the truly amazing results.

Dr. H. V. WALLS, M. D. & D. D. S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dr. H. V. Walls (M. D. & D. D. S.) of Pittsburgh, who is well known for his health lecture work. Dr. Walls has been a speaker on stations KDKA and WJAS. He was formerly an Associate Professor of Clinical Surgery. He has attended the University of Paris and studied in Edinburgh, London and other European medical centers.

Dr. Walls says: "It is my opinion, after years of examining run-down people of all classes, that there is no more powerful health tonic than the new vitaminized Flaxolyn. It acts upon stomach, liver and kidneys, thereby promoting a better state of physical health."

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE It is absolutely guaranteed in writing that Flaxolyn will help cases of general exhaustion, biliousness, sleeplessness, headaches, backaches, dizzy spells, due to constipation, gases—or Druggists refund the purchase price.

Every reader of this paper who would like to feel better, eat better, sleep better and look better, can obtain a bottle of the wonderful new vitaminized herbal Flaxolyn on this liberal offer. That if Flaxolyn does not bring satisfactory results by the sixth spoonful, you may bring back the partly used bottle and have the full purchase price refunded!

Flaxolyn contains nothing that can hurt you, and it may prove to be the means of bringing joy to your existence.

Don't wait. Start taking Flaxolyn. You will feel the tonic change at once. You will enjoy renewed vigor, and new and better grip on life.

Flaxolyn may be obtained at all leading druggists. If your druggist does not carry it in stock he can have it in order if for you at once.

May Drug Co. Stores All over Greater Pittsburgh can supply you with Flaxolyn.

Swing Along ..... Will Marion Cook

The Choral Society of the Young Men and Women's Hebrew Association contributed a concert to the regular "Y" series last night, which turned out to be something of an old home gathering, with the soloist, Cantor Rosenblatt, leading the audience back to its folk music. Harvey Gaul conducted the chorus, and as composer contributed a setting of Psalm CXXVI.

J. Fred Lissfelt

This chorus has always endeavored to present as many as possible of the traditional hymns of the temple or songs of the people, the best reason for their singing. For the music of the Hebrews has its roots in ancient soil, and is colored by as varied a history as any folk song. Curiously enough, these young Hebrews have no great feeling for these songs. When the chorus swings into such choruses as Gounod's "Chorus of Bacchantes," or Will Marion Cook's Negro melody, they show how seriously modern syncopation has got into their blood.

Cantor Rosenblatt is a most unique entertainer. His voice is tenor with altitudes of falsetto. He gives us the rare opportunity to hear liturgical music of the synagogue, with its wealth of improvisation, a feature that in less clever singers pulled such music down to very low levels. In his Yiddish popular tunes he leans to comedy, and has no mean sense for its delicacy. When the audience eventually joined in the chorus of his many verses, it was a climax in good fellowship and really sincere music.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

'PRIVATE' STILL OWNER FREED

Liquor can be manufactured if the person making it wants it for his own use, Magistrate J. J. Sweeney ruled in South Side Police Court today.

Joseph Olup, Jr., 32, of 1 Sterling street, had been arrested for keeping a disorderly house after police confiscated a 35-gallon still, five barrels of mash and a gallon of moonshine.

"You don't sell this stuff do you?" Sweeney asked.

"No, sir. I just make it for myself," Olup replied.

"But judge, he'd hardly need a 35-gallon still for his own use," protested Patrolman William Barrett.

IF RHEUMATIC BEGIN ON SALTS

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat no sweets of any kind for a while, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of Jad Salts occasionally to help keep down uric and toxic acids.

Rheumatism is caused by poison toxins, called acids, which are generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this poison, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts, put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, removing body waste, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

OLD CLOTHING PLEAS MADE

"We are receiving many appeals for clothing from the poorer district of the city," Capt. William E. Collins, of the Volunteers of America, 724 East Diamond street, North Side, said today. "The call for clothing, particularly garments for women and children, is the heaviest in years.

"Unless the public helps us, we will have to turn down some of these requests. If people with discarded overcoats, women's and children's garments and other clothing, which they are willing to give us, will call Fairfax 9020, we will call for them."

48 PIANOS LOANED FREE

Forty-eight Pianos (Grands, Players and Uprights, both new and used instruments), will be placed in homes of Pittsburgh and vicinity and they may be used until we need them—which will be an indefinite time. We have discontinued a number of our branch stores and these instruments are arriving from our Wheeling, Steubenville, East Liverpool and Dover agencies. We are placing these Pianos in our "Frederick Annex," located at 915 Liberty Ave. Instead of storing these pianos in unheated warehouses where lack of care may cause us a great loss, we are ready to take the loss now, and have slaughtered prices so that if you have ever thought of buying a piano—now is the time. All pianos not sold outright will be placed in the homes of families who are interested in owning a piano in the immediate future, and for the valuable advertising we will receive by having good families use them. We reserve the right to select the homes in which these pianos are to be placed.

HEADS FAMILY LONG ASSOCIATED WITH COLONIAL

Mrs. John C. Reilly, whose family has been associated with The Colonial Trust since its inception. Photographs were taken during one of Mrs. Reilly's recent visits to the bank where her family has been represented on the Board of Directors for almost 28 years.

Reilly Family History A Romance Of Transportation.

GOES TO HORSE CAR DAYS

Family on Colonial Board Almost 28 Years.

A close association with The Colonial Trust Company is almost a tradition in some Pittsburgh families. The family of the late John C. Reilly is one of these. The illustrations here show Mrs. Ursula O'Connor Reilly, widow of Mr. Reilly, who has been actively interested in The Colonial almost since the days of its formation. A member of her family has been represented on The Colonial board during all that time.

Started Omnibuses.

Her husband was one of the pioneers in the transportation business in Pittsburgh, his experience going back even beyond the days of the horse cars. He was born here in 1845 and at an early age worked for the Pennsylvania Railroad. Profiting by his experiences in transportation obtained with the Pennsylvania, and visioning the great development of then-little-developed sections of this city, he and William J. Burns organized a line of omnibuses which ran out Second Avenue to Glenwood and later to Hazelwood. This being successful, he then started a line of omnibuses from Pittsburgh to the West End.

As these various districts of the city became more thickly populated, the omnibus lines were converted into horse cars and became the Second Avenue Traction Line and the old Pittsburgh and West End Passenger Railroad Company. In this enterprise Mr. Reilly and Mr. Burns were joined by James D. Callery and the late Thomas M. Bigelow.

Then Electric Lines.

At the advent of electric transportation, the Second Avenue and the West End lines were made electric traction companies and later, when the street car lines were consolidated, they became part of the United Traction Company. The West End Line proved one of the greatest investments in the city for the men who built it from a bus line.

When the Pittsburgh Railways Company was formed, Mr. Reilly became a director. He was also a director of the old City Savings Bank which was located at the corner of Sixth Avenue and Smithfield Street. The merger of that bank with The Colonial Trust Company brought Mr. Reilly's interest to The Colonial and he became a member of The Colonial's board on June 9, 1902. Mr. Reilly was also one of the founders of the Washington National Bank and was its president until his death. He was also president of the City Insurance Company and a director of the Pittsburgh Trust Company and the Freehold Real Estate Company.

Son Takes His Place.

After Mr. Reilly's death, in 1907, his son, Eugene S. Reilly, was elected to his place on The Colonial's board and has been a member of that board continuously since. Eugene Reilly has been engaged in the realty business for years, is president of Eugene S. Reilly & Company, and was formerly president of the Real Estate Board of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Reilly, widow of John C. Reilly, is a frequent visitor at The Colonial and has been a continuous depositor here.

Colonial Director Is Honored

C. F. Nieman, a member of the Board of Directors of The Colonial Trust Company, has been elected to the board of the United States Glass Company.

Mr. Nieman is president of the Parkersburg Iron & Steel Company, vice president of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Company, director of the Globe Insurance Company, director of the New Cumberland Water and Gas Company, and president of the Fifth Avenue Bank.

GOLD COMES BACK LIGHT

Curious Facts About Coins Used As Gifts.

Now that Christmas is over, the millions of dollars in gold coin which flowed out of the banking system of the country and into the hands of individuals is rapidly flowing back into the banks, there to remain more or less steadily for another 11 months.

One of the curious results of the custom of giving gold pieces as presents at Christmas time is the loss which almost all banks suffer through this exchange of gold. The loss is relatively small, but is curious.

Gold coin is obtained by banks from the Federal Reserve System. After Christmas, when the gold is deposited again it goes back into the Federal Reserve. If any of the gold pieces which are turned into the Federal Reserve by the banks show signs of wear, the coins are weighed and the Federal Reserve buys them back at a value computed upon their actual weight, not face value. If a bank has taken these coins at face, it looses the difference between what it paid for them and what it receives for them.

The rule of the Federal Reserve System, of course, is to prevent unscrupulous people from taking gold coins, getting some of the gold from them by abrasion and still receiving full value for the coins.

There is at least one group of foreign-born people in Pittsburgh who like gold coins and use them throughout the year. Many of these people will pay a premium for gold coins of old mintage, coins of the period when the head of the Goddess of Liberty was standard on the coins.

The gold coin which is always most scarce at Christmas time is the $2.50 piece. The supply of these is limited and the Federal Reserve Bank distributes only a limited number to each bank.

WOMEN MANAGE 41% OF WEALTH

Are Beneficiaries Of 80 Per Cent of Life Insurance.

The constantly-increasing part which women are taking in finance and business is indicated by figures recently compiled by Lawrence Stern and Company.

These figures show that women control nearly 41% of all the individual wealth in the United States. They are beneficiaries of 80% of all life insurance policies. They constitute nearly 40% of the customers of investment bond houses. They receive 70% of all the estates left by men and 44% of the estate left by women.

GET $1,000 BY SAVING $10 WEEK

Small Regular Deposits Quickly Mount to Large Sums.

A regular weekly deposit of $9.50 a week, placed in the Colonial Trust pany at 4 per cent interest, compounded twice a year, will amount to $1,028.57 in two years.

If the same rate of deposit were kept up over a period of 12 years, your $9.50 deposits would grow to $7,591.98. Of that sum, more than $1,663 would be interest added to your account by the Colonial.

CHRISTMAS CLUB WILL SOON CLOSE

Enroll at Once and Be Ready For Next Christmas.

There is still time to join the Christmas Savings Clubs at The Colonial.

In fact, this is the ideal time to join the Christmas Clubs, now that Christmas and its expenses are over and most people have a financial breathing spell.

Figure up how much money Christmas cost you and make plans to lay aside that much against next Christmas. Our savings department will be glad to tell you how much you should save each week to reach the sum you are interested in saving. Join today or tomorrow.

The wide public interest in a plan for making life insurance premiums easier to pay was indicated recently when The Colonial's insurance premium plan was announced over the radio from Pittsburgh.

Scores of people throughout Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia wrote to The Colonial asking for information about the plan and how it can operate for them.

The plan is a simple one. It merely puts life insurance premium payments on the same sort of basis as rents and other large regular payments are handled by the public at large.....that is on monthly payments.

You simply turn over to The Colonial Trust a list of all your policies and their numbers. The Colonial will then figure out your total premiums for the year and tell you how much you should deposit each month in a special savings account at The Colonial.

When you make those deposits, the bank automatically receives your premium notices and pays the premiums as they come due. You are relieved of the necessity of meeting large annual or semi-annual payments; you are also relieved of all work in connection with the premium payments.

In addition, The Colonial pays interest upon the money you pay into this special fund, and also enables you to save other money by earning for you the lower premium rate which applies when the premiums are paid on the annual basis rather than semi-annually or quarterly.

If you are interested in this plan, write to or visit the Trust Department, The Colonial Trust Company, and it will be explained for you. There is no charge for the service.

'Where Does It Come From?' They Ask

Almost every day, at The Colonial, you can see a group of women gathered around the stock tape and the ticker with some one of the bank staff explaining the whys and wherefores of the constant stream of news and information that comes flowing over these two devices.

MRS. WM. ROBERTS & JEAN

REM checks Jean's cough

Jean Roberts of 1905 S. Belmont Ave., Indianapolis, had caught cold and had such a bad cough that school was out of the question. In fact, she could hardly speak above a whisper and the cough was so bad the whole family had spent several sleepless nights. Then her mother saw a REM ad, and father went to Walters' Drug Store at Howard and McLain, reaching there just at closing time. "I gave Jean some REM right away", says Mrs. Roberts, "and she slept much better that night. Soon she was much better. I myself caught cold recently and had a terrible cough, but REM soon stopped it." When one member of a family once tries REM, it usually isn't long before it's the regular cough medicine for the whole household. Insist on REM—every druggist has it.

REM'S easy to take, too. Children and parents can both appreciate that

INTRUDER DIES, TEACHER HELD

BECKLEY, W. Va., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Mrs. Bertha Dial, 35, school teacher at Maple Meadow, three miles from Lester, near here, was held at the home of Q. L. Brown, Lester constable for questioning in connection with the slaying of Work Jones, 42, yesterday.

The constable said Mrs. Dial shot Jones when he attempted to force his way through a window into her home. Mrs. Dial and her daughter were alone in the house and, Brown said, she fired at Jones when he failed to heed her warning to stay away from the window. Jones was shot in the leg, Brown said, and died from loss of blood after crawling several feet away from the window.

Jones, authorities said, had no relatives and came to Lester from Georgia several years ago. Since that time, they said, he has lived in a one-room shack and worked at odd jobs.

Two Strip Places Cited for Padlocks

Two places in the "Strip" were named in preliminary liquor padlock injunctions granted in Federal Court today by Judge Nelson McVicar. March 4 was set for the final hearing.

Fire Damages Pitt Campus Building

Damage estimated at $3,000 was caused by fire which broke out in a one-story frame building on the University of Pittsburgh campus at Bouquet and O'Hara streets early today. Most of the damage was done to dental equipment stored there. The building is also used by the Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

MILLER, GLASS MAKER, DIES

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 20.—J. Ernest Miller, dean of glass manufacturers, died at his home here yesterday. He was in his ninetieth year. Until his retirement in 1927, he was one of the executives of the Duncan Miller Glass Company, of this city. Miller was widely known for the originality characterized products of his moulds, still being produced by his factory here.

He came to this country from Germany in 1846. At the age of 10 he took his first job in a glass plant at Pittsburgh.

During the Civil War he served with an Ohio regiment. He was one of the last members of the G. A. R. Post of this city and was affiliated with the Masonic body.

Miller's first job was with the Melvaney and Ledley Glass factory in South Side, Pittsburgh. Later he worked for Brice, McKee & Co. and A. J. Beatty & Co., at Steubenville, O. In 1867 he took charge of the mould shop of the Washington Beck Company and in 1870, occupied the same position with Kingson & Co. In 1874 he accepted a position with George Duncan Sons, Pittsburgh. This plant was destroyed by fire in 1892.

Mrs. Miller, formerly Miss Elizabeth Bair, of Steubenville, survives with the following children: Mrs. Zula McCutcheon, of Washington; Dr. Leroy Miller, of New Brighton; Victor D. Miller, of Cleveland, O.; Mrs. Catherine Stewart, of Washington, and Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, of Butler. He leaves 24 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Wilkinsburger Gets Fayette Sleuth Job

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 20.—The newly-created position of "special county detective" was filled today by District Attorney J. B. Adams, with appointment of William T. Walker, 27, of Wilkinsburg and Pitcairn, to the office. The salary was set at $2,000 a year.

Ends Coughs!

"Each cough made me more anxious... more frightened!"

"It was eleven o'clock on a bitter winter night — my little daughter Jane woke up—coughing. My husband ran to the drug store and got a bottle of Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup. With the very first swallow of the syrup her cough began to calm down. We gave her a little bit every hour and finally, around two o'clock in the morning, she fell asleep again. How relieved I was! In the morning Jane felt much better—and in two days she was all well again."

ASK $6,000,000 FOR PALESTINE

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20 (AP.) — A concerted drive by United Jewish organizations in the United States will be made to raise $6,000,000 this year for Palestine and rehabilitation work in Russia and other European countries.

Details of the unification of activity and campaign machinery permitting the joint drive were announced here at the sessions of the National Conference on the Jewish National Fund.

Maj. Daniel Hopkins, member of the British Parliament, told the meeting that the labor government was "seriously considering" the appointment of "a more sympathetic administration" in Palestine.

The conference was attended by 1,000 delegates of the joint distribution committee, the Jewish agency in Palestine and their constituent bodies from all parts of the country.

The formal understanding reached provides for $3,500,000 of the sum raised to be turned over to the joint distribution committee for work in Russia, Poland and other countries. The remainder is to be expended by the Jewish agency for Palestine in accordance with its program adopted at Zurich last summer.

The agreement was said to mark the first instance of raising funds for relief and reconstruction work in Palestine and Eastern Europe by one united national effort on the part of the organization involved.

William M. Lewis, of the United Palestine appeal, whose function will be absorbed by the combined groups; Paul Baerwald, David M. Bressler and Morris Rothenberg comprise the executive committee which will direct the campaign.

Among those who pledged the co-operation of their organizations were Louis Lipsky, president of the Zionist Organization of America; Mrs. Robert R. Szold, of the Hadassah; Rabbi Wolf Gold, Mizrachi; Dr. I. J. Bluestone, Order Sons of Zion; Berl Locker, Poale Zion; Chaim Greenberg, Zeire Zion; Samuel Dayan, Palestine Labor Delegation; and Elias M. Epstein, secretary of the Keren Kayemeth, Jerusalem.

Dormont Motorists Fined by Burgess

Burgess Charles Chamberlain, of Dormont, at his first hearings since taking office had 55 cases before him. He discharged the first defendant before him, but fined a number of motorists $1 each for parking their cars all night in the streets; several $5 each for driving their machines past a red light and others $10 each for driving at an excessive speed.

Success Treatment For

CATARRH

30 Days' Free Trial

Opens Up Stuffed Nostrils in 3 Min.

Not only can you reach every fold and crevice of the membrane of the nose and throat with Opex but if you will inhale as you spray you can draw this soothing, smoke-like vapor right thru the bronchial tubes all the way to the bottom of the lungs — reaching every part of the entire respiratory tract.

Catarrh is an obnoxious disease hard to treat, because it is hard to reach. Try Opex — in one day you'll see with your own eyes just how Opex gets to where the trouble lies —you can see the spreading, cleansing, vaporlike smoke going in one nostril and out of the other.

Opex is the swift modern treatment for stubborn Catarrh. It is pleasant, refreshing—invigorating—Catarrhal mucus is driven out of nostrils and throat.

The price of a bottle of Opex is but $1.00 at the leading drug store in every town or city, who will gladly tell you all about it. One bottle lasts 2 months. Mail orders filled ($1.00) by Opex Co., 11 W. 20th St., New York City.

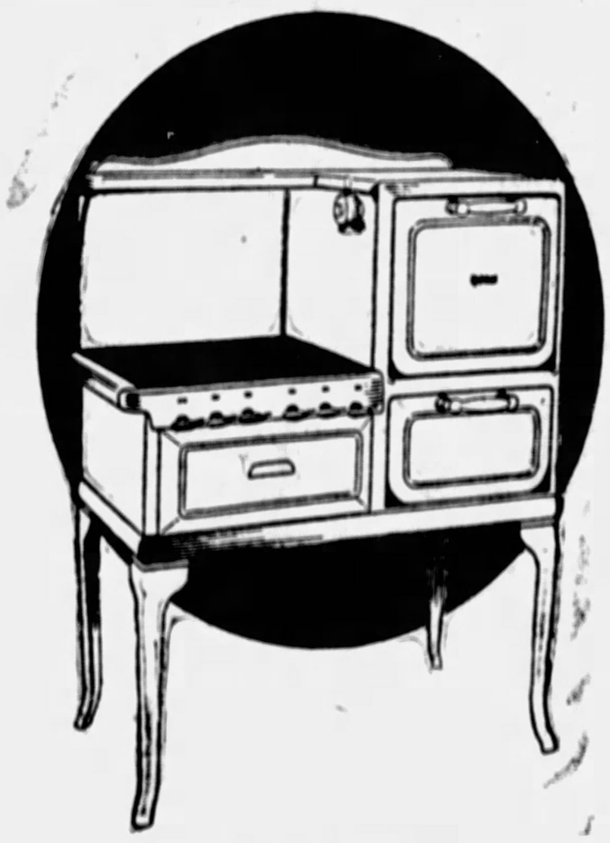
Baking gets a Head-Start in the New TAPPAN Speed Oven . . . . .



It's the oven that starts from "scratch," a cold beginning, and bakes as rapidly and thoroughly as the oven with a head-start. No pre-heating is necessary for pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins, or puddings to be done-up brown and delicious in just a short time. The heat stays in the oven where it should and not in the kitchen where it shouldn't ... and the elimination of pre-heating eliminates a lot of extra gas usage.

The other features such as Concealed Manifold, Oven Heat Control, Smokeless Broiler, Aluminum Flue Pipe, and the fact that the range is all enamel, inside and out are practical and convincing reasons why your next range should be a Tappan.

BANNISTERS' BABY HAS OFFER FOR ADOPTION BUT ANN AND HARRY SAY NO

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright 1930 by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 20.

ANN HARDING and her husband, Harry Bannister, have received the following letter from a fan concerning their young daughter Jane:

Dear Ann and Harry: I saw a picture of you in a movie magazine with your little daughter. Now, I know that movie stars haven't time to take care of their own children, so I'd like to adopt her. She is a pretty little thing, and I know I could grow to love her like my own. She would have a fairly good home, and if not luxuries at least love.

"Ann and Harry" declined with thanks.

Barbara Leonard savvies her Hollywood. She was conversing via 'phone with a friend and mentioned a certain name. The friend didn't get it. Barbara spelt it:

"Cells C as in Chicago, E as in England, L as in London, I as in Hollywood—"

Ann Harding

Corinne Griffith learned about skis and such winter sportings from the flicks. Now she likes 'em. So she, her husband and a few friends will traipse to the Yosemite and sample the real article.

Ronald Colman Exhibits Car

A FRIEND of this colyum's writes:

Dear Dorothy: I suddenly had a happy inspiration. I should write you and let this out. It's too good to keep.

The other day Ronald Colman was talking to Edmund Lowe while standing alongside his (R. C.'s) new Cord roadster (very snappy roadster, too). All around said roadster was a flock of studio laborers admiring it.

Ronald Colman

Ronald got in to go, but the admirers seemed reluctant about backing up.

"Hey, Eddie," said Ronald, "take a look under this bus and see if there is any one under there looking at the motor. I'd like to go!"

COHAN, HEALY WARWICK IN BILLS

George M. Cohan comes to the Nixon tonight in his play, "Gambling," one of the present season's hits of New York. There will be the usual matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Mr. Cohan also will present another play, "Sporting Blood," at three special matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. He will act in "Gambling," but not in "Sporting Blood."

Having played for long runs in New York and Chicago since it was first presented in the Alvin last season, "A Night in Venice" returns to that theater tonight, where it remains for a week, with the customary matinees. Ted Healy is the featured comedian, and Ann Seymour is prominent in the cast.

In the Pitt this week the attraction will be "Her Friend the King," with Robert Warwick, prominent on stage and screen, as guest star with the George Sharp Players. Thursday and Saturday are matinee days in this theater.

Bert Lytell, another stage actor who is popular with screen followers, will be seen in the Nixon next week in a comedy drama, "Brothers."

"Blossom Time" will bloom again in the Alvin throughout the week of January 27. The company will be practically the same one that presented this popular operetta on its last visit here.

George Sharp has arranged for the presentation of "Smiling Through" by the members of his resident company in the Pitt next week. Edith King will have the leading role.

Fritz Leiber and a group of players from the Civic Theater of the Chicago Civic Shakespeare Society are to offer Shakespearean repertoire in the Alvin the week of February 3. Eight different plays will be presented in six night and two matinee performances.

Triangle

Virginia Valli is the feminine member of a triangle in "The Lost Zeppelin," showing in the Olympic, now a Tiffany first run house.

SNOW AND ICE IN TIFFANY DEBUT

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

"The Lost Zeppelin" opened in the Olympic Saturday, marking that theater's inauguration as a first-run house for pictures of Tiffany Productions Inc. It is a film that has more snow and ice than drama.

Conway Tearle, Virginia Valli and Ricardo Cortez head the cast and are responsible for a triangle complex. Tearle, as commander of an expedition to the South Pole, finds his wife in the arms of his friend and lieutenant on the eve of shoving off for the cold wave region. Startled, he bumps into a big vase (pronounced vaws in Britain and in the movies) and, as he hears it crash to the floor, says with stagey meaning: "Everything is shattered."

Much of the picture concerns the Zeppelin's flight and its subsequent stranding amid Polar ice and snow. Finally, you see the two men who supposedly love the same woman huddled together as the lone survivors of the exploration party. Then comes rescue planes, a brass band and a happy ending with the wife discovering it's her husband she loves after all.

Battling Waitresses Fined $10, Face Jail

Dolores Rodgers, 24, and Mattie Dykins, 18, waitresses, will be added to the jail staff today if unable to pay $10 fines imposed in Morals Court. The girls, roommates at 707 Arch street, North Side, were arrested on complaint of their landlady, Mrs. Anna Cofal, when they started to fight in their room yesterday.

Hours They Begin

HOURS at which feature photoplays begin in first run houses are in accordance with the following time schedule:

PENN: "New York Nights" 10:34 a. m., 1:26, 4:17, 7:09 and 10:02 p. m.

STANLEY: "Seven Days Leave"—11:26 a. m., 2:04, 4:22, 5:42, 8:10, 10:20 p. m.

Braddock C. E. Sets Date for Banquet

The annual banquet of the Braddock Christian Endeavor Union has been set for Friday night. The speaker for the evening will be the Rev. W. A. Logan, of the Alpha Lutheran Church, of Turtle Creek. The Rev. W. McLain Witter, pastor counselor of the Christian Endeavor organization, will be toastmaster.

Stock and Orchestra Play Here Tonight

Frederick Stock and his orchestra of 100 players will give the fourth concert in the Pittsburgh Orchestra Association series in Syria Mosque tonight. The major work on the program is the Tschaikowsky Symphony No. 4. Others include Mendelssohn's overture, "Fingal's Cave;" Bach Arioso from the Passion According to St. Matthew; Dohnanyi suite for orchestra, and rhapsody "Espana," by Chabrier.

Clan Arranges Burns Concert

The annual Burns concert and dance will be held under the auspices of the Clan and Lady Douglas in the Masonic Temple, South avenue, Tuesday, January 28. An excellent program of Scotch songs has been arranged.

Veterans Invited To Cohan Matinee

George M. Cohan has invited the American Legion, wounded soldiers and the veterans of Foreign Wars to be his guests at the special Tuesday matinee, to witness his new play, "Sporting Blood." This play will be presented for the first time on any stage at that time. There also will be matinees Thursday and Friday.

Officers Installed By G.B.U. Ladies

At the regular meeting of the Ladies District No. 50, G. B. U., officers for the year were installed as follows: President, Mrs. E. Keller; vice president, Mrs. M. Klose; secretary, Mrs. E. Link; treasurer, Mrs. C. Cready; marshal, Mrs. F. Davison; sentinels, Mrs. A. Guskey and Mrs. S. Zell.

Broadway Stars pass merciless CLOSE-UP TEST

Like 9 out of 10 screen stars, they have long kept their skin at its best with Lux Toilet Soap . . .

BEATRICE LILLIE, delightful comedienne, is devoted to Lux Toilet Soap.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT (See Naples and Die) "Keeps my skin so smooth!"

WINNIE LIGHTNER says: "It cares for my skin so perfectly! I love it."

ANN PENNINGTON, adorable star, says: "I wouldn't be without this lovely white soap!"

RUTH CHATTERTON, much beloved star, says: "Lux Toilet Soap leaves one's skin so smooth!"

JOAN BENNETT says: "Lux Toilet Soap keeps my skin so smooth. It is certainly a joy!"

HELEN CHANDLER says: "I'm devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. It's delightful!"

NORMA LEE says: "It is so soothing and it leaves your skin just like velvet."

HELEN KANE says: "Lux Toilet Soap keeps my skin so very softly smooth and clear."

PEGGY WOOD (London production of Bitter Sweet) says: "I always use Lux Toilet Soap."

THE moment the talkies "arrived," many of the most famous stars of the Broadway stage were signed by the great motion picture studios. Then, under the glare from the huge incandescent close-up lights, they faced the cruelest test a skin can possibly meet.

Unless their skin showed alluringly smooth and fine on the screen, they could scarcely hope to "get across" in talking and singing pictures.

These Broadway stars passed the test, needless to say. Theirs was the flawlessly smooth skin demanded for the innumerable close-ups of sound pictures. And never were they more appreciative of the gentle care Lux Toilet Soap has given their skin.

For long ago the famous women of the theater made Lux Toilet Soap their own. Long ago it was made the official soap in 71 of the 74 legitimate theaters in New York alone—and in other leading theaters throughout the country.

Hollywood found out years ago that no girl ever becomes a motion picture star unless her skin shows perfect on the screen. That is why, of the 521 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 511 are devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. It keeps the skin lovely and smooth as a flower petal.

It was at the request of the actresses themselves that all the great film studios have made this white, delicately fragrant soap official in their dressing rooms.

You will be delighted with Lux Toilet Soap, too! You can keep your skin attractively clear and smooth just as the famous women of the stage and screen keep theirs—by using it. And it does lather so very generously, even in the hardest water! Order several cakes—today.

RIO' PICTURE CURRENT IN HARRIS

"Rio Rita," picturization of Flo Ziegfeld's stage success, this week is having its first downtown presentation in the Harris. Here is a picture which, as stated during its recent extended run in the East End, is a eye and ear full of screen entertainment. It is rich in song, comedy, scenic splendor and romance. Bebe Daniels and John Boles win laurels for their work in the leading roles. Miss Daniels proves she can sing as well as act. And the same can be said for Mr. Boles. The story concerns an American's romance with a Mexican senorita, and the action is laid along the Rio Grande.

"Southland," with Victor Graff in prominence, is the stage show. Ted Schlab and His Winners, Negro dancers, and Easton and Howe, dark-hued comedians and musicians, are active in the show. The Harris Co-Eds, an ensemble of eight dancing girls, also appear.

The bill includes a Johnny Mitchell organlogue.

'Siegfried' Listed Wednesday Night

"Siegfried," third feature of Richard Wagner's "Ring of the Nibelung," and the secor of the trilogy, will be presented on Wednesday night in Syria Mosque by the German Grand Opera Company. The cast includes Karl Jorn, Gotthold Ditter, Hans E Hey, Alexander Larsen, Bennett Challis, Juliette Lippe, Sonia Sharnova and Edna Zahm. Ernest Mehlich will conduct. The performance will begin at 8 o'clock sharp.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Lilyan Tashman Turns the Tables

WHEN a movie-ite walks into a store, he or she is immediately mistaken for a sucker—8 times out of 10. Lilyan Tashman did a lul' table turning, however. She ambled into this partik shop and espied an article she wanted. The price tag dangled from it—six bucks. Before the salesman approached her, a woman whispered: "That's Lilyan Tashman."

Lilyan Tashman

"Let me see that." Lilyan pointed to the aforementioned article. He took it down, acrcitly whisking off the tag.

"Beautiful, isn't it? And only nine dollars."

The Tashman gave him one of those "I-know-what-beer-is" looks and walked over to where he had flipped the tag.

"How much?" she drawled.

He cleared his throat. "Why, it's six dollars. I must have looked at the tag upside down!"

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

WHEN Bill Mossman, some years ago, took up his position handling press relations for Jones & Laughlin, he emphasized to his colleagues that he needed the co-operation of all the employes. If an accident happened in a mill, Mr. Mossman wanted to be notified immediately, no matter what the time or the nature of the accident. Everybody agreed.

It was a few days later that Mr. Mossman was disturbed in his sleep at 2 a. m. A foreman in one of the plants was calling.

"We've had an accident, Mr. Mossman," the foreman announced.

"A bad one?" Mossman asked.

"Well, a man's foot was crushed."

"Joe Popovitz."

"Does he have a family?"

"Sure. Wife and 11 kids."

"How was he hurt?"

"You say it's pretty serious?"

"Well, it is, Mr. Mossman. The pain was terrible."

"All right. Many thanks for calling. That's the kind of co-operation we need. Goodbye."

"Ho, wait a minute, Mr. Mossman," the foreman shouted. "Will it be all right to send Joe to the hospital now?"

THURSTON has come and gone and the season for pulling rabbits out of the sleeve has ended. During his stay we learned that his most critical customer is Mrs. Thurston. She sees the show oftener than anybody else, and her duties (she is listed on the payroll as fleverest Critic) are to detect flaws in the performance. She puts her husband and his assistants on the carpet if she finds that they are becoming so over-confident in their magic that it isn't magic at all. One of her favorite speeches is: "Howard, you didn't do so well with the queen of spades today."

"Why," the theater-owner asked in severe tones, "did you criticise that picture?"

"I agree with you," the owner surprised Cohen. "It's the worst picture I ever saw."

BY the merest slip of the tongue by a most reliable British authority I got this tip. Now, you know tips. If they go through you are a hero, and if not you are a bum. Ramsay MacDonald will propose not every form of sea armament.

A Russian did that at Geneva, but they had nothing to sink but their whiskers, but if MacDonald should propose a great thing like that it would be the most revolutionary yet, the greatest contribution made to world peace since little David, at the world's first disarmament conference sunk Goliath unassisted.

P. S.—Now remember this, MacDonald is going to do something big.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Happiness and love have remained steadfastly with Tom and Lovejoy Nicholson during their first year of married life. The arrival of Tom, Jr., brought more joy to the little green bungalow. Then comes Mrs. Aline Alderson, rich but childless neighbor, to sow the first seeds of discontent. When Tom refuses to go to the Aldersons' New Year's party, Lovejoy is incensed. Their first quarrel is patched up and they go to the party. Mrs. Alderson's husband is elderly. Lovejoy is glad she has Tom who has youth and looks if not money. When Tom makes a big sale of bonds to Alderson, Lovejoy plans on more freedom. Mrs. Alderson calls to use the phone. Lovejoy overhears the conversation. In town with Mrs. Alderson, Lovejoy is left alone in a theater.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XI.

AS Lovejoy stepped into the lobby of the theater Aline came hurrying into it from the street.

Her wet yellow hair was blown back against her hat in two little wings, and there were raindrops on her flushed face. A bunch of blue double violets was pinned upon her coat. . . . They had not been there when she left the theater two hours before.

Her man bought them for her, of course. Lovejoy said to herself as she went down the white marble lobby to meet her.

The thought filled her with disgust. . . . How beastly of a woman to be married to one man and to be carrying on a love affair with another. To Lovejoy such a thing was unthinkable at that time.

"I'm sorry I kept you waiting," Aline said to her, slipping one of her white-gloved hands through Lovejoy's arm. "But I just couldn't get back to you as soon as I promised to. . . . Please don't be cross about it."

She was like a pretty child, asking to be forgiven for some small bit of mischief.

"I'll drive home like the wind," she said as she held back the door of the theater for Lovejoy, "and I'll stop in at your home and explain to your hubby that it's all my fault that we're late."

It was hard to be angry with her. It was hard not to like her. She had soft sweet ways and a smile that asked people to be nice to her.

"Will you do something for me?" she asked Lovejoy suddenly when they were in the cozy warmth of her little car, speeding smoothly along Shaftsbury avenue toward home. "Will you do me a real favor?"

And almost without stopping to think, Lovejoy said, "Of course."

"Will you promise not to tell a living soul that I left you in the movie this afternoon?"

"Why, of course," Lovejoy answered once more. "Why should I say anything about it to any one?"

But she wasn't very happy about that promise after she had made it.

She and Tom had always told each other everything. It had been part of their life to tell each other every night all the things that had happened during the day. There had been no closed doors, no hidden chapters, in their lives.

"I was just afraid that you might mention it some time to my husband," Aline said, "and he's the most jealous man on earth, I do believe. He'd be sure to think that I'd gone out and met some man."

But she did not try to make up any excuse to explain her mysterious absence that afternoon to Lovejoy.

"Here is something that I got for you. It's nothing, but I thought you'd like it," she said to her when the car stopped before the house in Stallings Lane. "Good-night—I'll see you soon."

The wailing of the baby was the first sound that struck her ears, as she stepped into the living room.

She hurried through the house to his little room. Aunt Em was there, holding him in her arms and jiggling him up and down as she walked the floor with him.

"Oh, you mustn't do that!" Lovejoy cried, taking him from her as soon as she had slipped out of her wet coat. "It upsets his stomach . . . No wonder he's crying . . ."

"Where's Tom?"

"Gone to the drug store," snapped Aunt Em, angry because Lovejoy had told her not to toss the baby up and down. "That child has the colic just as sure as Fate, and Tom's gone to get some peppermint. Better stay home and take care of your child if you don't like the way I do it . . ."

Her voice died away as she went into the kitchen, closing the door smartly behind her.

Presently the sound and the smell of broiling beef-steak filled the little house.

Lovejoy turned out the light in the baby's room, laid his small warm body in the crib and tiptoed out of the room. The baby, who had gone to sleep in the dark without "jigging" or rocking, all his short life, had gone to sleep now.

"I'll come and help you in a minute, Aunt Em," Lovejoy called from her room. "I just want to change my dress."

But first of all she opened the little package that Aline Alderson had given her a few minutes before. It was a bottle of perfume . . . the expensive clove-carnation perfume that Aline, herself, used.

Lovejoy set it on her dresser. How cheap it made her imitation-ivory toilet articles look as it stood there in its opalescent-glass bottle with a blue enamel stopper and a Paris label!

She sighed as she slipped into her old cotton crepe housedress and went out into the kitchen.

"I'm going home right now," Aunt Em announced. "I'll take a look at that hat you brought me, and then I'll scoot. This is the first time in years that I've failed to have James Pomfret's supper on the table at half past six sharp. . . . Land's sakes! what were you doing downtown 'til this time of night? You must a-done a lot of shopping."

Chattering and complaining, she followed Lovejoy into the bedroom and tried on the new hat.

"It's not what I'd have picked out for myself, but I guess I can wear it," she said. "Who looks at an old woman, any way? With the flappers runnin' round these days with skirts above their knees and dresses made out of a yard of material it's a wonder to me that the men ain't all got eye-strain."

Ah, that was just it, thought Lovejoy. . . . No man bothered about a woman these days unless she was young and attractive. And how could you be attractive if you didn't have good clothes and the right shade of lipstick and high heels. The things that almost any $25-a-week stenographer could have.

If I just had $25 a week to

POLICE SEEK SUSPECTS IN THEFTS

Two Men Holdup Victims; Windows in 2 Downtown Stores Broken by Robbers

Search was being made by city detectives today for bandits and thieves who ran rampant in Pittsburih over the week-end, robbing two pedestrians and looting three business establishments, two homes and four automobiles.

Two Negroes held up Jacob Goldstein, of 149 Crawford street, while he was walking near his home yesterday and relieved him of $30 and a note for $2,000 which was made out in his name.

STORE WINDOWS LOOTED

Robert Hohmer, of 303 Balcam way, another victim, was attacked by four men at Seventh and Webster avenues, and robbed of $1.50 late Saturday night.

Cameras valued at $500 were stolen from a window of the Eastman Kodak Company, at 606 Wood street, by thieves who hurled a brick through it, police were informed.

Hurling a padded brick through the window of a store at 204 Fifth avenue this morning, thieves stole six pairs of field glasses valued at $90, according to a report at Central Police Station. Police were notified of the robbery by J. F. Flaisey, proprietor of the store.

Margaret Waldron, of 400 Penn avenue, reported the theft of two diamond rings valued at $1,160 from her room on the fourth floor. The rings were taken from a bureau drawer, according to detectives.

CLOTHING STOLEN

Robbers visited the Howard Cleaning Company, at 5704 Penn avenue, and carried away nine suits, it was reported. Police were unable to learn how the place had been entered.

Clothing valued at $200 was stolen by robbers who broke into four automobiles which were parked in the downtown district Saturday night. The cars broken into, according to detectives, were those of George Dibble, of Greensburg; O. E. Becker, of 1218 Kelton avenue, Dormont; D. C. Lewis, of 3053 Pioneer avenue, Dormont, and E. D. Miller, of Greensburg.

A search was being made today for two masked and armed robbers who early Sunday morning at the point of revolvers, made Joseph Olenik, of 2108 Forbes street, open the safe in his butcher shop. The pair entered and forced the butcher to the rear of his shop. One man took $100 from the cash register. They then stood over Olenik with pointed guns while he opened the safe. Another $100 was taken from the safe, Olenik told police.

Burglars ransacked the home of Mrs. D. E. Crawford at 22 Dunlap street during the night and stole a ring valued at $1,000, city detectives were notified today. Mrs. Crawford said the ring was made of platinum and contained 11 small diamonds.

BEATING FATAL, MAN HELD

Police today were holding Thomas F. Mollyneaux, 31, rear of 1324 James street, for questioning in connection with the death last night of John H. Ryan, 75, of 418 Tripoli street, they said.

Ryan, employed as a watchman by the city, died in the Allegheny General Hospital from a fractured skull. He was found lying in the street at Montgomery avenue and Sandusky street Friday morning by Patrolman Robert Groves.

At the time Ryan was found, Mollyneaux came into the North Side Police Station and reported that he had beaten up a man who tried to hold him up at Montgomery avenue and Sandusky street, according to police. Mollyneaux was said to have identified Ryan as the holdup man whose attack he had resisted.

At a hearing the same morning before Magistrate R. E. Schneider, Mollyneaux who had been arrested on a suspicious person charge, was ordered held for further investigation.

Ambridge Home Damaged by Fire

Fire said by firemen to have been caused by an overheated furnace, damaged the residence owned by Paul Perris at 108 Park avenue, Ambridge, yesterday.

VETERANS' POST INSTALLS

Steel Plates Fall, Workman Killed

Crushed when a pile of steel plates toppled on him while working in the Homestead mill of the Carnegie Steel Company Friday, Joseph Yurotivic, 50, of 530 Greenview avenue, died yesterday in West Penn Hospital. Internal injuries caused his death, the coroner's report said.

Writer to Aid Stocking of Streams

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 20.—Kenneth A. Reid, an authority on trout fishing and regular contributor to fish and game publications, has been made a director of the Connellsville local of the Fayette County Fish and Game Protective Association. He is probably more familiar with trout waters of Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia than any other young man in this county. He will assist in the restocking program of the local, which includes all pure streams in Fayette County.

ACCUSE DRIVER AS DRUNK

Charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor Clyde R. Menear, 37, of 502 Coursin street, McKeesport, was to be given a hearing tonight before Justice-of-the-Peace John Engle, of Mifflin Township. He was arrested by Chief Arthur Stevic and Patrolman J. J. Crawford, of the township police, and later released when he posted a $125 forfeit.

Menear's car and that of Virgil Johnson, of 441 Carnegie street, Clairton, collided, police said, in Eighth avenue, Whitaker, late Saturday.

Baby Dies of Scalds When Bucket Upsets

Scalded when a pail of boiling water upset on him while he was playing in the kitchen of his home Friday, Howard Miller, 2, of 321 West Eighth avenue, Homestead, died yesterday in Homestead Hospital, according to a coroner's report.

LANPHER RITES HELD TODAY

Members of Council and other city officials attended the funeral services this afternoon for Erwin E. Lanpher, managing engineer of the Bureau of Water, who died Saturday in his home, 1403 North St. Clair street.

The services were held in Moreland's funeral parlors, North Highland avenue and Rippey street, with the Rev. Dr. S. N. Hutchison, of the East Liberty Presbyterian Church, in charge. Interment will be in Atlantic City.

Mr. Lanpher had been in the employ of the city for 26 years, coming here in 1903 from Atlantic City.

He was looked upon as an authority on water works and had given advice on this subject to officials of many other cities.

He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Engineering Society of Western Pennsylvania, of the Civil Engineering section of which he recently was named chairman; the American Water-works Association; the Junta Club and Cornell Club; Sojourners Lodge No. 693, F. & A. M.; Bellefield Chapter No. 229, R. A. M., and the Tancred Commandery No. 48, Knights Templar.

Homestead Pair Held in Holdup

Charged with highway robbery Andrew Koval, 20, of 211 Ann street, and Michael Salusky, 19, of 428 Beech way, Homestead, were in the Allegheny County Jail today. They were held for court by Justice of the Peace J. Clyde Miller, of Homestead, Saturday night. Wasil Weitelko, 47, of 415 Fourth avenue, Homestead, testified the two men had held up and robbed him of $37.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: When a public utility, such as a taxicab company, ceases to function because of a strike or walkout should the Federal government assume control and operate the business?

Miss Browarsky

JULIA BROWARSKY, Oakdale, bookkeeper: "No. Let the government control its own affairs and stay out of other people's. If it does this and does it right everything will be o. k. Too much government is not the best thing, especially for business with all its details, which only the owners understand."

Minna Blumer

MINNA BLUMER, East End, secretary: "The government should act as arbitrator instead of operator or owner. If its efforts as arbitrator fail to solve the problem then the government should be permitted to render a decision on the question and this decision ought to be final. A strike shouldn't be permitted to go on indefinitely."

Mrs. Laughlin

MRS. NEVA C. LAUGHLIN, downtown, teacher: "Let the employer and employe settle their own problems. No government should step into control of any industry, whether it is a public utility or not. If the government should take control it would only let itself in for criticism. "Hands off" is the better policy."

S. Lindenberg

SIDNEY LINDENBERG, downtown, social worker: "Our Federal government would have no part in a local strike or walkout. In the first place the government is off from the situation and does not understand it. By the time a proper investigation could be made into after the thing it, er be settled or too involved to do anything with it."

Miss Waldholtz

ANNA WALDHOLTZ, downtown, stenographer: "Yes, the Federal government should. The people, who are the government, suffer because of strikes among the employes of any public utility. These employes should not be allowed to inconvenience others just because they hope to benefit by a strike or walkout. Likewise, the owners should forget their 'stay out' policy."

Lawrence Medoff

LAWRENCE MEDOFF, downtown, student: "I believe the city government, not the Federal, should take control in such a crisis. Of course, if the strike is nation-wide, which is unlikely, the Federal authorities would be the only possible alternative. Politics in government control of any industry is a disadvantage, but in time of strike some control should be exercised.

Auto Show Contest Prizes To Be Awarded Tonight

Prizes will be awarded the winners in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Auto Show Contest at the Auto Show tonight at Motor Square Garden. Out of the thousands of answers submitted, the winners have been chosen for their accuracy, neatness and cleverness. The names of the winners will be announced during the dinner hour broadcast from the Auto Show over WCAE and the cash prizes will be given the winners at 9 o'clock tonight at the Auto Show. Ticket winners:

Joseph White, the unmasked Silver Masked Tenor, will present the awards to the lucky contestants. Contestants should report to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph booth, just to the right of the main entrance as they go in, for further instructions.

The contest editor reports that a staff of 17 clerks and judges was necessary to check the thousands of answers that were submitted. The clerical staff worked constantly from Friday noon to noon today, working through Saturday afternoon and evening and all day yesterday.

The popularity of the contest is shown by the tremendous number of replies that were submitted. Nearly 1,000 special delivery letters were signed for by the contest editor. Many of the replies were evidently the handiwork of contestants with artistic ability. Some were masterpieces of stenographic art. All of these scored heavily on the neatness factor in helping to judge the winners.

Replies were received from all over the county—and some from surrounding counties. One hundred and forty one towns had their postmarks on contestants' letters. All-in-all, it was a very popular contest. A complete list of winners' names will appear in Tuesday's Sun-Telegraph.

Eddie Cantor Rises to Say:

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Jan. 20.

WHEN Secretary Stimson paid a surprise visit to Premier MacDonald my private spy reports the following conversation took place:

Stimson: "Hello big boy."

Mac: "Look who's here."

Stimson: "I've got something very important I'd like to ask you. (Taking out money.) I get all mixed up with this English money. Will you explain it to me?"

Mac: "Oh, you'll get on to it in no time—these jiggers are shillings, whic's is really equal to your two bits; six pence is worth about twelve and a half cents."

Stimson: "Good lord, and I've been giving them away as dimes. I know I was over-tipping."

Mac: "Well, you Americans are rich."

Stimson: "Oh, no; we are not. Why, in some places we have to close down the schools, we are that broke. But you certainly helped me out and I appreciate it. If I can give you a break at the conference—depend on me. See you Tuesday at the parley."

Mac: "Parley vous?"

Stimson: "Boy, that's a wow, nd they say the English have no sense of humor. So long, Mac, cheerio."

BRUCE BARTON SEES CAUSE FOR CHEER

Manufacturers Planning to Increase Sales Programs, Slump of Brief Duration

Present business depression will be of short duration, if national advertising orders can be accepted as a criterion, according to a statement made today by Bruce Barton, advertising expert, and issued through Bissell and Land, Pittsburgh advertising agency.

"Closing weeks of 1929 furnished a striking contrast to previous records," Mr. Barton said.

"Not only were orders for advertising not cancelled, but manufacturers who had planned an increase in their sales programs previous to the stock market decline decided in most instances to go ahead with programs as previously outlined.

"The result is that the spring issues of national magazines, now closing their forms, will carry more business in 1930 than the same issues carried in 1929," Barton believes.

A survey of leading businesses, made by Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, Inc., disclosed that most firms at the present time have small inventories and planty of cash. Conditions following the 1920 business depression—somevhat paralleling those of 1929—were caused due to the lack of cash but plenty of inventories, the survey showed, according to Barton's statement.

"The inventory is rapidly disappearing for people are continuing to eat, wear out their clothes and run . . . automobiles." Barton avers, and on account of this "factories which have been shut down will have to open again and the workers who have been laid off re-employed."

BAPTISTS MEET ON FRIDAY

The semi-annual meeting of the Northern Baptist congregations, which constitute the Church Association of Pittsburgh, will be held Friday in the Sandusky Street Baptist Church, North Side. It is expected that representatives of 75 congregations, comprising 19,000 members, will be present.

William G. Russell, promotional director for Pennsylvania, will present the denominational program. The conferences will give representatives of the church, as financial supporters of the program, a chance to discuss the projects. Northern Baptist churches this year are raising $5,100,000 as their united budget for missionary enterprises, $320,000 more than last year's total.

A projected series of community canvasses, whereby the whole weight of the denominational organization would be thrown behind local churches to assist them in raising their local expense budgets as well as their shares of the missionary budget, will be discussed.

More Dial Phone Centrals Cut In

Two new dial central offices, Churchill and Penhurst, were cut into service Saturday midnight. These two new central offices replaced the manually operated Franklin exchange. In the suburban section, three additional exchanges, Colonial, Herminie and Sycamore, have been added. In connection with the opening of these new offices, William Bradford, district manager, announced that nearly 17,000 subscribers' numbers have been changed. The majority of the changes have been made necessary by the inauguration of the dial method of operation.

DR. CHURCH HITS RAIL GROUPING

The plan of the Interstate Commerce Commission for regrouping railroads is criticized by Samuel Harden Church, president of Carnegie Institute, in an article appearing in the January issue of the "Carnegie" magazine. Dr. Church is former vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad. In his article he presents his own plan for grouping roads.

Dr. Church asks the commission "Why it had begun its mergers at New York instead of at Boston and why it stopped its mergers at Chicago instead of Los Angeles and San Francisco."

"In his plan, Dr. Church suggests the following:

"Give the New York Central the Boston & Albany railroad to New England, the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific to the Pacific coast and the Louisville & Nashville to the South. Give the Pennsylvania the New York & New Haven railroad to New England; the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe to the Pacific; the Lehigh Valley from Wilkes-Barre to New York, and the Norfolk & Western and the Atlantic Coast Line to the South. Give the Baltimore & Ohio, the Jersey Central to New York; the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, the Great Northern, and the Northern Pacific to the Pacific, and the Seaboard Airline to Florida. Give the Erie, the Chicago, Minneapolis & St. Paul from Chicago to the Pacific. And give the Wabash, the Chicago & Northwestern to the Pacific."

Tests Arranged to Select 1,200 Census Takers

Test sheets to determine the qualifications of applicants seeking to become enumerators in the 1930 decennial census of Allegheny County were being mailed from the Bureau of Census today. About 1,200 enumerators will be engaged for the work by Supervisors J. E. Routley, Dr. George Metzger and A. D. Levy, with the approval of the director of the census.

The census will begin April 2. Each enumerator will be equipped with a portfolio containing a supply of schedules, which consist of questionnaires to be asked relative to every inhabitant and every farm in the county.

The enumerators will be paid four cents per name for each individual, and 30 cents for each farm enumerated. The enumerator will not be held down to any regular or prescribed hours but he will be required to complete the enumeration within two weeks in cities and within a month in the farming areas.

Supervisors Routley, Metzgar and Levy are anxious to secure an accurate census of Allegheny County to insure that Pittsburgh and Allegheny County obtain their proper places in the census ratings of the United States. Applicants should file, by mail, a written application with Supervisor James E. Routley, 101 Court House, Pittsburgh; Supervisor George Metzgar, 1018 Chestnut street, Pittsburgh, or A. D. Levy, Island avenue, McKees Rocks.

Weather Conditions.

High barometric pressure stretches across the country from the Middle Atlantic coast to British Columbia, with a slight depression over the centre, valleys, while the principal lows are centered over Utah and in Canada, north of the lakes. This distribution of pressure is causing cloudy weather over much the greater portion of the country, with light snowfall from Indiana westward over the central plains to the Pacific Coast states and rain over Texas. The precipitation was light. There was a moderate rise in temperature east of the Mississippi River, while westward over the Plains states and the Rocky Mountain states the temperature changes were toward colder. The indications are that cold weather will continue over this section for several days.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling. Stage at Franklin is 4.9 feet; Lock No. 2, 10.3; Pittsburgh, 12.8; Dam No. 4, 9.0; Dam No. 5, 10.4; Dam No. 9, 11.5, and Dam No. 12, 10.2. The dams are down. Ice is forming in the entire district. The Allegheny is running half full of slush. Ice is far up at Warren. Many of the tributaries of the Allegheny and the Monongahela are frozen over.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENIN

Pittsburghers Leaving On Southern Cruises And Sojourns

ALTHOUGH theoretically folks are supposed to go south in January to escape the chilly blasts of stormy old man winter, I wager lots of folks are glad they've postponed their "flittings" for several weeks so they can enjoy these Jack Frost snowy days.

Of course there are a number of folks going away, but they'll carry with them the memory of another perfect interlude in northern winter.

Mrs. Howard C. McCrady, of Spring Cliff Farm, will leave day after tomorrow for Daytona Beach and Miami, where she'll stay until spring comes again.

And day after tomorrow Mrs. John Joy Edson, Jr., and her daughter, Jane, will sail from New York for a cruise among the West Indies. And they'll visit Florida on their way home.

A few folks are returning. The James S. Crutchfields, who have been in Los Angeles, are expected home Wednesday evening.

The Charles A. Fishers, of Westminster place, have left for Florida, and will spend much time in St. Petersburg and Augusta, Ga. And they'll not return home until mid-April.

Tomorrow did you know that Dr. Percival J. Eaton and Dr. and Mrs. Eding W. Day, of Provincetown, Cape Cod, and Pittsburgh, will sail on the Columbus for a world cruise?

In the South for three months are the G. Webber Barnses and their daughter, Priscilla, of Howe street. And they'll divide their time between St. Petersburg, Havana and Palm Beach.

Leaving the first of next month for Florida and Daytona Beach, in particular, are Mrs. Charles Wharton, Jr., and Mrs. George Irwin Holdship.

AND have you heard that on Saturday the J. Madison Steners, of Sewickley, will sail on a Mediterranean cruise?

And that Mrs. Daniel E. Nevin, of Sewickley, will go to California for their winter? By the way, Miss Martha Porter and Miss Henrietta McGeary entertained in Mrs. Nevin's honor Friday evening in Miss Porter's home.

Others going to California are the Thomas A. Standishes and their daughter, Mary Anderson Standish, of Meadow lane, Edgeworth, accompanied by Mrs. William H. Henry, who will spend several months in Pasadena.

This week the William F. McKelveys and Mrs. William M. McKelvey will leave for California. And they will go by way of Panama Canal.

MISS MARGARET PATTERSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Patterson, of Grafton avenue, has named February 15 as the date for her marriage to Neil C. Reed, of Syracuse, N. Y. The ceremony will take place at 8 o'clock in the evening in St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church.

On Wednesday Mrs. H. P. Johnston, of Heberton avenue, will give a bridge-luncheon for her.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE EHRENFELD, of Kennedy avenue, North Side, left this week for California, and will return early in May.

WILL TEACH SEX IN SCHOOLS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Sex education will be available to Washington school children soon after the opening of the new term on February 1, it has been learned.

Plans for putting the instruction into effect have been worked out by a committee of teachers and officials. These plans will be finally passed upon at conferences of the various principals with officials of the board of education.

The committee which investigated the advisability of adopting a sex curriculum reported:

"The objectives for children under junior high school age are to teach graded knowledge of the facts of human behavior, growth, development, health, reproduction, sex, parenthood, family life, care and culture of young children; to teach the scientific method in reaching conclusions in relation to life itself; to bring current speculations and revelations of the street to the touchstone of the authentic plant, animal and human nature studies; to teach conservation and development of powers and abilities; to teach self-control and co-operation in family life; to instill an attitude of openness, unselfconsciousness and normal interest, rather than morbid curiosity about sex, and to teach respect and consideration of the other sex, among other things."

VALOR MEDAL TO ARMY FLIER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Stepping into flames to save the life of a comrade while wearing clothes saturated with gasoline has won for Lieut. William A. Matheny, of the Army Air Corps, the Cheney award, which is given annually to the flying officer performing the outstanding humanitarian act of valor and self-sacrifice.

Matheny, whose home is in Carrington, N. D., was the unanimous choice for 1929 of the awarding board. The prize carries with it $500 as well as an engraved bronze plaque.

With Lieut. Dwight Canfield and a sergeant, Matheny was ferrying a bombing plane to the Canal Zone which crashed.

The award was established in memory of Lieut. William H. Cheney, who was killed in an air collision at Foggia, Italy, in 1918.

Sets Hair Quickly!

Makes Finger Waving Easy

TO set your hair, or put in a finger wave, just use a little Glostora.

Put it on with your fingers, or run some water in your wash basin, add a few drops of Glostora and comb it on.

You can then press the waves in easily and they will set quickly and stay.

Waving your hair in this truly professional way, does not leave it stiff, sticky, or artificial looking, as ordinary waving fluids do.

Glostora simply makes your hair more beautiful by enhancing its natural wave and color. It keeps the wave and curl in, and leaves your hair so soft and pliable, and so easy to manage, that it will . . . stay any style you arrange it . . . even after shampooing—whether long or bobbed.

A few drops of Glostora brushed through your hair when you dress it imparts that bright, brilliant, silky sheen, so much admired, and makes your hair fairly sparkle and glow with natural gloss and lustre.

Try it!—You will be surprised at the result.

TO STUDY Far Eastern questions as they develop and to communicate them to the American public has been the mission of Dr. Toyokichi Iyenaga for the last 12 years, and will be part of his address before the Friday Morning Club of the Allegheny County League of Women Voters in Carnegie Music Hall this week. Toyokichi Iyenaga was born in Yanagawa on the Island of Kiushiu, Japan, in 1862. At home he received the primary education. In 1884 he came to America and entered Oberlin College, graduating from it with the degree of Ph. B. He pursued a post-graduate course in history and political science at Johns Hopkins University, which brought him the degree of Ph. D. in 1890. On returning home Dr. Iyenaga was appointed professor of political science in Waseda University, and professor of English in the Higher Commercial College, Tokio. In 1896 Dr. Iyenaga became a secretary for the Department of Foreign Affairs. Two years later he was sent as commissioner of the Formosan Government to Persia, Turkey, India and China to study the opium question, which was pressing upon the New Colonial Government. In 1900 Dr. Iyenaga came to America for a second visit and was called by the University of Chicago to join the faculty. He was connected with the University Extension Division, first as an instructor, next as associate professorial lecturer, and finally professorial lecturer in political science, for a period of 12 years. The university still honors him with the same position of professor. Since the discontinuance by the university of its extension division, Dr. Iyenaga has been in New York, where he is managing director of the East and West News Bureau.

Mrs. R. P. Keenoy is hostess to the Tenth and Eleventh Ward's League of Women Voters this afternoon at her home in Jancey street. Mrs. A. H. Bowman, state chairman of the international cooperation to prevent war committee, and Miss Naomi Larkin, of the Better Magazine Council, are speakers.

One of the delegates who attended the Cause and Cure of War conference will address the Seventh Ward League tomorrow afternoon in the home of Mrs. Thomas P. Trimble, Fifth avenue.

Mrs. Elizabeth Motz will address the Forest Hills League on Wednesday evening in Mrs. Charles A. Styers' home, Roxbury road.

The regular monthly conference meeting of the Allegheny County League will be held in the Congress Club on Thursday. The various committees will meet promptly at 10:30 a. m. and be in session until 12.

At 12 o'clock luncheon will be served, with Maj. Phillip Matthews, director of the bureau of municipal research, speaking on "Efficiency in City Government," and Daniel Winters, city controller, on "Duties and Opportunities of Controller's Office."

A SAUER kraut supper will be served by members of Pt. Pitt Chapter No. 30, O. E. S., tomorrow evening in Moose Temple. Mrs. Grace N. Page, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. E. Stolite, Mrs. M. Mullett, Mrs. E. Wheeler and Mrs. Leah Farnsworth. Following dinner a program will be given in honor of life members. Miss Flora E. Zink is chairman, and assisting are Mrs. Helen MacDonald, Mrs. M. Kidner, Miss Dorothy Bromler and Miss Sarah McLaren.

A SAUERKRAUT supper will be topic at Wednesday's meeting of the Braddock Woman's Club in the National Bank Building.

THE NEWEST CREATION IN SEQUINED FROCK

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The sequin sheds its sparkle to the scene. Lately quite a number of sequined dresses have been noted here, which causes some speculation as to the chances of a revival of the beaded frock. Just now both the sequined and the beaded frock are more individual whims than established fashions, which, perhaps, is just as well. For there are some fashions and designs that are able to stand the strain of popularity, but the mode is not at its best when it glitters. A sparkle is better than a glare, so far as the majority of women is concerned, and so a fabric dress with gleaming jewelry is infinitely more lustrous than an all-beaded surface or a dress that makes its wearer look somewhat akin to a mermaid by virtue of its scaly glitter.

The sequinned dresses seen this season are ever so cleverly handled. Tiered skirts, godets of tulle strategically placed, break the gleaming surface and add warmth and animation to the frock, making it radiant rather than overwhelmingly bright.

THE sequinned frock at its best is typified in the very delightful dress worn by Princess Illynska, the former Audrey Emery of New York. She wore it at a gala dinner-dance at Ciro's on which occasion we were privileged to sketch it. The double tiers of the skirt are bordered with black tulle. The bodice with its rounding decolletage front and back is bloused slightly just above the hips and not quite at the natural waistline. This silhouette is admirably suited to the sequined frock. With this dress Princess Illynska wears a two-thirds length coat of black velvet with a large collar of black fox.

THERE is much charm in the little sport suit especially when it is worn by a bright, slim young creature. In the country it is delightful and when worn in town it brings a tang of fresh air and a reminder of carefree play hours with it. At any rate it had this effect at the Ritz last week, when worn by a charming young woman lunching there.

* * *

THE suit is of dark green heavy wool jersey with an almost invisible raised cross-bar design. The jaunty little coat and the skirt have circular godets set on top of the material which is not cut away beneath. The blouse is of deep ivory satin. With the suit was worn an Agnes cap of handknit wool in matching green trimmed with a green and white angora knit flower at the side.

Graceful Afternoon Frock

Pattern 1827

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS.

The mode is smartly interpreted in this frock of silk crepe, with the low skirt flare and the bodice shirrings, front and back. An exquisite touch is added with collar and cuffs of lace. The frock is softly molded to the figure is most becoming fashion.

Design 1827 is equally lovely if made of georgette, crepe satin or crepe de Chine. Seasonal colors are brick-red, old-gold, sunburn, aquamarine, rose, beige and the violet shades. Cream or ecru lace should be selected.

May be obtained only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4½ yards of 40-inch fabric and ½ yard lace.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has ample and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE WANTED.

The NEW WINTER FASHION BOOK is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West 17th street, New York City.

Somebody ought to tell her

FOR every woman there is a sermon in the case of this lovely Pittsburgh girl (name withheld). Outdoors others find her so charming, so gay. But in the drawing room they politely avoid her. She can't understand it. The truth is that her trouble, which goes unnoticed in the open air, becomes instantly apparent—and offensive indoors. Somebody ought to tell her. It would be a kindness. But nobody has the courage to do so. Even an intimate friend would hesitate to discuss a matter like this.

It's folly to assume that you never have halitosis, the unforgivable social fault. One person of every three is either the occasional or constant offender, surveys show.

Kills Germs—Destroys Odors

Since you, yourself, cannot tell when you have halitosis, the wise precaution is to gargle with full strength Listerine. Every morning. Every night. And between times before meeting others.

Undiluted Listerine strikes at the cause of odors because it's an active—though safe—germicide. Even the stubborn Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) germ is killed by it in 15 seconds. Furthermore, being a powerful deodorant it immediately destroys all odors arising in the mouth. Leaves your breath sweet and normal.

Be at your best

Keep Listerine handy in home and office and use it often.

...We were just crowding about ...Spot Dooley's cry of "Come ...get it," when some stones ...led above us and Spuggy ...ggins joined us. Two of the ...d knew him at once.

"Hey, Spuggy, what you got?" someone called. By this I knew that he was one of them.

"No eats, but a box of smokes," he called out greeting a couple by their nicknames.

Ain't Reg'lar

"Fire or jimmy?" asked someone.

Spuggy presented the box. Someone smelled of it. There was none of the peculiar odor that comes from a building that had burned and had water poured on it. Spuggy had forced some place or lifted the cigars from some shop when unseen. They were good cigars.

He helped himself to the food and I heard him whisper to Spot Dooley, "Hey, that guy ain't reg'lar."

He meant me.

"Aw, sure he is—dey's a lot of eddicated ginks what gits fed up on it an' hits th' road—I seen him nearly a year ago—he sings big woids but he's regular as hell—he swiped all that bread." Spot explained in a whisper that could have been heard a block away.

"Yea? Then it's Oke with me," and then I saw that Spuggy Higgins was one of those natural leaders. He seemed to take it for granted that he would give orders.

We had a swim in the creek before sundown.

"About four nice hens would go pretty swell before we grabbed th' mornin' freight," Spuggy said.

He promptly selected two of the boys to provide them.

"A mile down the creek," I said, "are a couple of farms—you'll find ducks on the bank after dark, heads under wings. I got some a couple months ago —a feast fit for the gods."

"You guys lissen to dis wordy guy—go get them ducks," ordered Spuggy.

We lay back under the protection of some bid cedars and smoked, Spuggy and myself.

"How come you took th' trouble to git all that book stuff in your bean, Webster?" Spuggy asked.

"It's just an ordinary education—"

"I mean, why do that an' then be a hobo? You wasted a lot of time."

"Got fed up—hated work," I answered.

"Some jane?" He eyed me sharply.

"Well, that had somethin' to do with it," I said. Of course it hadn't. I had not, at that time, seen any girl who appealed to me, but I knew it would interest him and my game was to get his reactions, his reasons and philosophy for this sort of life.

Spuggy sat up an dextended hand.

"Jane, eh?" he said as we ... hands.

"...o, too?" I asked.

"...w—not that way."

"I mean," I ...d to say,

"there was no particular crime on your part that led you to become a plain hobo."

"Why yes, there was a crime —I sure done my best pal dirt and then I hit out."

"Couldn't face him, eh?"

"Face him? Say, every time I think the way he looked at me th' last time I seen him I get cold chills."

"But you said you didn't mur —croak anyone?"

"Naw—not that. This pal of mine, a reglar buddy he was, back in them days, tried to double-cross me."

"And you got wise and prevented it?"

"Uh-huh, sure—no, wait a minute—I didn't prevent it—he —say, I gotter tell this just like it happened—it's tough thing to explain without a lot of gab."

"Shoot, Spuggy, you have me intrigued. I am all ears."

"You are all big woids that don't mean nothin', Webster, but listen. This pal of mine was Mike Conley. We both worked for th' telephone company—we was trouble-shooters—"

"Trouble-shooters?"

"Yeah, trouble shooters—if somethin' went wrong we done th' sleuthin' until we located what was busted or what was short circuited. Sometimes we worked together and then again we didn't. We used to blow our pay together, dance halls an' a lotta dumps where a guy can get plenty of fun for his coin. That was before I got a knock-down to Katie Dugan—"

"Ah, ha, as the savants have it, cherchez la femme—"

"Lissen, I don't know what you said, but if that word 'fem' meant anything like a slam to Katie—"

"No, no, Spuggy, it means to search for the woman—it means that a woman is at the bottom of everything."

A Darb

"Yeah? Well, the guy who said that said a mouthful, Katie Dugan had me wingin', what I mean. One look outer her black eyes and I was sunk—one smile from her peachy mug and I was woosy. She was a beaut, a pip, a darb."

He paused to take a drag at his cigar.

"I surmise that Katie was beautiful," I said.

"You don't hafter surmise—she was beautiful. Man, I fell for her like—like—"

"Anthony fell for Cleopatra?"

"I never met 'em—they couldn't a lived in my ward. But you get what I mean. Of course Mike give me th' razzberry—th' hoss laugh. He done it once when I was out with her and I socked him so hard he didn't show up to work for three days, but he bawled me out for wastin' my time on janes—an' he admitted he had no right to give me no razzberries when I was with my lady friend."

"Your pal, Michael—the cause of your crime—did not fall for the ladies, I take it?"

"He fell for no janes that was lookin' for weddin' rings an' he knew well as I knew that Katie was th' weddin' ring sort of goil. He called me nine kinds of a fool 'or plannin' to marry her."

"Ah, then you were engaged to her?"

"Sure we had an understandin'—I give her a diamond ring, real sparkler, ten bucks down and three a week it cost me for a year—and I paid it like a sap —I paid it—but wait—I ain't come to that yet. They finally sent me down to a boom town in Tennessee. They said it would only be a few months—they had to install double th' service and needed me for trouble shootin'. Gosh, it was hard to leave Katie, but we planned to be married soon as I got back."

Women Like That

Spuggy stared moodily into the slate-colored water of the half-dried up creek.

"What next?" I asked.

"I hadda stay down there most a year. Before I got through Katie sends me back th' sparkler!"

"Women are like that," I said, softly.

"What do you think?" Spuggy asked.

"She couldn't wait?"

"If she'd found some better guy, with money an' good looks an' all that—but what do you think? That dirty double-crossin' pal of mine, Mike Conley, up an' marries her!"

"Tough—not much of a pal," I agreed.

"I was goin' back an' croak him—see? But I had to stay on th' job. I'd paid most all on th' sparkler so I hocked it and settled on that and saved th' coin for a nice trip back home so's I could croak Mike Conley. Well, sir, I got a chance to go still further west, so I grabbed it. I could go back any time and croak Mike.

"That job lasted a year. Then they sends me away up into Michigan on a job. That took almost two years before we got a trouble-shooter broke in and I was anted some other place."

"And by that time I suppose your hatred had cooled off?"

"It did not! I kept a picture of Katie with me. Every time I took a squint at her pretty mug I'd get sore all over. Here was me old pal Mike with Katie, and me lonesome an' workin' like hell. I was sure sore.

"Well, it was like this—it lacked only a couple months of five years that I'd been away when I had plenty jack saved and I got a chance to take a vacation. It was goin' to be a long vacation for me. I was gonna book passage on a tub to South America, go an' croak that double-crossin' Mike Conley, slip aboard th' boat and try my luck in another country. I had it all planned. I even got Black Guardenez, a friend, to learn me a lot of Spanish.

"So I comes on home and secretly seen some of th' boys I knew. They said sure Mike Conley was still with th' company. I got his address. I decided to go call on him an' Katie and size up th' woiks so I could pretend to be friendly and later get a chanct to croak the double-crossin' bum. Did I doll? Lissen, I had as swell a rig as any guy ever wore—I looked like a million dollars.

"Mike knew me in a minute but I sure didn't know him. He lived in a four-flight walk-up that smelled of cabbage an' onions an' garlic. He needed a shave, he was thin, and in his undershirt. He took me in and shook hands and said he was sorry he didn't have no hooch but th' wife wouldn't let him touch it. He said Katie would be out in a minnit. I hoped I'd keep a stiff upper lip, for I knew how sweet she was.

Spuggy tossed away the stub of cigar and sat up.

"Kitty come out—she had a squallin' kid in her arms and two dirty brats was hangin' to her greasy skirt. My Gawd, m... Kitty's face was red and sh... and she would weigh two hundred—she not more'n five foot—can you get it? She got red and fussed when she seen me. I felt sorry for Mike and suggested we go out and play some pool, I was goin' to buy him some hooch so's he could forget his trouble for a while, but Katie says, with a voice like sandpaper, 'You don't step a foot out, Mike—lissen to me,' an' Mike says, meek as a rabbit, 'Yes, Katie. An' Katie says, 'Why th' devil can't you keep yourself lookin' handsome like Joe here does?' An' Mike says, 'You ain't no prize beauty'—say, I had to part 'em. Well, I beat it. Croak Mike? If I had it would a been a favor—so that's th' crime I done. Janes for me? Jobs for me? Nix—I took to bein' a tramp an' I'm out of danger of skirts—but it w... one big crime against poor Mike to leave him in that awful jam!"

"TAKING A CHANCE"

DRAWN BY Nell Brinkley

THERE'S a glittering ring that exerts a powerful come-hither, hypnotizes the bright eyes that come inside the radius of its ultra-rainbow rays, draws them nearer and nearer until at last they take a chance and "jump through." What kind of a "lie" is on the other side neither the chap in black nor the lady in white knows; but it's the shine and the shimmer you see that calls with a more seductive voice than even that of the famous "ninth wave" that leads a man away into the Siren Sea.

Maybe there are diamonds sown all around the rim, and maybe it is a humble and retiring gold band, not even white-gold. Maybe it has orange blossoms marching a blossomy way around it to lend it richness and glitter. But that doesn't seem to make any difference to the bright eyes that stop and speculate on the magic world beckoning and to be seen through the circle. Gloriette flies to it just as quickly when it's plain as when it's splendid. And seen upon a proud little third finger, they, each and every one, shine with exactly the same glory and as thoroughly blind the eyes bent upon it.

Besides that, a bachelor maid or man who finds himself and herself jumping through is all tied up in roses, dragged there by cupids, and with head lost in a rosy cloud.

"Take a chance!" intones Love. "Even the wise ones in the background, who will not approach the danger zone, wish they had when they get old and LONELY."

—NELL BRINKLEY.

LOVEJOY :: By BEATRICE BURTON

spend on clothes, she said to herself. And then, with sudden recklessness, she turned toward a dresser, uncorked the opalescent glass bottle and rubbed Aline's perfume behind her ears, under her chin and into the palms of her hands.

"Steak's burning," cried Aunt Em, putting on her galoshes. "Wonder to me I could smell it with that stink in the room.... Where did you get that perfume?"

She eyed the beautiful bottle with great disfavor as Lovejoy dashed past her on her way to the kitchen.

The steak had caught on fire, and the kitchen was filling with smoke. The potatoes had boiled too long, and Lovejoy knew that they would be watery. . . . She burned her finger taking them off the stove.

There was no lettuce for the salad. She had forgotten to order it that morning in her hurry to get away with Aline.

Everything's gone wrong just because I haven't stayed at home and slaved all day long, she said to herself with bitterness that was new to her. What a life! Never a day to myself.

She was crying softly to herself when Tom came into the kitchen with the peppermint for the baby.

"Don't do that," he said to her, putting his arms around her and holding her close to his wet overcoat. "I'll run Aunt Em home and I'll be back in no time. . . . What's wrong, anyway?"

"Nothing—nothing. I'm just tired." Lo... y told him, and he went away.

But everything was wrong. The whole flavor of life was changing for Lovejoy. It seemed very flat and stale after the taste of fun and luxury that she had that afternoon. . . . The trip downtown in Aline's luxurious car. The music and the lights and the wonderful hotel. . . . The French shop where Aline had bought her hat. . . . The gardenias and the perfume. Even the box of expensive sweets in the theater.

Why should Aline have things like that when I have nothing? she asked herself, cutting the burned fat from the steak. She doesn't deserve them. She's not even a good woman.

The last blow, she told herself, fell that night when Tom remarked that he had bought some good oil stock with most of his commission from the Alderson bonds.

"Something toward the house I want to buy for us some day," he said. "There's a little left over. I'll give it to you for some clothes. It's not much. Only thirty-five dollars."

"You promise all of it to me —to spend," she cried. "And then you put it into oil stock. Of all the rotten tricks. . . ."

She wouldn't listen to his explanation of his apologies, and she sobbed herself to sleep.

The next morning she overslept. She was wakened at 8 o'clock by the ringing of the telephone bell and Tom's voice answering it.

"Hello—hello—hello—who is it?" she heard him ask.

Then there was a long silence. After that she heard him hang up the receiver with a bang.

We Women

AFTER a few years of married life, a man won't even commit himself so far as to predict tomorrow's weather, for fear his wife will hold him to it.

To most men the sign, "Keep Out," whether it's on a door or a woman's heart, is merely a challenge.

One reason why the average man dislikes divorce is because he hates to feel that all his efforts to make his wife over into a "reasonable woman" may be wasted on some other fellow.

Even the most doting mother somehow manages to suppress her tears and meet the "sacrifice" bravely when she marries her daughter off.

Apparently, the scientists have discovered everything, except some way to camouflage spinach so that it will look like a temptation instead of like a punishment.

When a man starts to "skid" it is fatal to put on the brakes too suddenly, better just hold tight to the domestic wheel and "stay with it" until he regains his moral equilibrium.

Many a woman who has set out to win a man's heart has had to be satisfied with a temporary parking place in a corner of his vanity.

Every man still secretly believes that a woman should regard marriage as a matter of blind luck; a husband as a heaven-sent blessing and spinsterhood as her own fault.

Man will always feel a little superior to women, until she learns how to fold a newspaper, after reading it, without wrecking it.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Mary Fires First Shot in Campaign to Split Engagement

THE old saying about "coaxing the birds off the bushes" is perfectly applicable to Mary. I have thought this many times about my husband's wilful and lovely young niece, but never did I quite so realize its truth as when she begged me not to interfere with the scene she meant to stage with Prince Georges. She was so engaging in her pretty audacity that I forgot my qualms and gave her the assurance for which she had asked.

"No," I told her, smiling. "I don't feel that the world will come to an end if I fail to 'flag you.' And I'll be strictly neutral as long as possible."

"Don't you dare!" she said, flashing over and hugging me warmly. "You root for me. Allah knows I'll need all the encouragement I can get, for what Olina will do with me when I'm finished I hate to think. Ta ta, dearest; I'm going to jump back and do the adoring fiancee for a change. I owe Olina and Noel a bad five minutes or so, and it won't do Georges any harm—sort of fortify him for the dose he's going to get later. But don't forget to remove Uncle Dicky and Mrs. Underwood from the offing as soon as you can manage it."

She was out of the door with it closed behind her before I had recovered my breath from the last tempestuous hug she gave me. With a wry little smile I conjectured that the embrace was not all impulse, but held calculation as well. She wanted to stifle all protests until she was well out of hearing.

I waited for a few minutes before following her, asking of myself that most futile of queries. Had I done the right thing? Harry Underwood, whose word in this present crisis was law for all of us, had said that if Mary showed signs of "cracking" under the strain I was to tell her that Noel's masterful devotion to Princess Olina was only a cleverly played stage rôle. Had I interpreted his direction too literally? Had the nervous collapse I had feared for her been a figment of my imagination, aided by her explosion of wrath against Princess Olina? Would it have been better if for a little longer I had left her with the fear that Noel, in her own slangy parlance, was "falling hard" for Olina?

With a little shake I brought myself back to common sense. Whatever the result, I could not change it by mulling over it. Then, too, I comforted myself that the developments of the last 24 hours had brought the affair of Prince Georges nearer to a crisis than it had been at any time since our coming to the hotel. The desperation of the criminals seeking his life was, we knew, spurred by the probably mortal illness of the old King of Trees. For the sake of the future memories of our "international romantic quartet!" I wanted the break between Georges and Mary to come before the young Prince should become king, for I was afraid that, with the added realization of his exalted station, he would betray a reluctance to fulfill his engagements. I did not share Harry Underwood's opinion that Mary could hold him indefinitely if she wished, and I wished the girl to feel that she and not her royal wooer was responsible for any rupture of their relations. Her determination to stage another shock to him was probably the best thing that could happen.

Unobtrusively I [illegible] Lillian from the living room of her apartment, and as quickly as possible told her of Mary's brainstorm and its result.

"I [illegible] she was [illegible] for a child—O," she [illegible] "She's been on [illegible] watching Noel and Olina. [illegible] when she came back a few minutes ago with a smile that any Cheshire cat would have turned green to see. I knew you must have given her the low-down on Noel. She's been doing the 'heavy devoted' to Georges so beautifully that he's dazzled, Noel raging inside and Olina positively green. And now you're telling me I've got to miss the third act! All right, milady, I'll vamoose and I'll take the Dicky Bird with me so artistically that he won't suspect anything's up. But if you don't keep a diary and broadcast immediately the act's over, look out for yourself, that's all, look out!"

"I'll tell you all," I intoned, laughing.

"See that you do," she retorted, and then we went back into the Underwood living room, from whence a few minutes later Lillian departed with Dicky in her wake, patently believing that his old friend needed his advice upon a new advertising order she was executing.

Acting upon Mary's instructions, I moved my chair closer to the wall and bent over my work upon the table with such apparent assiduity that I think every one except Mary forgot that I was in the room at all. She had maneuvered the arrangement of the groups so that she and Georges were closest to me, while Noel and Olina were at the farther end of the room. For several minutes their voices were subdued, murmuring, tender, and I could get no hint of what they were saying. Then Mary's suddenly shrilled into exclamation.

"Why, Georgie, are you crazy? You sound as if you expected me to live the year round in Trees!"

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, January 21

WHILE this day promises to be lively and exciting, yet it may be difficult to keep affairs in hand and avoid the sidereal menaces.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year calling for good judgment and alertness against duplicity, trickery and fraud in both personal and business relations. Sign all papers with caution and keep firm watch over all private affairs, lest intrigue and subtlety prove undermining factors against harmony and progress. Safeguard the employment also.

A child born on this day should be given an early education in the value of integrity, honor and the virtue of self-guarded speech and writings.

Teach your child to wash his hands frequently, to keep the face and the mouth clean. The inside of the nostrils should be gently washed out every morning and night, for the moist nostrils easily catch the germs from the air or soiled hands. Teach your child to keep his hands away from his mouth and nose.

Scarlet fever and diphtheria have been in the past the most dreaded of all the contagious diseases. Thanks to modern science there have been found preventives for these terrible ailments.

Modern science too, has given us methods of finding out the susceptibility of a child to these diseases. A test is made, and if the child is found to be likely to take the disease, then by an inoculation there is prospect of prevention. In this way, as well as by the intelligent teaching of the child in right habits of cleanliness and living, the dangers of these dread diseases are greatly reduced.

Only by the greatest precaution, and by intelligent education, can the public help in blotting out these diseases of infection and contagion. Protect your [illegible] and the children of friends and neighbors so they may have better [illegible] now and for the generations to come. Your doctor and science have put their best efforts into the prevention and cure of disease, but it is only with co-operation of every man, woman and child that these dreaded diseases can be stamped [illegible].

Correct Manners

Information to Be Volunteered

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it proper to ask personal friends where they get their clothes and how much they paid for them?

I hope you will answer as soon as possible, as it will break what I think is a bad habit.

EVELYN.

NO, this is always the worst kind of form. Such information can only be volunteered—it can never be asked for, no matter how much one wishes to know. And we are never given this right to ask—no matter how close the friend. Anything that savors of misapplied and unpleasant curiosity or inquisitiveness—and such questions certainly do—is never in good taste. We should respect the right of our friends to tell us only what they wish to tell us. Only a "Prying Polly" asks personal questions of this kind. And from the rest of your letter I judge that you thoroughly agree with me. Isn't that true?

Hospitality of the Host

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When one gentleman is the guest of another at a public eating place, does the host tip for both, or does each one tip separately? A. L.

THE hospitality of the host includes the fee also, and so he gives the tip for both.

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

LANDIS NOT EXCEEDING AUTHORITY

WHILE many baseball fans will throw their moral support on the side of Art Shires and diamond athletes in general, and will question the fairness or justice of the drastic ruling by Commissioner K. M. Landis which amounts to the permanent expulsion from organized ball of any person connected with that sport who engages in professional boxing, the great majority will agree that Landis has acted not only for the best interests of baseball but for those of the fistic game as well.

K. M. Landis

No one would wish to see any baseball player denied the right to pick up all the extra money possible during the off season by following any side line for which he might be fitted. Any such bar would be unfair and unjust and against the principles of a free country. But Shires was not qualified to go barnstorming as a ring performer or to engage in boxing contests with any really capable Queensberry specialists. He was not getting paid for his boxing merits, but was being used as a gate attraction solely because of the name and reputation he had made in baseball.

SURELY Landis had the right to step in and save baseball from being used for that purpose. He was merely doing his duty toward the game he is paid to protect. At the same time he did a good turn for the boxing game itself and saved glove patrons from being imposed upon further by unscrupulous promoters and ballyhoo men associated with them.

The latter had no personal interest in the ring success of Shires except in so far as it would enrich themselves. Their duty to their own sport, if they were seeking to keep it clean and worthy of continued support, was to put on only contests between capable and evenly matched fighters of experience. Instead, in ballyhooing Shires and matching him with opponents equally unskilled, they were merely trying to draw dollars through the box office by offering what amounted to nothing more than alley fight. They were catering only to the mob.

BESIDES, as Landis stresses now, and as most sport followers realized from the start, baseball and boxing do not mix. Each has the approval and support of the public in its own way, but it is better to keep them separated. Then, too, it was unfair to those who make boxing their trade to let the play be taken away from them by a clowning stunt.

Art Shires

Nor was the baseball commissioner exceeding his authority in making the ruling. The national agreement makes him the sole judge as to what constitutes conduct detrimental to baseball, providing that "in the case of any official or employe of a major league club punishment may extend to suspension or removal" and that "for such conduct a player may be declared by the commissioner temporarily or permanently ineligible to play for any club which is a party to the agreement."

THE only justification that Shires might claim for his action in entering the ring was that he was under suspension at the time, which might be construed by some as meaning that he had a right to go out and earn a living apart from baseball. Otherwise he violated his own contract in going into boxing without the consent of the White Sox management. In every player's contract there appears the following clause: "The players, while under contract or reservation, shall not engage without the permission of his club in any games or exhibitions of baseball, football, basketball or other athletic sports." As far as is known, Shires never received such permission. The Chicago American League cluub could have averted the whole mess by ordering Shires to stay out of the ring in the first place, as it should have done.

THE use of starting blocks indoors for the first time by the runners in the Brooklyn College track meet last Saturday night marked the eastern adoption of a plan outlined almost two months ago by Art Smith, veteran track coach at West Virginia University, who announced at that time his intention to have Mountaineer speeders try out blocks of his own design in indoor meets this winter.

Smith, who first used the blocks while coaching at the University of Maine several years ago, was among their strongest advocates when they became the storm center of amateur athletic organization meetings last year. In reply to a query from the I. C. A. A. A. A. he recommended they be approved for use in the annual championship meets.

"OF COURSE the blocks give a runner some advantage, but that is just the reason why they should be adopted," contends West Virginia's successful coach. "Business men do not hesitate to take up anything they find to be of advantage. Why should we hold back?

Joe Walcott

"The blocks will result in new records, and, after all, the public is interested in track sports largely because it likes to see records broken. The blocks will also preserve outdoor tracks by doing away with the digging of holes.

ONE of the few fighters whom Joe Walcott, called the greatest welterweight of all time, was unable to defeat in his heyday, and the one who actually interrupted Walcott's reign as world champion in that division, follows Joe Bernstein in adding another chapter to the story of ring stars of the by-gone who are now down and out, broken in health and finances. Dixie Kid, a Negro topliner a quarter of a century ago, is laid up in Los Angeles, rendered helpless by rheumatism, and is in such straitened circumstances that a benefit show was held for him last week. Yet there was a day when the services of the Kid, whose proper name is Aaron Brown, were in demand not only throughout this country, but in many parts of Europe. He fought many battles in Paris, London, Dublin, Rheims, Liverpool, Glasgow, Birmingham, Plymouth and Leicester.

WALCOTT, who had won the title from Rube Ferns in 1901 and defended it successfully against Tommy West in 1902, met his match in the Kid at San Francisco on April 30, 1904, and lost to him on a foul in the twentieth round. That gave Dixie the championship, and in a second fight in the same city only 12 days later Walcott was unable to get better than a draw in 20 rounds. Muddled title claims resulted, but some of the ring authorities continued to recognize the Kid until 1908.

Dixie met most of the best welters, and many of the middleweights of his time, including Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, Sam Langford, Jimmy Clabby, Bob Moha, Mike Twin Sullivan, Frank Mantell, Willie Lewis, Larry Temple, Young Peter Jackson, Battling Johnson, Al Neil and many others. His career extended from 1899 to 1914. In one of his Paris fights in 1911 he knocked out Georges Carpentier in the fifth round. In the same city in the same year he figured in one of the most unusual incidents in boxing history. In a 20-round bout with Willie Lewis the decision was given against him but a jury of Parisian sportsmen "reversed the verdict of the referee" and declared Dixie the winner.

CITY CLOSES CLUB AS UNSAFE

The city of Pittsburgh today closed down the new Coliseum boxing arena, operated by Francis Flynn and the Meyers Brothers, in the old Columbus Temple Building, Van Braam and Locust streets.

Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh ordered the permit for the arena revoked on the ground that the building is a fire trap and does not provide a necessary number of exits.

ACTION NO SURPRISE

The order did not come as a surprise, for there was considerable unfavorable commment after the opening show last Friday night about the inadequate facilities for handling the crowd. The seating arrangements were pronounced ideal, insofar as they afforded all of the spectators a good view of the bouts, but the fear was expressed that in the event of fire or a panic the task of getting the crowd out of the building would prove difficult. The arena was located on the second floor of the building.

The new promoters had gone to considerable expense to remodel the hall for boxing and a permit was issued by the building inspector's office.

Promoter Flynn, when informed of the action of Supt. Walsh, said he was surprised and had received no intimation that any such steps would be taken.

WALSH TAKES ACTION

Supt. Walsh announced the revocation of the club's license following a conference attended by him, Public Safety Director James M. Clark and a representative of the building inspector.

Flynn recently ceased to operate by himself in the Moose Temple, downtown, to enter into the partnership with the Meyers Brothers in the Coliseum. The Meyers Brothers successfully conducted the Meyers Bowl, a large outdoor arena, at North Braddock, last summer.

Sam Williams Sixth In French Race

PARIS, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Sam Williams, American trotter, driven by Joe Haldeman, finished sixth in a field of 10 in the Grand Prix D'Amerique yesterday. Sam Williams led for a mile and a quarter of the mile and five furlongs race, but weakened badly in the uphill stretch and was decisively beaten. Amazone, at 2 to 1, was first; Uranie, at even money, second, and Benjamin, 20 to 1, third. The time was 3:04. Sam Williams was held at 6 to 1.

Nat Holman Signs With Bruins At $12,000 Salary

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Nat Holman, regarded as professional basketball's greatest star, has been signed by the Chicago Bruins of the National League.

Holman, who tarted the present season with the New York Celtics, which later were reorganized and transferred to Syracuse, N. Y., is understood to have been signed for $12,000 a season, the highest salary ever paid to a pro basketball player.

SATURDAY'S EXPLANATION: THE FLYING SNAKE—This suggestion came from the world's leading authority on snakes, Dr. Raymond Ditmars, of the New York Zoological Park. The snake is able to sail from tree to tree by flattening out its ribs and body, similar to the way a cobra flattens its neck when striking. Often the flying snake also will come down to the ground sailing in spiral fashion. It probably is the most remarkable of all snakes and is very rare, being found only in Borneo, Java, Malay and Sumatra. Attempts have been made to bring it to northern museums, but the snakes have died in transit. Its scientific name is chrysopelea ornata.

TOMORROW—A PIANO FOR A GRAVESTONE.

BUC STAR HAS APPENDIX REMOVED

Lloyd Waner, star centerfielder of the Pirates, underwent an operation for the removal of his appendix this morning at the Presbyterian Hospital, North Side. The surgical treatment was given the athlete at 8 o'clock and at 9 he had recovered from the anesthetic and was pronounced in good shape by the attending physicians.

The operation was performed by Dr. H. R. Decker, of the staff of the Presbyterian Hospital, assisted by Dr. William L. Marks, physician for the Pittsburgh team. The condition of the appendix verified the X-ray photos taken last week, after the outfielder, complaining of illness, had undergone an examination.

WIFE AT SIDE

In the hospital at the time of the operation was Mrs. Waner, who was Frances Mae Snyder, of Oakland, before her marriage to the diamond luminary last fall.

Following a long stay at their Oklahoma home after the close of the baseball season, Waner and his bride came to Pittsburgh about the first of the year to visit with the bride's mother, Mrs. Lydia Snyder, 407 Oakland avenue.

A few days ago Lloyd complained of a return of an ailment that had bothered him much in the past year. Dr. Marks was called and at once advised an X-ray examination. The developed pictures showed an affected appendix and Lloyd entered the hospital last night preparatory to the surgical treatment.

SEE QUICK RECOVERY

The admirers of the extremely popular player are deeply concerned as to whether the operation will affect his baseball play, but the physicians feel that Waner will be able to partake of spring training, although he will have to be careful.

The little outfielder, at 23, has established himself as one of the greatest stars of the sport.

No visitors will be allowed to see the athlete for several days owing to his sickness incident to the anesthetic.

OTTAWA NEXT FOR BUCS

Joe Miller will be back at goal and Hib Milks probably will be returned to the front line when the Pirate skaters meet the Senators in Ottawa tomorrow night.

Andy Spooner, 19-year-old rookie, made his National League debut in the Pittsburgh nets against the New York Rangers Saturday night. He denied the invaders a score in the first period, but in the second stanza the Rangers crashed through for four goals, and it was obvious that Andy needed further seasoning. Miller finished the game, which the New Yorkers won, 6 to 5, after the lead had changed hands four times.

Milks started at defense Saturday, but was shifted back to the front line before the fight was finished. Gordon Fraser was at center while Hib was in the backfield, but the former appears to be at his best at defense, and it is probable that Milks will perform as a forward in Ottawa.

The Bucs will not play at home this week, their Saturday game with the Chicago Hawks, originally scheduled here, having been shifted to Atlantic City.

BIG TOURNEY CARDED

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—A round robin bowling tournament, involving four of the leading bowlers in the country, will be rolled in Milwaukee February 15, 16 and 17. The participants will be Joe Falcaro, of New York, world match game champion; Charley Daw, of Milwaukee, and Jimmy Smith and Frank Cardinet, of Chicago.

DANNY TAYLOR SENSATION IN MINORS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

A Pittsburgh district boy, who deserves better treatment from the highest school of baseball, seems to have been the oustanding player in the International League in the past season. The young man is Danny Taylor, of Lash, near West Newton.

The official batting averages of the International League, given out today, show Taylor as the real leader of the circuit with a mark of .371. He starred in the outfield for Reading under a stout Chicago Cub string and has been recalled.

The questionable methods of baseball magnates appear to have kept the clever Danny in the minors. After a big season in Memphis in 1927 he was acquired by the Brooklyn club, but he was returned to the Chicks in 1928. The Brooklyn and Memphis teams apparently were friendly at the time and Taylor felt that his return to Memphis might have been one of those "cover up" things which eventually caused Judge Landis to sock the magnates a telling blow. Taylor and his friends figure that if Brooklyn had not taken him with the idea of saving him for Memphis, some other major league club might have purchased him.

DUE FOR GOOD "BREAKS"

In any event Danny went back to the Chicks in 1928, had another big season and was bought by the Cubs. Reporting to Chicago last spring, he found a galaxy of outfielders of such class that he could not break in as a regular. So Joe McCarthy sent him to Reading, where he immediately started a furious pace for the Class A. A. circuit. As well as playing the pasture, Danny took part in 30 odd games at third base.

Taylor is a powerful boy with great speed, his baserunning being on a par with his slugging. In 125 games he scored 113 runs and made 158 hits for a total of 264 bases. His card showed 34 doubles, nine three-baggers and 18 home runs. His friends feel that he is a better batter, fielder and baserunner than most of the big league players, but the "breaks" have held him back.

NEW PIRATE FEATURES

Heinie Mueller, former National League performer, outbatted Danny by six points, but Heinie played in only 77 games.

Pirate fans will be interested in the offensive doings of Catcher Al Bool, who finished high among the hitters of the circuit, with a mark of .345.

This hard-working catcher took part in 141 games. He made 174 hits for 311 bases, 31 of his wallops being four-sackers. He drove in 128 runs.

Three Major Players Seek Reinstatement

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Reinstatement applications have been granted by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, to Kent Greenfield, of the Brooklyn National League Club; Mike Gazella, New York Yankees, and George Stanton, St. Louis Americans, all of whom were voluntarily retired.

Carnera, Biggest Heavy, in U. S. Debut Friday

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The biggest heavyweight in the business furnishes New York boxing fans with the Nation's outstanding fistic spectacle this week.

Primo Carnera, of Italy, who grosses somewhere in the neighborhood of 285 pounds, and whose head is some six feet eight or nine inches away from the floor, makes his American debut against Big Boy Peterson, of Minneapolis, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

DUKES REVISE 1930 GRIDIRON SCHEDULE

An important shift of dates in the Duquesne University football schedule for 1930 is announced by Elmer F. Layden, head coach and director of athletics. The Dukes' game with West Virginia Wesleyan has been shifted from October 31 to November 22 in order that the Buckhannon school may accomodate the United States Naval Academy in the matter of an open playing date. Wesleyan and the Navy are scheduled to meet next season and when difficulties arose regarding a date, Wesleyan asked the Dukes to shift in keeping with a rearrangement of their own.

Providence (R. I.) College, which is one of four intersectional contests carded by Duquesne for next year, the Red and Blue meeting foes from North and South, East and West, will be played on November 27 (Thanksgiving Day) instead of on November 22 as originally announced. The Rhode Island school kindly consented to the revised plans of the Dukes when the latter complied with a similar request from Wesleyan. The revised schedule:

September 26—West Virginia University at Pittsburgh. September 27—Slippery Rock State College at Pittsburgh. October 4—Detroit Tech at Pittsburgh. October 11—Loyola University of Chicago at Chicago. October 18—Howard College at Pittsburgh. October 24—Catholic University at Pittsburgh. November 7-8—North Dakota University at Pittsburgh. November 15—Geneva College at Geneva. November 22—West Virginia Wesleyan at Pittsburgh. November 27—Providence (R. I.) College at Pittsburgh. (Thanksgiving).

MARSHALL CARD SET

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 20.—Marshall College will open its football season next fall with Ohio Wesleyan. The signing of Wesleyan to be played at Delaware, O., September 27, was announced yesterday by Roy M. Hawley, director of athletics at Marshall. The schedule:

September 27—Ohio Wesleyan, away.
October 4—Morris Harvey, here.
October 11—Penn State, away.
October 18—Bethany, home.
October 25—Emory and Henry, away.
November 1—Wittenberg, home.
November 8—Open.
November 15—University of Louisville, home.
November 27—West Virginia Wesleyan, away.

Minnesota Seeks Successor to Dr. Spears

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The University of Minnesota will have a new football coach before the end of the week.

This was indicated today as Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, president of the university, began looking over the list of likely candidates to succeed Dr. Clarence W. Spears, who on Saturday signed as head football coach at the University of Oregon.

Dr. Spears returned today to present his formal resignation as Gopher gridiron mentor, a post he had held for five years. He expressed himself as well pleased with his new job, which will pay a salary of $11,500 annually.

No individual has yet been agreed upon as Spears' successor at Minnesota by Dr. Coffman and the senate committee on intercollegiate athletics, the ruling body of sports at the Gopher school, which is anxious to have one selected this week. Spring football practice begins February 1.

IOWA CARDS CENTENARY

IOWA CITY, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Centenary College, of Shreveport, La., has been added to the University of Iowa's 1930 football schedule by Hawkeye officials for a game here October 11. The game is the second intersectional tilt to be booked for the Iowans, Penn State being scheduled to play here November 15, Bradley Tech, Oklahoma Aggies, Detroit, Marquette and Nebraska are the other teams now on Iowa's schedule.

MICKEY DOYLE BEATEN

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The American featherweight, Mickey Doyle, lost a 15-round battle here last night to South African Ernie Rustles. Doyle weighed 128 and Rustles 132.

TEAMWORK CARRIES PITT FIVE TO TOP

PANTHERS CLICK AS UNIT TO ROUT IRISH

By JESS CARVER.

Foreword: In the City of Bagdad lived one Hakeem, the Wise One and many people went to him for counsel. This he gave freely asking nothing in return.

There came to him a young man, who had spent much but received little and said: "Tell Wise One, what shall I do to receive the most for that which I spend?"

Hakeem answered: "A thing that is bought or sold has no value unless it contains that which cannot be bought or sold. Look for the Priceless Ingredient!"

"But what is this Priceless Ingredient?" the young man asked.

Spoke then the Wise One. My son, the Priceless Ingredient of every product in the market place is the honor and integrity of him who makes it. Consider his name before you buy."

The Priceless Ingredient of athletics is teamwork and the chief parts thereof are belief in and loyalty to the system. This was never better exemplified than on Saturday night, when the fast moving Pitt Panthers, loyal to the system of their coach, and working together as one compact, powerful machine mowed down Notre Dame. No Pitt team ever gave a better exhibition of team play than did the men of Carlson against the Irish. The result attested to this. Any time you beat a Notre Dame team by 20 points, you must have something on the ball beside a prayer.

Pitt would have a swell excuse in Charley Hyatt for a one-man team. Naturally, Hyatt, because of his great ability, outstanding as it is, sometimes steals the show. Hyatt stands out in college basketball as Tilden did in tennis; Paddock in running; Grange in football; Ruth in baseball and Dempsey in boxing. But on Saturday night, Hyatt was just a part of the team, an integral part, to be sure, but never-the-less, a part.

TEAM HAS SPIRIT

Pitt, as a university, has been accused, and in some respects justly, with lack of spirit. This may be true in some instances, but not in basketball. There is a close bond of fellowship between Coach Carlson and his boys, and it is this bond of comradeship that is responsible for Pitt's basketball success. The boys put their faith in Doc and his system, carry out his orders and win ball games.

Results of Saturday night's college games contained more or less the element of surprise. Penn State did not figure to beat West Virginia in Morgantown, but did. The Dukes looked like even choices against Colgate, but Lloyd Jordan shook up his lineup and served the Red and Blue its first setback of the Eastern trip. Bethany ran up a score on Wash.-Jeff, and Geneva put a crimp in the winning proclivities of Allegheny.

TARTANS LOSE SIXTH

Carnegie Tech dropped its sixth game in a row, losing to Grove City when the Crimson stepped out in a point-getting spree in the second half, and Davis Elkins ran true to form in busting Waynesburg apart.

Ed Smith, veteran guard of the Notre Dame team who played such a fine game here two years ago when Pitt won by a single point, was the only Irish player who looked the part Saturday night. He did his best to keep his team's defense on the alert.

According to reports from Philadelphia, Pitt and Penn may resume athletic relations next year by clashing in basketball. Chairman Ralph Morgan, of the U. of Penn basketball committee, is reported as favoring the addition of the Panthers to the Red and Blue's 1931 card. Coach McNichol has given his sanction to the game, so 'tis said.

The Tipoff

Coach Keogan, of the Irish, is still the same old wild man. He jollied continually with young Bosler, Pitt freshman grid star, and offered to bet a hundred sneakers that his team will beat Pitt at South Bend.

Tomorrow night's contest in the Bluff, when the Dukes and Bethany come together, looks to be the feature encounter of the week. A defeat for either the locals or the Bisons will rule one out of the running for the Conference title, at least for the present.

Paul Hogan, coach at Carnegie Tech, needs only to develop a dependable passer to match Chet Nease to have a real ball club. He has a good system, one that provides plenty of open shots, but somehow or other his boys can't click. Say, with a Friedman, a Zontini or a Stephens or an O'Donovan to help Nease, the Tartans would be a very dangerous club.

Pete Bowan didn't fare on well in his first indoor race of the season. He ran fourth in a special 440-yard event on the program of the Brooklyn College indoor games, being beaten by three runners of far less repute.

Queens sank a long one in signing Howdy Harpster as football coach. It was an ideal move for all concerned. Happy, Genius and the ball players.

Scott, Michigan State's chunky little pilot, who gave a marvelous exhibition against Tech last week, runs like a halfback to take the ball on that pivot play.

Jess Baker, Tom Campbell and R. W. MacMillan will head for Pinehurst this week for a short stay. They'll golf and other things.

Pitt, Tech and the Dukes are urged to get in line early for their tables for the Sports Writers' annual dinner. Just call up and we'll put the fix on.

Buddy Overend spent some time in Baltimore last week. He brought back a couple of oysters. Get some crackers and drop in on him some evening.

Chet Washington, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Courier, covered some 12,000 miles on football assignments this year. And his shoes are only half worn through.

Friends of Christy Walsh will be glad to know that his wife is improving daily after a long siege. She is convalescing in the California Lutheran Hospital in Los Angeles.

It will be a bout to the fight game if Jimmy Conzelman returns as a manager. Jimmy's name is a synonym for the "upper cut."

VICTOR OVER TONY CANZONERI

REX COPS PRO SKI CROWN

DETROIT, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Ted Rex, of Detroit, won the first professional world championship ski tournament yesterday afternoon at the Rochester slide of the Detroit Ski Club. Anders Haugen of Westby, Wis., was a close second and Alfred Engen, also from Westby, was third. The meet was sanctioned by the American Ski Association.

Rex was credited with jumps of 136 and 133 feet, and points awarded by the judges for form gave him a total of 301½. Haugen jumped 126 and 141 feet and the judges awarded him 301 points. The official standings:

UPSET MARKS EASTERN RACE

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—A surprising victory by Cornell over Yale has put a different aspect on the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League race and apparently left the title fight a duel between Pennsylvania and Columbia.

Yale had seemed destined for a place among the contenders when the Bulldogs held Penn to a 27-23 victory at Philadelphia and then crushed Cornell at New Haven last Monday night, 35 to 10. But Cornell showed an unexpected reversal of form at Ithaca Saturday night and came from behind to defeat the Elis, 23 to 19.

This upset in the dope left Yale, Princeton and Cornell deadlocked for last place in the standings with one victory each in three starts. Princeton lost its second game of the week at Hanover Saturday night, bowing, 28 to 25, to Dartmouth's Indians.

MARSHALL TOPS SALEM

INDIANA TEAMS SET PACE

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The state of Indiana is on top of the Western Conference basketball world today with Indiana and Purdue, each winner of two straight games, sharing the lead in the championship race.

Everett Dean's Hoosiers climbed up even with Purdue Saturday night by lacing Northwestern's erratic Wildcats, 36 to 22, while Wisconsin was taking an almost comical 14-to-9 decision in handing Illinois its first defeat of the title campaign.

The sharpshooting of Branch McCracken, Zeller and Veller was much more than some great marksmanship by Capt. Rut Walker of Northwestern could overcome. The Indiana trio accounted for 28 points, while Walker, by his four field goals and four free throws, collected 12 points.

Indiana faces a tough chore in meeting a desperate Michigan team at Bloomington tonight. The Wolverines, co-holders of the title last season and with three regulars back, have been defeated twice and will be out to retain whatever chance they have of sticking in to championship scramble.

Wisconsin will entertain Chicago in another contest tonight and should not have too much trouble with the hapless Maroons. Chicago had little enough material to start with, and Friday lost the services of Sid Yates, its high-scoring forward.

With victories over Michigan and Northwestern, Purdue will not be in action against a conference foe until February 3, when Ohio State invades Lafayette.

Wisconsin and Indiana will tangle at Bloomington Thursday night in a contest that outshines the Michigan-Indiana engagement as the feature piece of the week.

AGUA CALIENTE PLAY BEGINS

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Faced with four days of tedious golf under pressure of keen competition, almost a hundred tried and proven exponents of the great Scottish pastime, yesterday tried out the new course where today they set out on a 72-hole quest for the $25,000 in prizes awaiting the winners in the first annual Agua Caliente open tournament.

It was the first opportunity for those par-chasers to test their game over the course which holds a $10,000 sack of gold for the champion.

Going into this climaxing tourney of the Pacific Coast "Gold Dust" trail, the final stand on the Western seaboard, many of the leading contenders, including such professionals as Walter Hagen, British open champion; MacDonald Smith, twice victor in the Los Angeles open, and Johnny Farrell, former national open titleholder, have yet to appear among the front rank money winners.

Too much brilliant play by a pair of the younger element, Horton Smith, with his three championships, and Denny Shute, the Los Angeles $10,000 open king, has made the winter a long empty affair to some of the veteran performers of the links.

$10,000 TOP PRIZE

Victory in the Agua Caliente classic or even a high place will help to change the aspect for those who have yet to cut in on the big prizes. Besides the $10,000 first place award, there is $5,000 awaiting the second finisher—more than first money in any of the other winter meetings and a number of other big stakes. Close scrutiny of the course was given by entrants as they armed themselves with the best of their golf clubs and went out to seek par.

Many of them walked over the course Friday, while others withdrew from the La Jolla $1,000 event and spent their time here studying the layout.

The battle should develop into a hard driving game for the most part. The course is 6,653 yards long. The out-nine some 3,363 yards with its 35, has only one par 5 hole, the 525-yard eighth, but the journey home is more troublesome, requiring 36 strokes to come in at standard figures. Par for the course:

Out	4	4	3	4	4	5	4	3	5	—35
In	4	5	5	4	4	3	4	5	4	—36—71

COLLINS, NOONAN TIE

LAUDERDALE, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Jock Collins, Dayton (O.) professional, and Jimmy Noonan, youngster from Chicago, turned in cards of 211 each to divide first money in the first annual 54-hole $1,000 open tournament at the Fort Lauderdale Country Club yesterday.

We Repeat Spit is a horrid word, but it is worse on the end of your cigar

...the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency...join it. Smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

The man who spits in public places is no worse an offender against public decency than the workman who rolls cigars with dirty fingers and tips the ends with spit.

Why punish the one and yet tolerate the filthy practice of the other? Smoke a cigar made in the most modern, spotless clean manner . . . Certified Cremo. Every tobacco leaf entering the clean, sunny Certified Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods developed by the United States Government during the war. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that foil, wrap and tip the cigars without the possibility of spit!

Try a Certified Cremo—see how wonderfully good it is! Made of the choicest, tenderest leaves that the crop affords, we claim Certified Cremo's quality is tastier than that of any other cigar. Don't let its 5c price stand in your way. Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar your physician has in mind when he recommends a mild smoke in place of heavy brands.

Crush-proof . . . immaculate . . . foil-wrapped . . . Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar the late Vice-President Marshall undoubtedly had in mind when he said, "What this country needs is a good 5c cigar!"

ROSIES TOP HOOSIERS

CLEVELAND, Jan. 20.—George Glasco, purchased from Ft. Wayne early Saturday and rushed into last night's game against Chicago, led the way for the Rosies and in an overtime period game was the main cog in the offense that beat the Hoosiers, 23 to 21 here last night. His fourth field goal made early in the extra period settled one of the best and hardest floor games ever seen here. Wonderful play by Lapchick, Dehnert, and Glasco gave Cleveland a 12-to-8 lead in the first half. Frank Shimek's three well-placed shots keeping the Hoosiers in the running.

In the second half Miller tossed six straight from the foul line and Cleveland lost the lead at 19-to-18 as they had been unable to register a basket until the final two minutes of play when Dehnert scored on an impressive toss from Barry, out of bounds, and Lapchick, Husta failed in his attempt from the foul line. The lineup:

Glasco	F	Saunders
Barry	F	Banks
Lapchick	C	Chadwick
Dehnert	G	Miller
Husta	G	Shimek

Substitutions—Myers for Miller. Field goals, Cleveland, 7 out of 24. Ft. Wayne, 8 out of 66. Individual—Glasco 4, Lapchick, Dehnert 2, Saunders 2, Chadwick, Shimek 2. Foul goals—Cleveland, 9 out of 11; Ft. Wayne, 9 out of 16. Referee Sugarman.

How to Play Basketball

Answered by
DR. JAMES NAISMITH
Inventor of Basketball, University of Kansas.

According to this year's rules, a pivot is made in two different ways. When the player is stationary or if in running he stops with both feet equally forward he may pivot around either foot. But if he is running when he receives the ball and he stops with one foot in advance of the other he must pivot around the rear foot.

The pivot is made by keeping one foot on the ground and swinging around it, placing the foot in a new position.

This may be done in two ways. If the opponent is behind him the swinging foot is carried in an arc forward and around the pivot foot. If the opponent is in front the swinging foot is carried in an arc backward and around the pivot foot.

In the execution of either of these the body is bent forward and the knees are slightly bent with the weight on the balls of the feet. At the time the impetus is given with the swinging foot the weight is shifted to the other side. The knee of the moving foot is slightly bent and drawn toward the body.

So long as the pivot foot remains in one place the other may be moved as many times as desired, but the pivot foot must not be raised until the ball has been disposed of in some way.

'BONAVENTURE FIVE BEATS DUKES

OLEAN, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Duquesne University faltered in the final half here last night to drop a 22-15 game to the St. Bonaventure College quintet in an exciting floor contest.

Starting out at a whirlwind pace, the visitors were stepping the pace throughout the first half. When the period was concluded they held a 10-7 advantage.

With the beginning of the final stanza the home club began finding the range. Connor led the onslaught of the Saints and totaled four baskets at the final whistle.

Acting Capt. Brud Stephens, who has starred throughout the tour of the Bluffites, again was the scoring ace, registering three field goals. The lineup:

Duquesne—15.		St. Bonavent—22.
Lisko	F	McNally
Abels	F	Sullivan
McGeever	C	Uscher
Stephens	G	Reiley
Parry	G	Kennedy

Field goals—Abels, Stephens 3, Parry 2, McNally, Connors 4, Uscher, Kennedy. Fouls Duquesne, 3 out of 6. St. Bonaventure, 4 out of 20. Subs—Vernon for McGeever, Connors for Sullivan. Referee—Frey. Umpire—Dexter.

ST. VINCENT'S BEATEN

LORETTO, Pa., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—St. Francis handed St. Vincent's its first intercollegiate setback of the season here yesterday, counting 13 points in a five-minute overtime period to win, 34 to 23. The lineup:

St. Francis—34.		St. Vincent—23.
Remsberg	F	Genovese
Van Uum	F	Langeyl
Sullivan	C	Schumacker
Kunzler	G	Cream
Billetdeaux	G	Westfall

St. Francis scoring: Field goals: Van Uum 3, Sullivan 3, Kunzler 4, Billetdeaux 2, Abels (sub for Remsberg). Free throws: Sullivan 5, Billetdeaux 2, Abels.

St. Vincent scoring—Field goals: Cream 4, Bodnar (sub for Langyel) 4, Genovese. Free throws—Genovese 2, Cream 3, Andrejeska (sub for Schumaker). Referee—White.

Alex Stevenson, local soccer referee and a members of the West Penn Valley Referees' Association, was killd early yesterday morning in an automobile accident.

Stevenson has been a member of the local officials' body for three years, and his last game was at Carnegie between Gallatin and Heidelberg Eagles a week ago.

M'TIERNAN, RECOVERED, HOME SOON

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

From Hot Springs, Ark., comes the cheering news that Jack (Buck) McTiernan, Swissvale's fistic first citizen, will be back home tomorrow, recovered from his spell of illness and strong and sturdy enough to resume his ring activities.

McTiernan

The information is contained in a letter and a telegram from P. J. (Bunny) Buntach, manager of Buck, who has spent several weeks at the Spa with his protege, who, until gripped by rheumatism and complications, looked like one of the brightest ring prospects ever developed here and remains a figure who should go on to the heights if he can get back into his old stride.

A statement from Buck's doctor, enclosed in Buntach's letter, says that Buck "has found the climate and the thermal baths helpful and now is rounding into perfect physical condition. He has gained weight and strength and all the symptoms of his rheumatism have disappeared. He now is in practically perfect physical health and should be able to go into training for bouts within a short time."

The telegram, received this afternoon, states that Buntach and McTiernan will arrive back in town at 8:45 tomorrow morning. It was sent from St. Louis, where the pair stopped off today.

DATE SET FOR BOUT

February 10 has been set as the date for the bout in Toronto between Midget Wolgast and the winner of the Willie Davies-Steve Rocco return bout in the Canadian flyweight tournament, scheduled at Toronto next Friday night.

Jim Routley's special train to the Jack Sharkey-Phil Scott fight at Miami, Fla., February 27, will leave Union Station at 1 p. m. Thursday, February 20, and will arrive at Miami two days later. From there the party will go to Havana by boat, returning to Miami the day before the fight. The trip home will begin at 6 p. m. the day after the fight and the travelers will arrive back in Pittsburgh at 9:30 a. m., March 2. The trip is being made at an all expense rate of $175 per person and the party will be limited to 125. Reservations may be made through C. B. Barton, 1407 Park Building, telephone Atlantic 2386. Routley last year piloted a party to the Sharkey-Stribling fight at Miami and annually runs a special train to the Kentucky Derby.

The Great Shires, although barred by Commissioner Landis from continuing his boxing career, will act as referee of the Benny Gershe-Art Wander bout on the Ray Campbell benefit all-star card in Cleveland tonight.

Boxing Bouts Carded for Tonight

ALFRED BULL DIES

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Dr. Alfred E. Bull, one of the greatest figures in football and rowing history 30 years ago, died here early today. Dr. Bull, who had been engaged in dentistry in this city for more than 30 years, was 63 years of age. He was a graduate of University of Pennsylvania in 1889.

SPORTS DINNER INVITATIONS OUT SOON

Practically assured of the presence of John A. Heydler, president of the National League, the speakers' committee of the coming banquet of the local chapter, Baseball Writers' Association of America, is negotiating with several other men of prominence with the idea of having them here for the big sport festival.

The second annual dinner of the baseball writers is set for Thursday, February 6, in the William Penn Hotel. The first affair, held in honor of John H. Gruber, dean of official scorers, was a tremendous success, and the writers are striving to match the Gruber dinner.

Invitations will be mailed this week. John L. Hernon, who handled this end of the work last year, is in charge of the reservations again. His address is Post-office Box 218, Pittsburgh, and he is ready to take care of all sports lovers.

Mrs. Andrews Enters Pinehurst Shoot

PINEHURST, N. C., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Mrs. Walter P. Andrews, of Atlanta, former holder of the women's Grand American doubles championship of the American Trapshooting Association, has entered the Pinehurst mid-winter tournament.

Bowdoin Silent On Appointment Of Bowser

BRUNSWICK, Me., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—A persistent rumor that Charles W. Bowser, assistant football coach at the University of Pittsburgh, had signed a contract to coach the Bowdoin grid squad this year, succeeding Mal Morrell, recently resigned, today brought no confirmation from members of the athletic council.

While President Kenneth C. M. Sills of the college said that the special football committee empowered to name a coach had given Bowser's name serious consideration, college authorities had not yet received notice of the selection.

Newcomer

JACK DE NERI

DeNeri is a recent addition to the local colony of boxers. He is a featherweight and was brought here from Cleveland by Irish Kane, manager of Flynn's gym. DeNeri, who is an Italian, 21 years old, hails originally from Rochester, N. Y., where he started his career as an amateur. He boxes along the lines of Maxie Rosenbloom and has compiled a good record. He has met Soldier Dombrowski, Carl Tremaine, Zivie Anthony, Danny Allen, Young Angelo, Frankie Buff and others.

SHIRES IN RING TONIGHT—NOT AS FIGHTER

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Lost to his boxing art forever by request of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's high commissioner, Charles Arthur Shires today was on his way to Cleveland, where he will appear in the ring tonight, but not as a fighter.

Whataman boarded a train here last night for Ohio with the "advice" of Commissioner Landis still revolving in his head.

The White Sox first baseman has donated his box office magnetism to the benefit show being held for the family of Ray Campbell, boxing critic who died recently.

Shires intends to visit his family in Italy, Tex., after his visit to Cleveland, he said. The prodigal announced his retirement from the ring Saturday after a session with Commissioner Landis here in which the baseball czar outlined his views on baseball players who select the prize ring as a barnstorming field.

Kansas, Missouri Tied for Floor Lead

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Kansas and Missouri are tied for leadership in the Big Six basketball race after the second week of conference frays.

Whatever advantage there may be goes to Missouri, which has played and won its three games while Kansas has played and won two.

Oklahoma, champions of the Big Six last season, and the team before leaders of the old Missouri Valley Conference, is down at the bottom of the heap with the Kansas Aggies, each having lost both starts.

CALIFORNIA NORMAL COPS

CALIFORNIA, Pa., Jan. 20.—California Normal College took another step toward the Western Pennsylvania State Teachers College championship, when it defeated the Indiana Teachers quintet here Saturday night. Leading by the score of 25-16 at the half, California came back strong and succeeded in getting four baskets in the first two minutes of the second half. The lineup:

California—63.		Indiana—34.

Billiard Leaders To Discuss Tourney

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The tournament committee of the National Billiard Association will meet Wednesday to determine if a world championship 18.2 balkline tournament will be held this year. A title tourney was set for late this month in Chicago, but mix-ups in schedules have upset plans for the meeting.

Junior Handball Dates Announced

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The Junior National Amateur Athletic Union four-wall handball tournament will be held in the Dallas Athletic Club February 2 to 5. C. C. Neptune, chairman of the Athletic Club committee, said in announcing the dates that registration lists will close January 27.

Allentown Points For Bethlehem

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Elated over their defeat of the champion Hazleton High school basketball quintet, the Allentown passers were sure today they would take the scalp of the Bethlehem team next Friday night in Bethlehem.

The three teams now are tied for first place in the Eastern Pennsylvania Interscholastic League race.

The Allentown quintet beat the two-time Hazleton state titleholders, 42-34, in as thrilling a contest as was ever seen on the local floor. It was the first reverse suffered by the up-state five in 46 contests.

games in a row this season, but set another mark that has been generally overlooked. The Bruins, during 1929, captured more contests than were ever bagged in a single year by any other team in the league as now constituted.

From January 1, 1929, to January 1, 1930, taking in the latter part of the preceding season and the first part of the present campaign, the Bostonese won 37 games, lost 8 and tied 3. And that's not counting the championship play-offs or the Stanley Cup series. The record for straight wins prior to Boston's string of 14 this season was 11, set by Les Canadiens in the 1926-27 race.

Tom Conley

TOM CONLEY, who was here with the Notre Dame basketball squad as a reserve player for the game with Pitt last Saturday night, is better known locally in football than as a floor performer. He was a regular end for the Irish gridders last fall and has been elected captain of the eleven for 1930. Yet it was as a basketball player that he first broke into athletics with the Big Brothers' Association in Philadelphia more than 10 years ago, and later at Catholic High School in the same city he was far more prominent in the floor sport than on the gridiron. At Notre Dame, however, he made the varsity football squad in his sophomore year as a substitute end for Colerick, and last fall became a star regular, playing in every game for the Ramblers. Two of Tom's older brothers gave their lives in the World War.

Coolidge's Favorite Music To Be Heard on Radio

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

CALVIN COOLIDGE turned to radio for relaxation when he was in the White House. He dialed for his favorite music. What he liked we shall learn through KDKA at 9 o'clock when the Edison Recorders broadcast his favorite selections.

Once again voices from Filmland will score a hit by presenting Bessie Love and Charles King, stars of "Broadway Melody." There will be other smart features on this 7:30 program through WJAS.

The Real Folks, KDKA at 9:30, will make funny faces. While this burlesque is at its height, Allen McQuhae, tenor, will sing "Thine Alone" from Herbert's "Eileen" as an attraction on the Family Party, WCAE.

Godfrey Ludlow, violinist, will both direct and play in a new WEAF network feature, "Strings and Bows," through WCAE at 10:30.

We Now Present

The voice of King George of England, opening the Naval Conference in London, will be heard in Pittsburgh tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock through KDKA, WCAE and WJAS.

A new floor "mike" at KayDee looks like a box camera. A shiny bit of metal in the aperture is used as a mirror by announcers and artists.

SOLDIERS' NIGHT

Two soldiers on the air tonight. David Drollet, tenor, with Roxy over KDKA at 7:30, was a lieutenant in the French army during the war. Allen McQuhae, tenor with the Family Party through WCAE at 9:30, was a soldier of fortune whose career led him to prospecting in the Klondike, ranching in the Canadian Northwest, vaudeville, engineering, sailing.

That long-drawn foggy whistle with the creepy feeling heard on certain KDKA programs and in Harbor Lights is created by blowing into an oblong wooden box about a foot long. When blown hard it has a high pitch like a steamboat but when blown lightly it gives the impression of a ferryboat coasting into New York harbor at 4 a. m.

George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's Commission in Law Observance, is to speak through WCAE Wednesday night at 8:30.

Names of winners in the Sun-Telegraph Auto Show Contest will be announced over WCAE at 6:30 tonight. Joseph White, radio singer, will make the awards at 9 o'clock in Motor Square Garden.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

"Tell dat boy Amos Jones to sit tight on his money and not to have nuthin' to do with that Kingfish," was a telephone call received by P. A. Boyd Saturday morning. Late Saturday night Boyd's phone rang again. "Thanks for telling Amos to keep his money out of dat bank," said a voice with a Southern drawl.

Fishing Out West
A fishing story broadcast in mid-winter will seem a little out of season east of the Rockies, but it happens that the gamey steelhead is at his best during January and February in the mild streams of the Pacific coast. So Empire Builders tonight will present a romance that is intermingled with the whirr of the reel and line, the ripple of the streams, and the lashing of the steelhead at the end of the line.
It will be recalled that one of the few things that Rudyard Kipling found to his liking in America was the fishing in Oregon, which he covered quite fully in his essays.
The story was written especially for Empire Builders by Ben Hur Lampman of Portland, poet and nature writer whose works appeared in numerous magazines of national circulation.

MR. FREDERICK JACKSON

"Take REM" is his advice

Mr. Frederick Jackson of 118 Newburgh St., Buffalo, N. Y., has only one regret in regard to REM. And that is that he didn't know about it sooner! He had been troubled with a bad cough for several weeks when he happened to see REM in Jenczka's Drug Store on Genesee St. He bought a bottle and that very night he slept without coughing—the first really restful night he had enjoyed in quite a while. Now Mr. Jackson is so enthusiastic about REM that he says, "I would tell anybody I heard coughing to try REM, whether I knew them or not." No other cough medicine has the same formula as REM, and after all, "It's the formula that counts!" Ask for REM for prompt cough relief.

Developments Have Raised Hopefulness.

—By B. C. FORBES—

SEVERAL developments have served to inspire hopefulness that industry, trade, employment and stocks are getting ready to throw off their sluggishness and make at least a moderately-better showing.

THAT there was fairly sharp recession in nearly every direction before the end of last year cannot be questioned. December was the poorest month of all. Whether final figures for January will reveal further slowing down cannot be definitely foretold, but there are increasing grounds for believing that February will achieve a more encouraging record.

ALREADY the steel industry is on the upgrade. The motor industry is employing substantially more men. Construction reports, though mixed, are fairly satisfactory. While no authoritative nation-wide employment figures are available for the current month, at least it can be said that unemployment has not receded itself upon public attention, as it usually does when conditions become abnormally bad.

THE general commodity price level, though sagging, has shown no sign of demoralization such as overtook the stock market. This remarkable price stability is perhaps the most gratifying feature of all post-panic conditions. It reflects that our industrial leaders have not lost their heads. It means, too, that the wage level may be maintained without disturbance. Also, it is worth noting that the Wall street trouble has not brought on an overwhelming deluge of commercial or other failures—another comforting consideration.

WASHINGTON authorities for the most part are showing a disposition to be helpful. The idea has gained ground in high financial circles that the interstate commerce commission will not prove so obstructive as formerly when far-reaching railway consolidation plans are next laid before them, particularly if, as seems possible, leading interests involved manage to come to an agreement among themselves.

The federal reserve board's attitude since the speculative fever was checked has been entirely co-operative. The Federal trade commission admittedly now is far more sensibly motivated than is used to be. Of Congress it can at least be said that its activities are no more unsettling than usual. As for President Hoover, he has made a distinctly favorable impression upon the nation's men of very large affairs.

MONETARY conditions are wholly favorable. The European scramble for gold has relaxed. European borrowing here promises to be renewed with stimulating effect upon our exports. Official rediscount rates may be further reduced in London and at other important foreign centers, although leading New York bankers warn against counting upon abnormally low borrowing rates here, except perhaps for day-to-day stock market accommodation. Call loans closed the week at 4 per cent, against 6 per cent a year ago, and time money was available at as low at 4½ against 7½ per cent last January. The foreign exchanges point to no further gold exports at this time.

ALTHOUGH Wall Street has become impatient over the stock market's narrowness and inactivity, the rest of the country doubtless feels that a period of speculative quietness is wholesome. last week, after meaningless minor fluctuations, almost wholly professionally inspired, the market ended exactly where it began the week. On Friday the tone was weak, obviously due to bear pressure. Saturday brought a mild rally.

The general impression in the street is that a short interest has been created in a number of prominent speculative stocks. Brokers declare that when attempts are made to rebuy little stock is found available.

The announcement that the "Big Six" banking pool has been wound up explodes the oft-repeated declaration by bears that on every rally the pool would dump on the market all the stock it would absorb. While the member institutions were alloted a moderate quality of unsold stock, and while banks and brokerage houses still are carrying considerable stock unwillingly acquired during the panic it has been clearly demonstrated that forced liquidation is no longer at face.

One heartening incident was the enormous over-subscription of a $150,000,000 five per cent bond issue.

IT IS curious to note that most of those who were urging people to buy stocks at unprecedently high prices are now discouraging the purchase of the same stocks at drastically lower prices. This attitude is thoroughly familiar to old timers. The advice not to invest at current prices is on a par with the advice to buy at dizzy prices.

Regardless of what fluctuations may meanwhile occur, it is certain as anything can be that sooner or later good stocks will sell very substantially above today's quotations.

Prof. Irving Fisher's Price Index Higher

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Prof. Irving Fisher's index of wholesale commodity prices in past week averaged 93.2 per cent against 93 per cent in preceding week. The 1929 average was 96.3 per cent.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Bond prices were firm today in a slow market. High grade domestic issues showed a tendency to improve, but the gains were small. Foreign loans, where conspicuous strength developed last week, got fair support.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks See-Saw — Local Market Irregular

STOCK MARKET CONTINUES TO FLUCTUATE

Renewal of Attacks on Radio Offset by Gains In Tobaccos, Amusements

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Prices of stocks continued to bob up and down within a narrow trading area in today's market. Renewal of selling attacks against Radio and some of the power and light stocks was offset by flurries of buying in the tobacco, zinc, amusement and merchandising shares. Neither "bull" nor "bear" traders appeared to gain any special advantage and public participation continued on a relatively small scale.

Since the first of the year the market, judged by the index of 90 leading stocks, has moved within a range of 4 points. Both small and large traders appear to be waiting for further information concerning the trend of spring business. While some lines, notably steel, have shown improvement, there is a rather general feeling that a further downward adjustment of values is necessary in many issues and little general improvement in prices is expected until the bulk of this is completed.

REPORT DISAPPOINTING

News over the week-end failed to throw much additional light on the business picture. Some disappointment was caused today by the unofficial report that the U. S. Steel Corporation did not contemplate retirement of funded debt of its subsidiary companies. The Interstate Commerce Commission's approval of the segregation of the coal and railroad properties of the Delaware and Hudson Company was followed by an advance of 2¼ points in that stock.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent but dropped to 4 despite the calling of some loans for foreign account. The time money market was dull.

National Bellas Hess issues led the merchandising group, the preferred stock jumping 16 points and the common moving up about 3½. First National Stores and Abraham and Strauss each advanced about 2 points and Hahn Department Stores, Best & Co. and some of the others advanced a point or so.

TOBACCOS IN DEMAND

The renewed demand for the American Tobacco issues was based on reports of an impending increase in wholesale cigaret prices. Warner Brothers Pictures and Radio-Keith-Orpheum led the advance in the amusement shares. U. S. Hoffman Machinery ran up 6 points, Western Union 5, and Kraft Cheese and Warren Bros., 3 each.

U. S. Steel common sold down 2 points to 167¾ in the early trading but had practically recovered its loss by early afternoon. Allied Chemical made up an early loss of 4 points. Radio was driven down more than 2 points to 35⅝ in expectation of poor first-quarter reports. J. I. Case, Standard Electric Power and Light, United Aircraft and Liggett and Myers B all sold down 2 points or more, before effective buying support was encountered.

Jewel Tea in Deal With Club Aluminum

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Effective January 1, Jewel Tea Company entered into a management contract with Club Aluminum Utensil Company, and will provide executive management for the latter company for a period of three years. Jewel does not assume responsibility for any debt claims or liabilities of Club Aluminum.

Jewel Tea has secured options on sufficient Club Aluminum Utensil Company stock which, if exercised, will give it control of the latter company.

Tire Production Off in November

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Tire manufacturers in the United States produced 3,603,436 pneumatic casings during November, according to the Rubber Manufacturers' Association, against 4,918,912 in the preceding month. Inner tube production totaled 3,780,419, and solid and cushion tires 40,667.

Shipments during November were: Pneumatic casings, all classes, 2,557,759; inner tubes, 3,711,840, and solid and cushion tires, 32,927.

Chandler, Chicago Financier, Dies at 77

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Reuben Grigsby Chandler, 77, widely-known in financial circles, died in a hospital after an illness of several months.

Chandler, who had rounded out more than half a century in the Chicago financial district, and who served as president of the Chicago Board of Trade in 1903, recently retired from the firm of Hulburd, Warren & Chandler, in which he had been a partner since 1905.

Visible Grain Supply.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The visible supply of American grain showed the following changes in bushels: Wheat, decreased 2,824,000; corn, increased 1,054,000; oats, decreased 584,000; rye, decreased 85,000; barley, increased 18,000.

Liverpool Wheat Market.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 20.—Wheat was dull and 1-16@⅛ penny up. Opened 1 pence up, and at 1:30 p. m. was 1¼@1⅝ pence up. Closed 1 to 1⅝ pence up.

General Electric Gets Soviet Order

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—General Electric Company is manufacturing four hydro-electric generators, the largest in the world, for installation on the Dnieper River development at Kichkas, near Zaporoshe, in the Ukraine. The development will supply power in the vicinity of Dnepropetrovsk and through the southern part of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republic.

Each generator, rated at 77,500 K. V. A., or well over 100,000 horsepower, would be sufficient to supply the light needs of more than 700,000 average homes.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Influenced by upturns in Liverpool quotations and by enlarged export business from North America, the wheat market here scored early advances today. Selling pressure in Chicago, however, increased on the price bulges, and with the Winnipeg market weak the gains here failed to hold well. Opening unchanged to 1c higher, Chicago wheat steadied later at around Saturday's finish. Corn, oats and provisions were firm, with corn starting ¼c to ½c up, but subsequently reacting a little.

Indications that Canada might get preference in export business from North America did a great deal at times today to outbalance the effect of upturns in Liverpool wheat quotations and of word that over the week-end the European demand for North American breadstuffs had broadened somewhat. It was pointed out that breaks in the Winnipeg wheat market had resulted in making Canadian wheat relatively more attractive to trans-Atlantic buyers, as compared with wheat from the United States. In this connection, talk was current that Canada will increase her weekly clearances at the expense of the United States, where Federal Farm Board activities are tending to uplift values.

Selling on price advances in the Chicago wheat market today for future deliveries appeared to be largely on account of assertions that at the end of the season the United States wheat surplus is likely to prove unwieldy. It was further contended that there is no conclusive evidence of both the Canadian and the United States surplus being required to take care of overseas demand, under such circumstances, early gains in Chicago wheat quotations were later more than wiped out at times, with the market here going well below Saturday's finish.

Senate Kills Tariff Countervailing Rates

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The Senate today adopted amendments to the tariff bill to wipe out existing countervailing provisions relating to coal, gunpowder, calcium acetate or chloride nitrate, cynamid, paper board, wall board and pulp board.

Chairman Smoot, of the Finance Committee, said the State Department had informed him that the provisions had led to considerable "disadvantage and dissatisfaction." The countervailing provisions authorize the United States Government to raise its tariffs on the products mentioned to the level of duties by other nations on signilar products of this country.

Building Contracts Larger in New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—New building and engineering work contracted for in the metropolitan area during the week ended January 17 aggregated $10,009,500, with the daily rate 3 per cent higher than in January, 1929, and 15 per cent below the daily rate in December, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation.

Completed projects reported during the week totaled 18,554,200, against $99,881,600 for the preceding week.

Air Lines Reduce Passenger Rates

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—T. A. T. and Maddux Air Lines have cut their rates from Los Angeles to Kansas City to $88, from Los Angeles to St. Louis to $102; from Los Angeles to Albequerque to $37.50, and from Los Angeles to New York to $159.92. Rates were also cut for intermediate trips, fares being cut to various points, such as the new rate of $6 from Wichita, Kan., to Waynoka, Okla.

Cal. Daily Crude Production Higher

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—California daily crude oil production for the week ended January 18 totaled 704,750 barrels, against 702,250 barrels for the previous week, an increase of 2,500 barrels.

American Petroleum Institute announces total stocks of crude and refined petroleum products in the Pacific Coast territory at the end of December as 184,002,116 barrels, compared with 183,748,450 barrels at the end of November.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The curb market was inclined to heaviness today, and trading again turned dull, after the liveliest trading at the end of last week. Leading utilities were fairly well supported, but the majority of shares worked lower.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

REMINGTON NET HIGHER FOR QUARTER

Sales Hold Up Despite Crash in Stock Market; Foreign Business Gains

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Remington Rand's sales have held up exceedingly well since the market break and it is not improbable that the company will show earnings in the December quarter of around $1,700,000 after bond interest, depreciation and taxes, or $1 a share on the 1,334,457 shares of common stock outstanding.

This would compare with earnings of 50 cents a share on the common in the December quarter of 1928, 78 cents in the September 1929 period and 80 cents in the three months to June 30.

1929 ESTIMATE

These earnings in the December quarter would bring net for the calendar year to something better than $6,000,000, or around $3.50 a share on the common stock after preferred dividends, compared with $2,072,000 earned in the calendar year 1928 or 60 cents a share on the common.

Remington Rand's business in January both here and abroad is satisfactory. December domestic business was 11 per cent greater than in the 1928 month and November 4 per cent ahead of the preceding November. December foreign business according to preliminary figures was fully up to that of a year ago, and it is not improbable that final figures will show foreign sales slightly better than for the 1928 month.

CASH HOLDINGS

With foreign business promising to continue good in the first quarter and with fair volume here company's earnings after bond interest, depreciation, federal taxes and preferred dividends should approximate $4 a share on the common for the fiscal year ending March 31 next, compared with $1.15 in the preceding 12 months.

In view of the results in the December quarter, Remington Rand should end 1929 with approximately $5,000,000 in cash and cash equivalent while earned surplus December 31, 1929, should also total around $5,000,000.

DIVIDEND PROSPECTS

With such a good showing in the final quarter of the 1929 calendar year, although two-thirds of the period was after the serious break in the stock market, and considering the strong cash position of the company and the outlook for 1930, it is reasonable to expect that the common stock will be established on a regular dividend basis at an early date. In addition the company should have funds remaining to reduce still further the amount of preferred shares outstanding. The recent vote of the directors to extend to November 1 1930 the date for exercising warrants attached to 5½ per cent bonds to purchase common at $55 a share suggests optimism on the board as to the company's prospects for this year.

CURRENT QUARTER

With earnings for the December quarter at $1,700,000 total will be 67 per cent above that shown a year previous. In view of the fact that for the past five quarters Remington Rand earnings have shown a material increase over the corresponding periods of the preceding year it seems possible that March 1930 quarterly earnings may approximate $2,000,000. Earnings of $1,700,000 in the December quarter will be highest for any three months in the company's history and therefore the March quarterly earnings, if estimate is realized, also would establish a new record. However, it should be remembered that in the last quarter of the fiscal year many companies take into the consolidated earnings those of certain subsidiaries. It is understood that this is also true as regards certain foreign subsidiaries of Remington Rand.

U. S. Officer Wounds Woman in Dance Hall

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 20.—(AP)—G. Alfred DeMoss, deputy United States marshal of Tulsa, who was acquitted October 22 last, of a murder charge filed in connection with the shooting of a Cherokee County farmer, late last night shot and slightly wounded Mrs. A. R. Lay, 47, at a dance hall of which she is proprietor.

Witnesses asserted that DeMoss' revolver was discharged when he used it to strike Frank Daniels, a Tulsa man, on the head. The officer had interceded for an employe of the Oakhurst dance hall near Tulsa, they said, who was attempting to eject Daniels.

158 in New Castle Graduating Class

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 20.—Mid-year graduating class of the New Castle High School attended baccalaureate services held in the senior high school auditorium Sunday evening, when Dr. C. J. Williamson of the Highland United Presbyterian Church, delivered the baccalaureate sermon. The class numbers 158, the largest mid-year graduating class yet. Graduating exercise will be held Friday night. Dr. L. D. McClean, head of the economics department of Allegheny College, will be speaker.

Aliquippa Cashier To Locate in N. Y.

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Jan. 20.—Robert D. Barry, of Beaver, has resigned as cashier of the First National Bank and will go to New York where he will engage in the brokerage business with a son. John Neish, assistant cashier, was elected to the vacancy.

BUILDING TOTAL 10 BILLIONS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—A new peace time record for construction and maintenance on public work and by public utilities is expected during the present year by Secretary Lamont on the basis of reports indicating that $7,000,000,000 will be spent in these fields.

This total does not include expenditures for residences, commercial and industrial structures and other private operations which last year amounted to more than $3,000,000,000 and which, if continued at the same pace, would bring the outlay for 1930 to more than $10,000,000,000.

Complete returns to the department of commerce from the governors of 26 states, combined with estimates based on partial returns from the remaining states, indicate expenditures for public works including federal construction, of $3,325,000,000 during the year.

Programs for betterments to plants and equipment announced by public utilities, railroads and telegraph companies represented expenditures of approximately $3,250,000,000.

Dr. John M. Gries, chief of the construction division of the department, also reported to the secretary that approximately $410,000,000 will be spent for maintenance of existing plants and equipment by the electric, gas and street railway companies alone.

Class A railroads are expected to spend $1,050,000,000 of the utilities' construction total; electric, gas and street railway companies, $1,400,000,000; the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, $700,000,000; and Independent Telephone and Telegraph Companies, short line railways and privately-owned waterworks, $100,000,000.

Arkansas, $35,178,650; California, $202,230,123; Connecticut, $40,000,000; Delaware, $8,000,000; Florida, $19,483,366; Idaho, $8,100,000; Kansas, $46,104,561; Maine, $18,000,000; Massachusetts, $105,460,000; Missouri, $67,415,759; Montana, $11,500,000; Nebraska, $32,000,000; New Hampshire, $6,750,000; New Mexico, $7,000,000; New York, $475,275,442; North Carolina, $36,000,000; North Dakota, $7,000,000; Ohio, $233,225,000; Oregon, $29,500,000; South Carolina, $33,000,000; Texas, $180,000,000; Virginia, $41,000,000; Washington, $37,000,000; West Virginia, $33,900,000; Wisconsin, $61,430,000; Wyoming, $5,090,000.

Senate and House Equal, Declares Longworth

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Speaker Nicholas Longworth objects to the appellation "lower branch of Congress" when people speak of the House of Representatives.

The Constitution, he said today, gives the Senate and House co-extensive and equal powers and the Supreme Court has ruled that the two branches have balanced authority and that neither "upper nor lower houses" exist in Congress.

He pointed out that the Constitution divided the powers of the branches so the House could deal with internal affairs and the Senate with external matters.

Perrysville Avenue Woman Escapes Fire

Mrs. Mabel Yocum escaped injury when her room on the third floor of the brick building at 3902 Perrysville avenue caught fire from an overheated flue, according to a police report.

Fire Sweeps Plant In New Kensington

New Kensington officials today were investigating the cause of a fire which damaged the municipal incinerating plant early yesterday. In spite of the intensely cold weather, which made their work hazardous, firemen confined the flames to the second floor and roof. Damage was set at $1,500, by Fire Chief Edward Clawson.

Four Youths Held In Butter Thefts

Four youths, accused of stealing butter and cheese from the Jersey Farm Products Company, West Carson street, and selling at cut prices in the West End district, were held over in Morals Court today until the company checks the amount taken. The four gave their names as Harry Patterson, 18, of 300 Ainsworth street; Ray Weunschel, 19, of 934 Rue Grande Vue; John Sheller, 18, of 143 Fairview avenue and Joseph Shoaf, 20, of 333 East Carson street.

Fire damaged the old O'Hara Township School on the Kittanning pike last night, the Pleasant Valley Fire Department reported today. The school had been vacant for six months. Origin of the fire was undetermined. The building, a one-story frame, was damaged $50.

U. S. Women in Paris Balk At High Prices, Customs

PARIS, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—French shop keepers, particularly those who sell article of women's wear, are looking for the answer to the question "why don't American women buy more?"

From the haute cotoure down to the dealer in nick-nacks, tradesmen are puzzled over why the American woman, once an almost sure customer, has become a hesitating cliente, apt to turn away with the purpose to think it over.

With the answer one must sit around in hotels and listen in on the comments of American shoppers. Very few women come to Paris without the idea of buying something. Many of them come with long shopping lists.

The gist of the shoppers' grievance is:

"I can buy better at home for the money and not worry about the customs."

Mass production and American women's insistence upon a dollar's worth for a dollar have created clothes standards and shopping values in the United States of which the European woman has no conception.

In gloves the French commodity is unquestionably supreme. More and more travelers are confining their purchases to gloves, although costume jewelry runs gloves a close second.

Reports from the United States trade commissioner show that 75 per cent of all dresses and skirts sold in France are ready-made. The average American woman turns away from the ready-to-wear garments of the French store in scorn, finding them inferior in workmanship and quality to those she is accustomed to buy at home at similar prices.

She buys her stockings for less than the French woman does. Two dollars buys a quality of hosiery in France which the U. S. A. woman is accustomed to get for a dollar. Fine hose sells at $3 to $5 in France.

Walter Winchell
On Broadway

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.

Author, Author, Author!

NOTE: Mr. Winchell's south paw, the one he scribbles with, is in a sling (we trust it is nothing trivial) and so with a low bow to Vanity Fair, the following article by Winchell is reprinted today at his suggestion.

WHEN the skeptics of centuries ago first whispered that Bacon wrote all of Shakespeare's stuff, there sprang into being the rumor of the "ghost writer." A "ghost" or "shadow" writer today is one who writes what another signs and who is paid a fee for his creative labors, remaining in the background while the advertised author acknowledges the applause, if any. Briefly, the signature over the article isn't always that of the author, in these days of literary business. For example: Sir Harry Lauder's book, "A Minstrel in France," was written by William Almon Woolf and Damon Runyon.

It has become a healthy field for obscure and even well-known writers, this "ghost" business. Not all of the men and women who know how to handle the English language find ready markets for their wares. In these modern times, when most publications prefer stories and articles signed by celebrated names or freak celebrities, who crash the heavens with a channel swim or a trans-Atlantic flight the "ghost writer" cashes in heavily. The "ghost writer" invariably receives 50 per cent of the profits plus a juicy advance fee.

But "ghost writing" hasn't been confined solely to literary stylists understudying for illiterate rough diamonds. Often "ghost writers" substitute for those who are too busy or too lazy to fill orders. No better historical precedent is needed than the army of "ghost writers" or hacks of which Alexander Dumas, the great French "snappy story" scrivener, availed himself when he was too busy with dinner engagements to keep up with the demands of his publishers.

It was this army of "ghost writers" that was responsible for the supposed voluminosity of Dumas.

"DEAR DOCTOR 55 ETC.

THE earliest form of the modern "ghost writer," perhaps, was the patent medicine testimonial preparer. You know the type—"So and So's Pills Made Me Thinner," etc.—Minnie Zilch, Oswego, Okla.

Today the foremost stars of the stage and screen and the sports world are featured in the various magazines and newspapers as being the author of this or that, but in nine cases out of ten, these tales are written by "ghosts." Often these stories are "planted" for exploitation purposes, but not always.

Incidentally, it was W. O. McGeehan, of the New York Herald Tribune sports bureau, who first called attention to the miracle performed by Babe Ruth. According to Mr. McGeehan, the baseball fans had been honoring the Sultan of Swat for pasting the ball out of the lot, whereas he deserved their revent awe for literary miracles the like of which has never been known outside the New Testament. In his capacity as baseball reporter, the Babe once achieved the supernatural feat of preparing a brilliant eye-witness account of a baseball game for the New York World while lying unconscious in a hospital a thousand miles away from the game.

IDENTITY BURIED

AN interesting and never before revealed "ghost" stunt was Frank Campbell's poem of a few years ago. Mr. Campbell is New York City's best known undertaker. It was he who buried Rudolph Valentino, you may recall. A tabloid reporter, whose name is B. Vladimir Berman, was Campbell's "ghost writer." Berman put the famous undertaker into the Literary Digest on the promise of a free funeral on which happily he hasn't yet cashed in.

Berman at the time was destroying typewriters for the New York City News Association alongside of Harry Klemfuss, Campbell's exploiter. Klemfuss asked Berman if he would turn out an Armistice Day poem that might be used instead of the usual Campbell Funeral Parlor advertisement that the great mortician was then running in the Metropolitan newspapers every day, next to the editorial columns. Berman obliged readily, scorning Klemfuss' offer to run the real author's name under it, saying: "It's not my kind of stuff." The poem was run above the signature of Frank Campbell, who immediately ran the gauntlet of newspaper twitting to the tune of "Mr. Campbell had better let poety alone and stick to stiffs and corpses."

The Campbell publicity man became apprehensive over this reaction but when the Literary Digest picked up the poem and ran it under its choice poetry column above the undertaker's name, he was quite elated and promised Berman a free funeral any time he needed it.

"PEACHES" HIS PEACH

INCIDENTALLY another tabloid copy-reader named Don Bardin, quit his tabloid for a syndicate and was the first to sign up "Peaches" Browning, getting her "intimate" secrets with Mr. Browning. Mr. Bardin cleaned up on this beat and became so fed up with New York and its "tawdry" love-nest tales that he exiled himself to Bangkok, where he is now editing a royal newspaper at a good salary and with a home (presented as a gift) near the King of Siam's Palace.

The tabloid papers were the first, however, to suspect that the reading public was getting its fill of "ghost" signatures, and began to head their first-person stories with the signature of the subject under which was a smaller line saying: "As Told to So and So of the staff."

Jack Lait, one of the foremost fiction writers in the country, who also edits a score of nationally famous comic strips, was Ruth Snyder. Mr. Lait, representing a syndicate firm, scooped his contemporaries when Mrs. Snyder was in the Queens County lockup and signed her on the dotted line. His story appeared in a New York rag and was featured in huge type, but the "breaks" broke against what was certainly a tremendous story. It seems that a kid by the tag of Lindbergh had arrived in Paris the same day that "Ruth Snyder's Own Story" was scheduled to appear.

TWO NEED THEM NOT

WILL ROGERS, another prolific scrivener, has never been suspected of having a "ghost," nor has Bugs Baer ever been in need of one, although Baer has ghosted pieces for others. Antoinette Donnelly was "Lillian Russell" for many years. Mary Margaret McBride is "Paul Whiteman." Harry Reichenbach was Ruth Elder's shadow. Hype Igoe was Jack Kearns' ghost. Robert H. Davis was "Bob Fitzgibbons" when Fitz was at Carson City, Nevada, and Patterson McNutt once contracted for Walter Camp at $250 per week, and during the second week Camp died.

And you may be startled to learn that "Yo ho ho and a bottle of rum, fifteen men on a dead man's chest" was not penned by Robert Louis Stevenson, but by Young E. Allison, who write it in a poem used in the Chicago Trib many years ago.

All of which prompts the deponent to add herewith that he, Retlaw Chellwyn, of Broadway, N. Y. C., wrote all of the foregoing hisself, s'helpim, God!

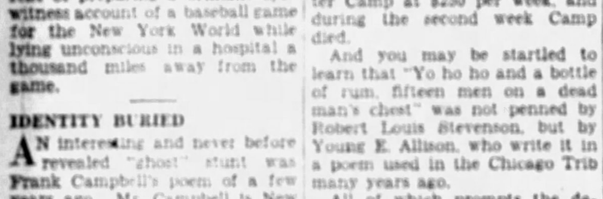
South Hills Club Arranges Luncheons

South Hills Country Club announced that bridge luncheons will be held in the clubhouse, Brownsville and Clairton roads, each Thursday during January and February, excepting February 20, when the annual Washington's Birthday celebration will take place. Mrs. J. R. Lloyd will be chairman for January sessions, and Mrs. E. J. Ohl, chairman for February games.

Men's Chorus Will Feature Y Minstrel

A chorus of 30 men is to feature the minstrel show to be presented by the Hill Top Y. M. C. A. February 6. The chorus is under the direction of David Hughes and the event will be held in G. B. U. Hall, Arlington avenue and Brownsville road. Mrs. E. L. Tuller is general chairman and is being assisted by Mrs. Elise Shibley, Mrs. Sarah Henning and Mrs. Dudley Walker.



TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

The Rush Season in Relatives

By Tuthill

WHAT A DAY YESTERDAY WAS. LOOK AT THIS HOUSE. EVERY TIME I TURNED AROUND I STUMBLED OVER A BUNGLE WHO CAME TO LOOK AT PONTOON BUNGLE AS THOUGH HE WAS THE OSSIFIED MAN WITH A CIRCUS.
THE ONLY REASON I WAS ANYWAY NICE TO ANY OF THAT CREW IS BECAUSE I DIDN'T WANT THEM TO START ANYTHING BEFORE THE MAJOR
WELL BELIEVE ME. THOSE GAWKY PEOPLE DIDN'T MAKE A VERY THRILLING IMPRESSION ON HIM. AND THE LOOKS THEY GAVE EACH OTHER OUGHT TO GO A LONG WAY TOWARD COOLING PONTOON'S NOTION THAT THE BUNGLES ARE JUST ONE BIG HAPPY FAMILY
I SURE DIDN'T LIKE THE IDEA OF THEM ASKING HIM SO MANY DIZZY QUESTIONS ABOUT HIS MONEY. MILLIONAIRES ARE EASILY PANICKED BY THAT STUFF.
HE MADE A BIG MISTAKE IN GIVING THEM THE FEELING THAT HE'S EASY-GOING ABOUT MONEY. HE JUST DON'T KNOW THOSE BUNGLES. THAT'S ALL.
MY WORD, IT WONT TAKE MUCH OF THAT LINE TO MAYBE GIVE PONTOON THE IDEA THAT OUR BIG INTEREST IN HIM IS ONLY MONEY, TOO. SUCH LUCK!
WHAT SICKENED ME MOST OF ALL WAS TO HAVE RELATIVES WHO HAVEN'T SPOKEN TO ME FOR YEARS THROW THEIR CHUBBY ARMS AROUND MY NECK AND GIVE ME A BIG WET KISS. THAT'S WHAT MONEY DOES TO THEM.
THEY ALSO TALKED AS THOUGH PONTOON BELONGED TO THE WHOLE FAMILY. WELL I'M THE ONE WHO DISCOVERED HIM. AND IF ANYTHING TERRIBLE HAPPENED TO PONTOON I COULD PROVE I WAS — WELL - SAY, HIS FAVORITE RELATIVE.

LET'S BEAT BRITISH FOR EXHAUSTIVENESS

This is Mr. Cadwallader Apsit who will be in charge of the "A" section of our exhaustive encyclopedia.

FROM confidential sources, we have discovered that the new Encyclopedia Britannica is comprised of twenty-five volumes of information. As a matter of national pride the Americans should get out a twenty-six volume encyclopedia. We must not admit that the British know more than we do. That is why this department is hysterically gathering information for an Encyclopedia to appear serially in this column. If you have any old information lying around, send it in to our rendering plant.

Make Budget, Own Home, Save, Thrift Commands

Thrift Week is upon us and we should not let it pass without taking heed of, or at least giving reflection to the commands it directs at us, for this is not a propaganda of suggestion by worthy maxims, but one of direct order.

We are told to work and earn, to make a budget, to record expenditures, to have a bank account, to own a home, to carry life insurance, to make a will, to invest in safe securities, to pay bills promptly and to share with others.

Thrift of this kind is more than mere thrift—it is the highest prudence. We all can remember a few years back when the nation was mourning because there had been lack of "preparedness." Thrift of the kind indicated above is individual preparedness—arming for defense against future enemies.

They will surely come. One may not encounter ill health. Misfortune may pass one by. But age or death certainly will arrive and strength will depart. The thrifty will be prepared for that.

To be thrifty is not to be stingy—it is merely to make application of the common sense urgings that come to all of us, and which we say we will some day follow. It is the personal regimen of spending each day a little less than is earned. It is the arranging of expenditures so that there will be a portion of the earnings for all things listed above, and for all other necessary things, including pleasure.

Use your common sense NOW—not next year, next week or tomorrow.

Be thrifty.

It Will Be YOUR Fault If We Are In Next War

Aren't you satisfied with fighting one war for European nations?

Do you want ANOTHER?

The last time they dragged you over there, it cost you thirty-five billion dollars.

You still owe nearly seventeen billions of it.

And you are giving up over seven hundred million dollars a year in taxes to provide interest payments on the war debt.

By seventeen years of hard work you can pay that off, a billion a year.

But you can never bring back the hundred thousand American boys sacrificed along with the money.

What did YOUR country get out of it, anyway?

Of course if you want to fight ANOTHER war for Europe, you are going to have the chance.

All you need do is to sit indifferent while the present government manipulates the United States into the League of Nations system.

What got you into the last war?

You got in by joining a group of European countries, the Allies, engaged in trying to subdue and keep in subjection another group of European countries.

That's exactly the program of the group of European countries, the League of Nations, which is run by the countries who were the Allies in the last war.

After you voted the League of Nations and the Democratic party down in the elections of 1920, European nations saw they could not get you direct into the League.

So the League formed a "World Court," with 10 League judges and one American judge, to which we are to submit all controversies, and which can render "advisory opinions" telling us what to do.

President Hoover wants us to join the League's Court.

Your government signed the Kellogg Pact, which you foolishly thought was simply a promise to attack no one.

Now you know that the pact has "obligations." We must "co-operate" with other nations in putting down an "aggressor"—the League, of course, to determine the aggressor.

Just so we "co-operated" with the Allies.

The British government says that any nation signing the Kellogg Pact HAS LOST THE RIGHT TO BE NEUTRAL IN THE NEXT WAR.

That is, we must be a PARTICIPANT, just as in the last war, on the side of the League of Nations, formed to dictate to the world.

You are not to blame for being in the last European war.

It will be nobody's fault but your own if you are in the next one.

If you DON'T want to be in it, this is the year to tell your representatives at Washington about it, when they come up for renomination and election.

Alonzo Parham, Negro cadet, is dropped from the rolls of West Point for deficiency in mathematics.

Parham said:

"I got a square deal. It is absurd to think they made the examination hard just to flunk me. What about the 63 others who failed, too? Do you think they have been dropped just to get me? That's ridiculous."

Parham's statement should give members of his race and all others ground for pride. Honesty knows no color line. Whoever can face defeat squarely, as he did, admitting the facts, blaming none but himself for failure, is undeniably "white."

Naval Junking Spree

SOME shorthand notes of the naval junking spree in London. Written with the pin feather of a dove.

"If a graduate of Annapolis wants a career at sea, let him swim. We will now hear the Ambagroosian ambassador."

"Gentlemen, I don't feel well. Every time I think of the American Navy I get a sinking sensation.

"That Navy has never lost a war. We should merge it with the ruins of Pompeii. The Wobbleheim representative will now speak."

"Gentlemen, my country requires a few submarines, cruisers and torpedo boats for educational purposes. But I favor sinking the Spanish Navy as a practice cruise. In fact, I am heartily in favor of a Spanish armada of omelets. What does the Spanish minister think?"

"Gentlemen, we Spanish are swayed entirely by sentiment. We want to keep our Navy intact. But merely for the weekly news reels. Let us start by ripping the English Navy up the back like a finnan haddie. It's an old Spanish custard. I would be pleased to hear from my British confrere."

"Gentlemen, England wants to see peace for the same reason an astronomer wants to see the moon. The most beautiful sight I ever saw was the German Imperial Navy on the mezzanine floor of Scapa Flow. We English believe in sinking the navies of the world. We got the habit from Nelson, Frobisher and Drake. What does the American diplomat think?"

"Brothers, I understand that this here mess was started to sink a lot of cruisers. If you're going to sink boats you had better start with the George Washington because I will be afraid to go back home. Once upon a amended time, there were some birds named Lawrence, Decatur, Jones, Farragut and Dewey. They sank a lot of boats but they wasn't on 'em. Boring a hole in a battleship with an auger ain't my way of dedicating that noble craft. Nobody ever got a fish-eye view of glory but if you gotta sink a navy let us start by doing some fancy needle-work on the French fleet and toss in the Italian flotilla as dessert. What does the Italian spokesman spoke?"

"Gentlemen, the man who lays a mitt on an Italian cruiser will get a bridal bouquet of Italian pineapples. If you want navies sunk just sail up the Dardanelles and the Turks will oblige you with some real Oriental courtesy."

NEW LASTS FOR OLD

PESSIMISM chiefly recruits its followers from cowards, cheats, bunglers, slackers, wasters and constitution-wreckers.

If you squander your hours and your energies, abuse your liver, prowl with the owls, neglect exercise, crowd your system with poisons and clinkers, all your prospects will soon have a dark-brown taste.

If you break faith, betray trust, and short-change the profit and loss account, opportunity will finally enter your name on her PERMANENT snub list.

If your notion department isn't freshened with demanded goods, and you're offering the employment market obsolete lines of thought, somebody who carries a more SALABLE stock of ideas for the same money, will eventually be opening your present pay envelope.

ANALYSIS usually resolves bad luck into unreliability, unambition or under-delivery. When you begin to conclude that the world's ALL WRONG, it's time to wonder if you're ALL RIGHT.

The weight of evidence is preponderantly against the chronic whiner, the sorehead, the quitter and the sinecure coddler.

Everybody ISN'T making the grade, but more folk ARE pushing forward, today, than at any given moment in human experience.

From year to year, failure finds fewer valid alibis.

At the suggestion of the RED-INKWELL, we're fast black-listing incompetent practice and dividend-defeating methods. But, because we're abandoning slow-poke trades and replacing inaccurate craftsmen with preciser automata, that doesn't preclude any shoemaker from swapping an OLD last for a NEW one.

INVENTION, far from LIMITING the earning capacity of labor, provides ten HIGHER-PAID careers in substitution for each task and occupation tossed to the SCRAP-HEAP.

The classified telephone directory lists a thousand businesses that 1920 never HEARD of.

And the majority of them are under the management of people whom necessity and innovation COMPELLED to readjust themselves to changed conditions.

Balance sheets, impressed with the superior skill of robots, kicked toolkits and lunch buckets out of their fingers, and landed them in garages, filling stations, motion picture theaters, radio shops—or sent them adrift to become electrical contractors, bus owners, and suburban developers.

THE early Nineteenth Century visualized INDEFINITE breadlines and merely read destitution for multitudes of wagoners and spinners, canal boatmen and stage coach drivers, in the smoke of Stephenson's locomotive and the steam pouring from Lancashire's powered mills, just as short-sightedness NOW beholds inevitable restriction of employment in the introduction of so many devices aiming at staff curtailment and production enlargement.

But, the LAST thing in civilization's plans is to attain given goals at the expense of general solvency and welfare.

The NEXT generation regularly discovers itself busier and better compensated than the PRECEDING.

An industrious, up-and-doing, decently habited, wit-using individual has never YET complained of adverse odds since democracy abolished social discriminations and included a license to attempt ANYTHING, and compete EVERYWHERE, with standard CRADLE EQUIPMENT.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD! ∴

By Elsie Robinson

HAVE you met that big, warm, laughing creature the Gullah Negroes on Blue Brook Plantation called "Si May-e"?

You will find her in Julia Peterkin's book, "Scarlet Sister Mary." And when you have found her you will forget that she is made of words, for Si May-e herself, straight, and strong, and hot with life, will march before you, her black eyes wistful and rebellious beneath the fierce, straight brows.

Si May-e was a "great sinner," the other Negroes said. But what sin was there to loving? said Si May-e. Desire rose in her as the springtime sap ... without conscious purpose or plan ... and she came to her harvest as surely as the rich fields she tended. One man she loved ... the rest loved her. And, with the passing of the years, children thickened about her striding knees.

But sorrow thickened, too. It began when July left her, a bride and mother of 16, to go to Cinder, that wicked, skinny little vixen. Si May-e mourned for July and hated Cinder until the flesh hung in rags on her young bones. She could not understand. Why should love hurt her so when she had given so greatly to love?

Then Maum Hannah told her .....wise old Maum Hannah who had lived long and seen many waters go under the bridge. She told her how all love is not the same.....how some love walks with pain.....but how, no matter what the pain, real love is worth having.

"Dey is two diffunt kinds of love, Si May-e," says Maum Hannah. "Eye-love an' heart-love. Eye-love is tricky. 'E will fool you. 'E done fool plenty of people. Two people'll meet an' tink dey have love. It seems so. De 'oman look good to de man; de man look good to de 'oman. Evy time dey meet dey talk pleasant talk. Den dey gone an' married togedder. But soon, all-two'll wish to Gawd dey ain' never see one annudder.

"Heart-love is diffunt. Diffunt from eye-love as days is from night. Sometimes joy walk long wid 'em, but E go much wid sorrow. Heart-love and sorrow is one mudder's chillen. When you meets wid heart-love, peace'll leave you. But heart-love is brave. E kin pure smile in de face o 'deat'."

Heart-love "go wid sorrow." Nothing is to be had without a price, and, since love is the greatest thing in life, it costs most of all. Weariness and worry . . . sorrow, shame and sacrifice . . . dreary, drudging service . . . and then, perhaps, at the end—loss. A July gone with a Cinder. Or a little son Unex gone home to God. Eye-love cannot stand these strains; heart-love can. Heart-love go wid sorrow . . . But it was worth it all, Maum Hannah said. Worth it all because it made life better. Peace might go when heart-love came, but courage was born instead . . . courage that could smile in the face of shame and loss, in the face of death itself.

It was worth anything—that was the test of heart-love.

Could your love stand that test?

Text for Today My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous.—1 John ii:1.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

PLANARIA LACTEA is a white, flat worm-like creature, about three-quarters of an inch long, that leads the life of a scavenger at the bottom of fresh-water ponds, nourishing itself for the most part on dead organic matter.

Usually it travels along with a smooth gliding motion; from time to time it varies this somewhat monotonous method of progression by "looping" like a looper caterpillar.

H. G. Wells

The head of Planaria is interesting. Our own heads are chiefly remarkable for two reasons; first, because they contain the chief sense-organs and the brain, and second, because they contain the mouth and the apparatus for taking in food.

Now the head of Planaria is only half a head; it carries the brain and eyes, but it has no mouth. The mouth, instead of being at the front end of the body, is placed at the end of a long tube that sticks out of the middle of the belly; moreover it combines the functions of mouth and anus.

Another curious feature of this animal is that it possesses no circulatory system at all, although, unlike an intestinal roundworm, it is an actively moving creature. The body-cavity is filled with spongy connective tissue, through which the digestive and excretory systems ramify like the branches of trees. Since there is no blood, the branching intestine has itself to carry food into every corner of the body and the branching kidney-system has to run into every corner and drain their waste-products away.

Moreover, Planaria has no special respiratory organs; its body is so thin that enough oxygen to satisfy its needs can diffuse in through the tissues.

The phylum platyhelminthes comprise three classes. The first class is that to which Planaria belongs; they live for the most part independently in damp places on the land, in fresh water, and in the sea, but one or two of them are parasites.

These animals show the most ingenious devices for invading and destroying their unwilling hosts; we may illustrate the point by following the life-history of the liver-fluke, Fasciola hepatica, found in sheep and causing the wasting disease known as sheep-rot, particularly in beasts that feed in wet, soggy pastures—a life-history that is surprising because it involves a regularly alternating rhythm of several quite different generations.

The flukes that inhabit and devour the liver of an infected sheep are hermaphrodite—any one individual having both male and female organs—but nevertheless they fertilize each other.

Like most parasites, they are incredibly prolific. Their microscopic eggs are carried by the bile down the bile-duct of the sheep to the intestine; thence, among the faeces, they reach the exterior.

During the next spell of warm moist weather, the hard egg-shell breaks and there emerges a creature very unlike its parents.

This creature, the miracidium, has a tiny conical body covered with cilia, two eyes of very elementary structure, and no mouth or stomach. Begotten by parents over an inch long, it is itself less than one two-hundredth of that size.

Nevertheless it is active from the moment of hatching. It swims about in the puddles or ditches or larger pools in the grazing meadows, or even through the thin surface film of water left on the grass after rain or dew, with every appearance of eager purpose.

Now there are certain kinds of snail which live in ponds or among the damp grass in swampy places, and it is for one of these that the little creature is searching.

Its eagerness is excusable, for unless it succeeds in its quest within eight hours, it perishes. But if it does succeed, it bores its way into the body of the snail and alters in shape, becoming a long, hollow bag.

At this stage it rests, nourished by the snail's blood, and growing slowly, for about a fortnight; then it reproduces itself—it gives rise to a number of embryos and dies. That is the first generation.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Diary of a modern Pepys: A gray, muggy day and the skyscrapers alight before noon, an ever beautiful spectacle. And were it not for profane noises New York would be the most entrancing city in all the world. So walking cater-cornered through the town, hunting for a different place to eat.

And put in at a lunch counter near the Pennsylvania for a beef stew, what with heapings of chili sauce, was the best meal I have had in a fortnight and so loitering about the great department stores in Greeley Square and riding up and down on escalators.

Home and did on my dinner jacket and with my wife to a dinner with the Joe Moores and to hear an operetta, very dull, and found myself nodding albeit everyone else was in a lather of enthusiasm. Then hurried home to hear a broadcast on the radio and read a hair raising mystery tayle.

The decline of ostracism is marked in New York of late. Nothing these days puts a person beyond the social pale. Less than 25 years ago a divorced woman faced an accolade of polite sniffs and even a divorced man found friends greeting him with hurried handshakes and "get away" excuses.

So far as can be noticed today there are no restrictions whatever in social contact. At those carefully selected dancing clubs with hand picked memberships one sees the international gold digger, the wastrel living off venerable women and sundry others with purple pasts.

Between acts at the theaters, a night club hostess prances up and down the aisles, waving familiarly and chirping to blue blooded entries in the Social Register. The best tables in the highest priced cafes are often occupied by characters of the half world.

Afternoon teas in big hotels have their daily sprinking of famous courtesans. Names that flare into thick scandal headlines one day are noted in the society columns the next. Park Avenue hosts invite Broadway to their dinners. New York has one requirement only in social eligibility: Are you talked about?

A famous descriptive travel writer never makes notes. Instead he takes snapshots. When roaming the world for material he carries a camera. A scene that strikes his eye is photographed. When he gets back to his typewriter he has the closeups before him and is able to paint an accurate word picture.

Broadway last season had an entire play acted by two players and it had a lengthy run. The late Jeanne Eagels was preparing to be the lone player in a two-act drama—almost the entire action taking place over the telephone—when she died. The part has been turned over to another emotional actress who will try it out in the spring. The play will begin at 9:30 and last until 10:45 with a 12-minute intermission.

The late Victor Herbert nursed a secret ambition that was never fulfilled. He wanted to write a dramatic operetta, carrying out a tense plot with six characters and no chorus. It was in the making when he passed away.

After a dinner party the other evening a silver haired gentleman of at least 65 picked up a ukelele and with the nimbleness of a collegiate twanged the latest tunes—including "What Is This Thing Called Love?"—which gave everybody a turn. But when a sweet faced lady of about the same age hopped up on a piano top and crooned a very blue ditty—a la Helen Morgan—most of us felt like whithered century plants.

* * *

One of the magnificent screen lovers, fading in popularity, stood up at a Hollywood dinner party recently and in an alcoholic rage shouted at his bride: "My big mistake was marrying. You killed me with the flappers." They are now in separate establishments.

The trouble with most screen lovers is they think they are Tennyson's brooks—running on forever. Even in my time I have seen—a second for the finger counting—14 screen lovers pop out like lights.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

DO YOU excuse yourself for some of your actions by alluding to things which some church members do? You say that if men who profess to be Christians can violate certain rules of society without being ostracized, why should you be censured?

It is too much to expect that every church member live right every day and in every way. There are certain to be those who are merely Sunday followers.

Humanity is weak, but you would like to have charity cover your acts.

There are a lot of hypocrites among church members, but the majority of those who belong to churches are not of this kind.

Many back-slide in small degree, but probably would be more frequent violators if they were not in the church.

Why should you condemn the churches in general because there is a small minority among church members who violate their pledges?

What has it to do with you, anyway, what another does with his or her life?

You live and die alone and must stand for your own misdeeds and cannot shirk responsibility under the cloak of disloyal church members.
